New Trial For Purnell!

Retroactive Ruling By Higher Courts Erases Conviction In SJ Slaying

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The second degree murder conviction of David Jordan Purnell has been reversed by the Michigan Court of Appeals and the case ordered back to Berrien county for a new trial.

The case was reversed on the basis of retroactively faulty instructions, since the jury was not told to consider the possible verdict of "not guilty."

Purnell, 28, is currently in the state prison in Marquette after being sentenced to life imprisonment by Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White in 1972. Purnell was convicted of the 1971 slaying of Janet Uland, of St. Joseph.

"We are prepared to re-try the case," said Berrien Prosecutor John A. Smietanka. He added the case should probably go to trial "in the next couple of months."

The appellate court opinion said the conviction was reversed on the basis of a number of previous cases, all of which require that the "not guilty" verdict be included in instructions to a jury.

Trial transcripts show White, who presided over the trial, did not instruct jurors that Purnell could be found "not guilty." At the time of the trial, a judge was not required to give such an instruction. But the higher courts have since ruled that jury instructions must include the not guilty choice and made application retroactive.

White had instructed the jury they could find Purnell guilty of first degree murder, second degree murder, manslaughter, or not guilty by reason of insanity.

During the first trial, Purnell on the stand admitted the murder but the defense contention was that he was insane at the time. White previously explained that a judge did not have to instruct the jury on "not guilty" if the defendant admitted the murder but based the defense on insanity.

Asked for his reaction to the reversal, Judge White said: "I don't think I should comment because I will be the judge presiding over the re-trial."

Purnell was accused of beating Miss Uland with a golf club in the basement of his Benton township apartment and then dumping her partially-clad body in a ditch off Thar road in Hagar township. He was arrested in March, 1972, nine months after the body was found. Purnell lived in Stevensville immediately before his arrest.

Smietanka said the reversal came as no great surprise and "we had prepared for this eventuality."

The prosecutor indicated he did not think the new trial would last as long as the 3½ weeks the first one took. "It seems to me it will be a relatively simple and straight-forward matter," he said.

Asked if there were any problems centering around the new trial, Assistant Prosecutor Sally Zack, who handled the prosecution's objections to the appeal, said: "As far as we know there are none."

She said all of the witnesses are still available except State Police Det. Sgt. Robert Johnson, who has died since the trial ended. Miss Zack said, however, Johnson's testimony from the first trial could be read into evidence at the upcoming trial.

At the time White gave the instructions, there was no objection from either the prosecution or defense attorneys, according to Miss Zack.

Over 30 witnesses testified during the trial, including five psychiatrists, three of whom testified Purnell was not insane at the time of the slaying and two who said he was.

Purnell is a great grandson of "King" Benjamin Purnell, founder of the House of David, and his identity with "King Ben" played an important part in the presentation of Purnell's defense.

There was much publicity about the trial, and Miss Zack speculated that "I have a feeling there will be a motion for a change of venue."

She said Purnell will most likely be brought back to the Berrien county jail before the end of October, where he will remain until the trial. Miss Zack said that Purnell will probably request a court-appointed attorney, since his appeal was handled by the state appellate defender's office as an indigent.

Purnell was represented by private counsel during the first trial.

FBI Seizes Suntan Oil, Dinosaurs

DETROIT (AP) — It's a little late to do any one much good for this summer, but the FBI Monday said it recovered $150,000 worth of suntan oil which was stolen in suburban Mount Clemens on May 22. FBI agents acting on a search warrant found the material in a warehouse in Hamtramck, an enclave of Detroit. The lotion was stolen May 22 from the Joseph Frenkel Co. and a truck used in the robbery was recovered two days later, agents said. In another case, agents announced the recovery 936 cases of plastic dinosaurs stolen from a Detroit toy company on May 14. FBI spokesman said one man was arrested in June in connection with the thefts and a second was being sought.

IUD Pain 'Afterthought; New Murder Trial Denied

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Judge Meyer Pawshawsky yesterday termed an "afterthought" the affidavit of a woman juror who said her vote to convict a South Haven man of murder was influenced by pain from a birth control device.

The Van Buren circuit court judge's remarks came as he denied a motion for a new trial for Edwin Lamar Langston who was convicted last month of first degree murder of a South Haven woman last December.

Mrs. Edythe Reynolds, 32, 618 Washington, Lawton, was a member of the jury that reached the guilty verdict. In an affidavit filed by Langston's attorney as part of a motion for a new trial, Mrs. Reynolds said she would not have voted to convict Langston had she not been in pain caused by an IUD (intrauterine device).

She also contended in her affidavit that the term "nigger" was used in the jury room and that another juror admitted she was prejudiced, even though she denied it during jury selection.

Langston, 23, South Haven, who is black, was convicted by an all white jury. He was sentenced Sept. 14 to life imprisonment by Judge Warshawsky.

Yesterday, Judge Warshawsky said it is not the court's duty to inquire about the personal health of each juror.

"This statement (of Mrs. Reynolds) is an afterthought," the judge said. "...at the time she deliberated she could have brought it (any problems with pain) to the court's attention."

Judge Warshawsky also noted that after the verdict each juror was polled, and that Mrs. Reynolds said she agreed with the other jurors. He added that there were two alternate jurors available who could have taken her place, and that when Mrs. Reynolds said she agreed with the verdict it was not on any conditional basis.

In addition, the judge said, at least twice during deliberations, the jury communicated with the court through the bailiff, and had Mrs. Reynolds been having problems, deliberations could have been stopped.

After yesterday's 90 minute hearing, Mrs. Reynolds said, "Things went down in that jury room that were not right. But other than that the judge has made his ruling and I respect him as a judge and I have no comment."

Mrs. Reynolds did not take the stand during the hearing.

The judge said his main con-

Second Worker At Cook Plant Dies From Gas

A second construction worker has died following an accident last Friday at the Donald C. Cook nuclear power plant, Bridgman, in which several workers were exposed to argon gas.

Officials at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, said Ronald McAllister, 29, 226 Ridge road, Berrien Springs, died at 6:10 p.m. yesterday. His death was attributed to gas asphyxiation, officials said.

A third worker hospitalized after the accident was reported in good condition this morning at Memorial.

Hospital officials said Thomas Tackett, 21, 14 West Ash street, Three Oaks, was conscious, alert, and able to watch television. Yesterday morning he had been listed in critical condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

The first victim, John Mersich, 46, of South Bend, died Friday. Hospital officials said Mersich had been asphyxiated by the colorless and odorless gas used in welding operations.

All three were employees of Power Systems Inc., Schaumburg, Ill., a construction firm under contract to the Indiana &

Michigan Electric Co., operator of the plant.

In a joint release yesterday, both firms said federal safety inspectors had conducted a preliminary investigation of the accident over the weekend.

The investigation results were not disclosed, but the release said the investigation was to continue.

The release stressed that the accident did not involve any nuclear materials.

Immediately after the accident, I & M officials had said the gas had apparently leaked from welding equipment in the containment unit for the plant's second reactor which is still under construction.

Mr. McAllister was born Nov. 12, 1946, in Michigan.

Surviving is his widow, the former Linda Rauser.

The body has been transferred from the Kerley and Starks funeral home, St. Joseph to the Fontana funeral home, Inc., 2400 Carpenter road, Ann Arbor.

Mr. McAllister was a permanent resident of Ann Arbor but was living in Berrien Springs while working at the Cook plant. He had been in Berrien Springs two months.

Ford Fund Is Probed

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Records of the Kent County Republican Party, headquartered in President Ford's hometown of Grand Rapids, have been subpoenaed by the Watergate special prosecutor, the county party's chairman confirmed today.

Paul Henry, Kent County GOP chairman, confirmed a Wall Street Journal report that prosecutor Charles Ruff has subpoenaed records dating back to 1964 of two Republican committees in Kent County.

Henry said the subpoenas issued last month sought records of the county committee and the Kent County Republican Finance Committee.

He said investigators originally wanted the records sent to Washington for examination, which "would have the effect of moving our entire office there." Instead, party officials asked that the records be examined in Grand Rapids by FBI agents on Ruff's behalf and that was done.

Robert Elleveld, former county GOP chairman, said the records were checked during 1973 as part of a spot check by the General Accounting Office.

"Then when Ford was nominated for the office of Vice President later that year, all records were examined by the GAO, the FBI, the Internal Revenue Service, and investigating committees from both the House and Senate.

"We are mystified about the current investigation," he said.

Both Elleveld and Henry contended the present investigation may have political implications just six weeks before the

Rosalyn's Unfazed By Jimmy's 'Lust'

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Carter's wife says his statements that he has "looked on a lot of women with lust" and "committed adultery in my heart" have caused her no anxiety about his fidelity.

Rosalynn Carter said Monday that although her husband's candid remarks to a Playboy magazine interviewer came as a surprise, "I trust him completely. I've never had to worry about that at all."

Asserting in the interview that he would not attempt to impose his own religious beliefs on others, the Democratic presidential nominee said, "Christ set some almost impossible standards for us." He added that to sin is human and "God forgives me for it."

In one excerpt from the interview to be published in Playboy's November issue, Carter said:

"I've looked on a lot of women with lust. I've committed adultery in my heart many times. This is something that God recognizes I will do — and I have done it — and God forgives me for it. But that doesn't mean that I condemn someone who not only looks on a woman with lust, but who leaves his wife and shacks up with somebody out of wedlock.

"Christ says don't consider yourself better than someone else because one guy screws a whole bunch of women while the other guy is loyal to his wife. The guy who's loyal to his wife ought not to be condescending or proud because of the relative degree of sinfulness."

Mrs. Carter, in New York Monday to tape a television interview, said her husband was attempting to explain the Christian religion, "that God doesn't expect everyone to be perfect."

Interviewed by Jeanne Parr for CBS, Mrs. Carter said she generally agreed with her husband on political subjects, including abortion.

She said that after 30 years of marriage "we have a very, very close relationship, and we always have had, and I think it's because we have a mutual respect for each other."

Mrs. Carter said her biggest complaint about her husband was that "he wakes up in the morning wide awake and I don't."

And in an interview on the Public Broadcasting Service program, The MacNeil-Lehrer Report, Mrs. Carter said her husband will go into the presidential debates with a disadvantage because President Ford "has hired somebody to coach in him debating and all of this, and Jimmy hasn't; he's been out campaigning."

She predicted that her husband will do "really well" in the debates, but she added, "I do not think, unless one is overshadowed completely, that they (the debates) will determine the election."

NO WORRIES: Mrs. Rosalynn Carter, wife of the Democratic presidential candidate, gestures Monday during interview in New York. Earlier she told newsmen she had never had to worry about her husband committing adultery and that a statement he made during an interview with Playboy magazine was made in an effort to explain that God does not expect perfection. Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Jobs, Inflation May Key Ford-Carter Debates

One of the more misleading terms in the lexicon of economics is "full employment." It does not necessarily refer to a situation in which every employable person has a job. Taking into account such factors as worker mobility and seasonal changes in the labor market, government statisticians generally agree that a 4 per cent rate of joblessness constitutes full employment. According to the Labor Department's latest employment statistics (for August), 7.5 million Americans — 7.9 per cent of the work force — are currently unable to find jobs. If the unemployment rate were suddenly to fall to 4 per cent, 3.8 million persons still would be jobless.

A bill first introduced in 1974 by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Rep. Augustus F. Hawkins (D-Calif.) seeks to reduce adult unemployment to 3 per cent by 1980. The Humphrey-Hawkins bill has been endorsed in principle by Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter. It provides for central economic planning and a wide range of job programs, including use of the federal government as an employer of last resort, and could cost anywhere from $40-billion to $80-billion a year.

The bill is likely to emerge as a major issue in the presidential campaign. President Ford has criticized it as inflationary and has threatened to veto it. In his televised debates with Carter, Ford may well cite the critique of liberal economist Charles L. Schultz of the Brookings Institution. Testifying before a Senate subcommittee on unemployment on May 14, Schultz argued that "the direct and indirect effects" of the Humphrey-Hawkins bill on inflation "would be extremely serious." He said the measure would tend to be counter-productive as well, since the "consequences of inflation make it impossible to achieve full employment or, having achieved it, to keep the economy there."

If a Gallup Poll released in mid-May is any indication, voters may be more sympathetic to Ford than to Carter on this particular issue. Of those surveyed, 38 per cent named inflation as the major problem confronting the country, while 24 per cent said unemployment was. In this as in most other election years, those are the two "pocketbook issues" that voters are most concerned about.

Tomorrow The Sun Will Mark Changing Seasons

As of tomorrow it's farewell summer and hello fall.

The phenomenon known as the autumnal equinox takes place at 6 a. m. Wednesday, according to William Bingham, planetarium director at Upton junior high school, St. Joseph.

The autumnal equinox is when the sun crosses the equator on its annual trip south. Six months from now it'll cross the equator coming back north and that'll mark the beginning of spring.

But, getting back to autumn, sometimes it arrives in the middle of glorious warm days rivaling the finest June can offer. Sometimes it arrives on a cold, wet day.

Those fortunate enough to live in one of the temperate zones like southern Michigan cannot complain too much on that score. People who live in other zones do not expect the weather to change with the equinoxes and the solstices.

In the Torrid Zone the sun is always directly overhead, or nearly so, and most tropical countries have only two seasons — dry and wet. In the Arctic Zone there are also only two seasons, and they should be called dark and light instead of winter and summer.

In the North Temperate Zone summer is the longest season, winter the shortest. Autumn usually begins a day or two later in the month than the other seasons.

But the fact that winter is the shortest season doesn't cause spring to start much before the third week in March because February is the shortest month of the year.

The eccentricity of the earth's orbit is what makes seasons differ in length. If the orbit were a perfect circle with the sun at the center, all seasons would be exactly the same length. The sun is more distant in the summer, so the earth has to travel farther and longer to compass 90 degrees of its orbit.

Summer in the northern hemisphere is Australia's and Argentina's winter. Their winters not only are longer but tend to be colder because the sun is farther from the earth. This, incidentally, is why the South Pole has a larger icecap than the North Pole.

Summers there are shorter and hotter, other conditions being equal. But spring and autumn are about the same in both hemispheres.

If all this makes it easier to say goodbye to summer, that was the idea.

Spendthrift Congress Sets Horrible Example

When dealing with a federal budget totaling $413 billion, a $1 billion slice of it may not seem very large, especially to those who are doing the budget construction. For that reason, not too many members of Congress will be aroused by the revelation the legislative body now is spending $1 billion a year on itself and assorted accoutrements over which it has absolute control.

One of the important parts of budget construction today is how fast the individual components are increasing. In that regard, Congress is not doing its part to hold down the acceleration. The $1 billion Congress spent on itself in the last fiscal year is nearly triple its cost in 1970, and more than five times the amount spent one decade earlier.

Figures compiled by Tax Foundation show Congress spent $426.3 million on itself in fiscal 1976, for everything from salaries to stationery. It also spend another $498.3 million for offices and agencies of its creation and under its control. These include such well known bodies as the Government Printing Office and the General Accounting Office.

These expenditures are ones for which Congress solely is responsible. They are included in the President's budget but, by law, must be accepted by the executive branch exactly as presented by Congress. Thus it is up to Congress to begin setting a better example for the government before it can hope to gain such credence in lecturing other departments and agencies on the meaning of frugality.

SHE OPPOSES ERA AMENDMENT

Editor,
In response to Beverly Rutkowski's letter of 9/16/76 about ERA, I would like to say I'm glad she made me aware of just what it amounts to because if there's one more thing the U.S. Constitution doesn't need it's this.

I'm a married woman, have children, work outside the home at both a job and volunteer work and I don't feel like I'm being cheated every time I turn around as far as equality. But I'm sure I will feel that way as soon as all the women's libbers get what they want. I enjoy being a woman and being treated as one and don't feel I want to be put in the same status as a man in every regard. I've always said this equal rights business is just another hand of Communism at work. But the U.S. has a lot of gullible people that wouldn't know they were being shot at if they saw a gun at their nose.

If the women nowadays would forget about trying to play the masculine role and the men stick to being men — I think everybody would be better off and more in line with what God intended in the first place. Some of the facts brought out in that letter were in my opinion ridiculous. The way I read, this ERA, in a sense, will be more advantageous to men which is exactly where the shoe pinches already according to NOW. I'm sure you will go far to find a man who isn't all for the switch as the women are only cutting their own throats.

ROCKET COVERAGE DISAPPOINTS PARENT

Editor,
As a rocket football parent, I too was disappointed with your kickoff article.

It is my understanding that the rocket league does not ask for your space to publish team scores or draw attention to individual leaders because each boy in his unique way is a star. Every boy plays every game and feels good about his efforts so couldn't you have given a little more coverage for such a positive program?

As a sports enthusiast I commend you for your firm coverage of everything from peanut bowling leagues to professional "everything" however, I feel you missed an opportunity to draw attention to a beautiful program in our own back yard.

The boys, their parents and a group of tremendously dedicated volunteer coaches spend a lot of time together and I can't help feeling that this makes us all better citizens within our communities.

The former state legislator from Corpus Christi, Texas, lost primaries for governor in 1972 and 1974 and received some votes for vice president at the 1972 Democratic National Convention.

Repeat Crime Major Problem

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Naked in their simplicity, the figures seem ominous. Seventy one per cent of homicides are committed by chronic offenders, 77 per cent of rapes, 70 per cent of robberies, 69 per cent of aggravated assaults, 66 per cent of burglaries, 64 per cent of larceny and 51 per cent of auto thefts.

The very size of these percentages, however, should give us one ray of hope. To a startling degree much of our crime today is committed by a small number of our citizenry. The growing crime figures, therefore, may not indicate a growth of lawlessness among our people, but simply that a small percentage of our men, women and youth are getting away with more than in the past.

As of today, most of our states and communities have opted for no solution. We are unable, apparently, in practice to distinguish a perennial repeater from a citizen who errs, serves once — but from that time on stays out of serious trouble. We have not learned to "cure" recidivists; nor have we resolved to lock them up for any meaningful period, and thus, at least temporarily deprive them of the opportunities to rob, assault or kill. In nine crimes out of 10 we send no one to prison, in the main because we're unable to find the person responsible, or to prove our case if we do find him.

Today I do lock my doors, when years ago I did not, and am more careful on what streets I walk at night, even in my own middle-class neighborhood. But from the data presented by recent studies, including the one cited above by Drs. Ronald Klein, David Weiss and Isadore Newman of the University of Akron, plus my own experience, I am convinced that as large a proportion of our population is reasonably law abiding today as in 1950 or 1925 or 1910.

What we need, then, is a system of priorities, concentrating on determining who are the repeaters and discovering how to deal with this relatively small but socially very harmful group.

Some can be changed, I'm certain. Some cannot with present rehabilitative techniques. Cruel as it may sound, once they've proved their inability to give up crime, I believe this latter group must be semi-permanently confined as a protection to society until that day when we learn what it is that makes them tick, and what we can do about it. Just as we semi isolate a person with a serious contagious disease who has committed no crime. Or a person with a dangerous form of insanity.

Meanwhile, research should be intensified on the causes of and cure for the depredation of what today seem to be incorrigible repeaters.

But the first step is this distinction between the perennial repeaters and others, and between the seeming incorrigibles and those amenable to existing treatment methods. This division would enable us to devote a much greater effort on those who have committed a crime where the chances of effective rehabilitation — the payoff — is greater.

A program such as that outlined above has other advantages. We are continually told that the poor and minorities in our society don't get the breaks afforded the white and the middle or upper class. I would note here, therefore, that a clamp-down on repeaters would yield special social benefit.

For the evidence indicates rather clearly, that in rates per thousand, twice the percentage of those earning less than $3,000 a year are the victims of crimes of personal violence as compared with those earning $15,000 and up. And that blacks are more likely to be victims than whites. There is evidence this disproportionate victimization of minorities and the poor by repeater criminals exists over a wide range of crime.

Hobey Baker Ideal Athlete

As the leaves begin to turn in New England and the college football season rolls around again, perhaps we can take a moment to think about Hobey Baker.

In the new Thompson Rink at Dartmouth, eight plaques look out from the wall: Hobey Baker Trophy. Awarded for prowess in hockey. It is doubtful if many of those passing the plaques in Thompson Rink know who Baker was.

Hobey Baker was the greatest Princeton athlete of the period before World War I and probably the most charismatic college athlete of all time.

We tend to think of sports as a vehicle for the upwardly mobile, and to a varying degree that has always been true. Baker was different. He was a Philadelphia aristocrat and a graduate of St. Paul's School. He looked like a drawing by Charles Dana Gibson, but he was an extraordinary athletic phenomenon.

Football, prior to the First World War, did not much resemble the game played today.

When Baker played, the rules gave the defense all the advantages, scores were low, and the drop kick was a major weapon. Nevertheless, Baker's scoring of 180 points stood for 50 years as a Princeton record until broken in 1964 by Cosmo Iacavazzi in his final collegiate game.

The sportswriter John R. Tunis recalls the Hobey Baker phenomenon: "The whole atmosphere was electric when he was playing. Everybody would just stand up when he got the puck or caught a punt. Never wore a headguard in football and I remember that great shock of blond hair — Hobey standing waiting all alone. He was the only player on the field you looked at, the only player you saw. He did everything with a kind of showmanship that wasn't showmanship because it was natural to him."

Scott Fitzgerald never got over Baker, who appears as Allenby, the football captain, in "This Side of Paradise."

Part of the Hobey Baker legend revolves around his sportsmanship. He always visited the opponents' locker room after the game, even if he had been virtually beaten to a pulp. Baker treated opponents not so much according to their deserts as according to an ideal notion of sports that he himself held. When he was forced to admit that he had been deliberately fouled, he was literally reduced to tears.

After his graduation in 1914, Baker worked in the Morgan bank at One Wall Street, but he played hockey for the St. Nick's club, and about him in this phase one senses an unmistakable restlessness. When the U.S. entered the war in 1917, Baker immediately enlisted in the Army Air Corps and was one of the first pilots to be sent to the Western Front. He flourished in aerial combat and as a squadron leader, he shot down three German planes, and survived through the armistice.

About his death on December 21, 1918, a good deal of mystery remains. All things considered, it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that it was a kind of suicide, undoubtedly unconscious. Baker may have been temperamentally incapable of returning to the humdrum world of Wall Street and the Morgan bank.

At any rate, he insisted, against all fighter-pilot lore, in taking a "last flight" in a recently repaired Spad biplane. It was a rainy morning in Toul, France, when he took off in the flimsy craft, which was painted a Princeton orange and black. The motor stalled at 600 feet. Crash-landing should have been a simple maneuver, one in which Baker had instructed hundreds of apprentice pursuit pilots. He himself had crash-landed before.

Instead, the Spad buried its nose in the airfield and Baker died a few minutes later in the ambulance.

Mittan Answers Henderson With Queries Of Own

Incumbent Rep. Ray Mittan of the 44th district has responded to a challenge issued by his opponent, Charles F. Henderson, and agreed to a series of debates. Mittan, Republican candidate seeking re-election, also took exception to a number of charges leveled by Henderson, Democratic candidate for the seat. Henderson's blast at Mittan's record as a state representative for the past eight years was published in Monday's edition of The Herald-Palladium.

One of Henderson's challenges called for three debates, one each at Niles, Benton Harbor, and Dowagiac, major population centers in the 44th district.

"He's been hollering about this for ages," Mittan retorted. "We have a debate scheduled for Oct. 19 in Niles, and the National Organization for Women's Benton Harbor chapter called me yesterday and asked if I'd be available (for a debate) the first week in October. "If he thinks there should be one in Dowagiac, all well and good, I'll go there."

Henderson also claimed Mittan, in his eight years in the House, has introduced only seven bills, none of which were signed into law. "He said I had a total of seven bills," Mittan responded. "That's either a fabrication or he doesn't know what he's talking about. There were many more than seven, although I can't give the exact total, and two, both district court bills, were enacted into law."

Henderson contended Mittan claimed he couldn't get bills signed because the House is in the control of Democrats, and added the records of Reps. Bella Kennedy and Harry Gast were much better. Countered Mittan: "He mentions the fact that I said a Republican couldn't get a bill voted upon — I said a minority Republican in a swing district such as the 44th, where an election could go either way because of the way the district is divided, with about 52 per cent Democrats and the rest Republicans or uncommitted voters.

"They aren't about to put any of my bills out of committee when they think they can defeat me that way," Mittan also noted that Gast and Kennedy are not in swing districts, saying those districts are heavily Republican.

Mittan also answered a question posed by Henderson on why he (Mittan) had voted against a bill requiring campaign disclosure 10 days before the election. Mittan admitted voting against the bill, noting: "That was part of a Democratic so-called election-reform bill which the State Supreme court declared unconstitutional. "I am against forcing other people to disclose, but I will disclose expenses and receipts the last week in October if he will." Mittan also posed some questions for his opponent, asking how Henderson would vote on:

A bill which would permit teachers to strike up to five weeks with full pay.

A bill seeking a two per cent increase on the state income tax to be used solely for schools.

Union-proposed bills on increased benefits in unemployment and workmen's compensation.

Mittan also asked if Henderson would vote to allow the people of the state a chance to vote on capital punishment, noting the Democrats have held that bill in committee for eight years.

'River Route' Called Best SJ Traffic Artery

A letter written by St. Joseph City Manager Gerald Hepler to the state highway department on behalf of the St. Joseph city commission says a cross town route which would include both the I-94 penetrator and the "river route" would alleviate many traffic problems.

The letter states the river route, as the second phase of the cross town, "...appears to have the least negative impact on the city." Both the penetrator and the river route are long-time controversial subjects in the Twin Cities area.

"A cross town route I-94 to

I-94 (through St. Joseph and Benton Harbor) would eliminate most all of the adverse effects on traffic flow in the community," says the letter approved by the commission.

The letter was written by City Manager Gerald W. Hepler and included comments on the environmental impact statement for a proposed I-94 business loop south of St. Joseph. The letter was sent recently to the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation.

Hepler said the letter does not represent a commission stand one way or the other on the controversial penetrator.

According to the environmental study, the penetrator would work as the initial phase of a possible three-phase, long range plan for the cross town.

The report state the second phase might take the form of one of several alternatives within the next 20 years, including the so-called river route that would follow the western edge of the St. Joseph river north to a point near the new Wayne-Main street bridges.

The third phase of the cross town would be undertaken within 20-30 years and could involve the continuance of the I-94 business loop from its junction with the river bridges and follow an undetermined alignment through Benton Harbor to I-94 on the northeast edge of the Benton Harbor city limits.

The penetrator would be a new road from I-94 along the old Michigan Central railroad right-of-way between Lincoln and Washington. It would go through St. Joseph township and up to the St. Joseph city limits.

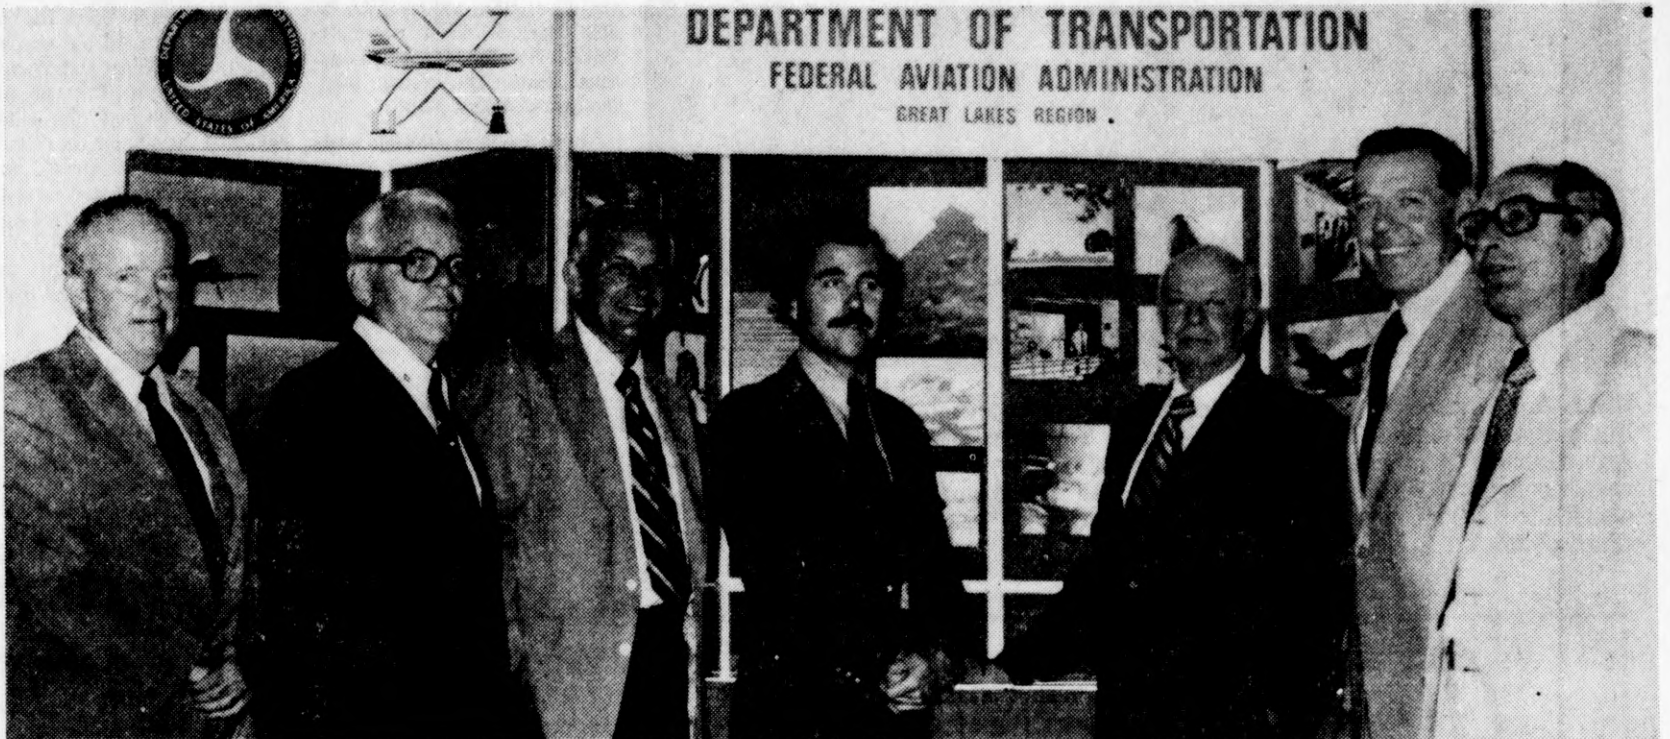

The full context of the letter to the state highway department is as follows:

"In reference to your transmittal letter of August 3, 1976 requesting comments within 45 days on the Environmental Impact Statement prepared by Enviro-Pact consultants, I propose the following for your consideration.

"pp XX (SUMMARY) Of the three alternatives A, B, and C mentioned as part of the second phase of an area transportation plan for the City of St. Joseph, alternate C (the so-called River Route) appears to have the least negative impact on the City. The creation of pairs of one-way streets thru the City (alternate A) or a new four lane alignment cut thru the City (alternate B) does not appear to meet the needs of the City. Alternate C appears to be acceptable if completed thru Benton Harbor to I-94. We believe the total traffic concept for the Twin Cities as recommended by the Area Transportation study committee (Twin-Cats) should be committed to planning and eventual construction by the department. This concept should be mentioned from time to time in the report as a long range solution when present existing conditions of traffic flow indicate a negative impact on the area. A cross-town route I-94 to I-94 would eliminate most all of the adverse effects on traffic flow in the community.

THREATEN TO SEIZE PROPERTY BH Launching Tax Crackdown

The Benton Harbor city commission last night approved a crackdown on businesses that are delinquent in paying their personal property taxes.

The commission unanimously approved a plan which calls for the city's finance director to send a "progression of mailings" to "coerce the delinquent taxpayer to pay."

Joseph Christoffel, newly-appointed city finance director, explained he will be sending out three letters in the next 25 days notifying personal property owners that they are delinquent and informing them of a state law which says the city can seize the land if the taxes are not paid.

Christoffel said the first letter, which will go out tomorrow, will be "very amiable." The second, which will be sent 10 days later, will inform the delinquent taxpayers of state law which allows the city to seize the property and put it up for sale to pay the taxes. The third letter, which will be sent out 15 days after the second letter, will inform the delinquent taxpayers that they have 30 days to pay before the city seizes their land.

JOSEPH CHRISTOFFEL
Explains Crackdown

Christoffel said the city currently has $631,000 in delinquent personal property taxes — the tax on businesses' equipment and "movable" properties. He estimated that $583,000 of that amount was "collectable" and said about $48,000 would be hard to collect because the businesses had moved or closed down.

The new collection procedure covers all delinquent personal property taxes for 1975 and prior years. It does not include 1976 property taxes which were delinquent as of Sept. 15, according to Christoffel. The commission also dealt the "final blow" to plans for a Chicago housing development firm to construct a $3.5 million apartment complex on urban renewal land in the city.

The commission unanimously voted to terminate the contract with BNS Development Corp., of Chicago, to build the 184-unit Water Tower apartments which puts the 12 acres of urban renewal land back on the market for sale.

"We did this to clear the air of any questions in case anybody had an idea of using the land for development," City Manager Malvin Farmer, Jr., said after the meeting. He said the city currently has no firm prospects for the land.

The city commission had voted 7 to 1 in June, 1975, to sell the 12 acres of urban renewal land to BNS for $20,027 to develop the apartment complex south of the Britain avenue water tower, between Eighth and Ninth streets.

Farmer said earlier that the city was considering BNS in default of its contract with the city because BNS officials had not supplied development plans for the apartments within two weeks as required by the contract between the city and the firm.

Farmer said a $2,003 check BNS gave the city to maintain an option on the land was returned to BNS in late 1975 while Charles A. Morrison was city manager.

The commission also approved a contract with Robert A. Early, Inc., a Kalamazoo industrial real estate brokerage firm, to sell the property of the bankrupt-Benton Harbor Malleable Industries.

Under an agreement set in 1975, the City of Benton Harbor acts as the "collecting agency" and will collect the first $300,000 from the sale of land and buildings and distribute it to the county, schools and city for payment of back taxes. Malleable owed some $400,000 when it went into bankruptcy proceedings.

Farmer said last night that under the contract signed with the city, the firm will receive anywhere from 6 to 10 per cent of the total selling price for the land, depending on how much money comes from the sale.

The commission also voted to prosecute violations under city codes and transfer prosecutions back to the city attorney.

The commission had voted in March to prosecute under state law and transfer prosecution to the county prosecutor. Commissioner Arnold Bolin said last night that the move was made in March to save the city money, but caused many citizens not to get the legal services they deserved.

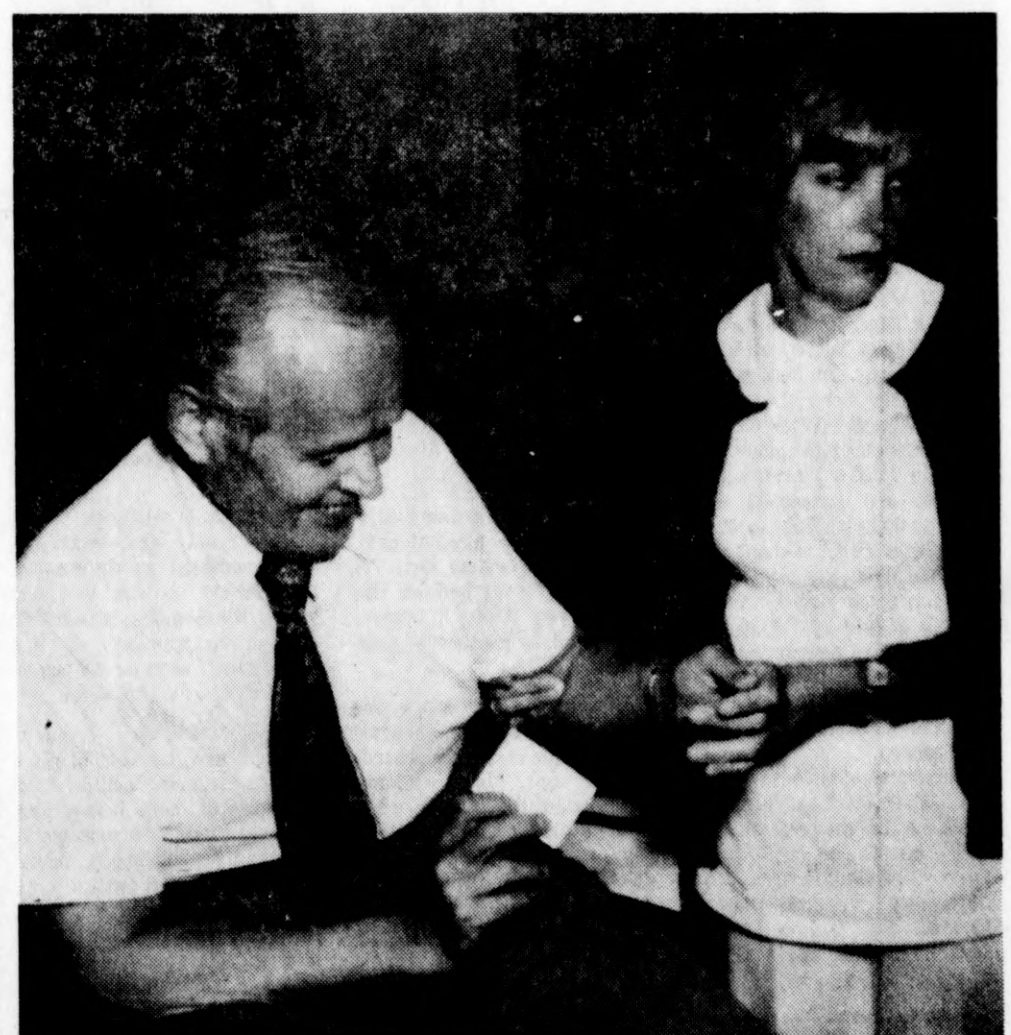

Bolin said the Berrien county prosecutor's office has indicated to the city they do not have the staff to prosecute all of the city's violations. Bolin also requested that the courts impose maximum sentences and penalties on people "convicted of crimes against people as well as crimes against property."

The commission approved a contract with Madison & Madison International of Cleveland, Ohio, to do the engineering consultant work on the city's street repaving project.

The project, which includes asphalt repaving of Colfax avenue, North Shore drive and Pavone street, will be done with funds from the city's $1.4 million Community Development block grant.

Madison & Madison will receive about $35,000 for the engineering consultant work on the project, according to Farmer.

TEN GALLON DONOR: Judd Spray holds Red Cross blood donor card in St. Joseph Monday when he contributed 80th pint of blood since late 1942 to reach 10 gallon mark in humanitarian effort. He is assisted from table by Rhea Carey, RN, of the Lansing regional Red Cross blood program serving Berrien county. Spray is Benton township Community Development director. Carol Green, blood program coordinator for Berrien Red Cross chapter, said Spray is leading donor in local program now in its fourth fiscal year. Regarding his donations, Spray said "I got into the habit. It didn't hurt and seemed to be needed." He hasn't required any transfusions himself he said. (Staff photo)

State Engineers Group Appoints Harry R. Ball

executive director of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers, headquartered in Lansing.

Ball, 59, was manager of planning for the Whirlpool consumer affairs division when he took early retirement on June 30 of this year, and had been with Whirlpool in various capacities since 1955.

Ball is a former state president of the Professional Engineers organization, and currently is president of the Michigan Association of the Professions. He also is current president of the Michiana chapter of the American Marketing association. He is an active member of the First Congregational church of St. Joseph and serves on the board of directors of the Chicago Theological seminary.

He and his wife plan to continue residence in St. Joseph.

SJ Board's First Woman Member Dies In Southwest

Mrs. Marguerite McConnell Wilson, widow of Dr. William Wilson, prominent St. Joseph physician, died Monday at her home, 6303 Indian School road, N.E., Albuquerque, N.M., at the age of 93. Mrs. Wilson was born Dec. 2, 1882, in Chicago, and in 1899 the McConnell family moved to St. Joseph. She was a graduate of Miss Haire's School for Girls, Chicago, and attended Smith college, North Hampton, Mass.

She was the first woman to serve on the St. Joseph board of education; was a founder of the Indian Hills Garden club, and at one time served as president of the Michigan Federated Garden clubs. Dr. and Mrs. Wilson resided at 1620 Niles avenue, St. Joseph. Dr. Wilson died Sept. 6, 1938. Dr. Wilson, a specialist in the X-ray field, supervised the use of the first X-ray machine at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor.

Mrs. Wilson moved to California in the late 1940's and later moved to Albuquerque to make her home with her daughter, Miss Eleanor Wilson, who is an occupational therapist. Survivors also include a son, William Lynn Wilson, executive director of Mary Hitchcock Memorial hospital, Hanover, N.H., and a sister, Miss Madeline McConnell of St. Joseph. Private funeral services will be held Wednesday at the Wilson residence.

Police Seek Word On Missing Woman

Benton township police said they are seeking information in an attempt to locate a woman who has been missing since Sept. 2. Police Det. Robert Shepherdson said Martha Lee, 34, of 985 North Euclid avenue, was last seen in the Benton Heights area Sept. 2. She is described as white, 5 feet 7 inches, tall, 160 pounds, and has brown hair and blue eyes. Shepherdson said anyone having information on her whereabouts should call the Benton township police department. He said all information would be kept strictly confidential.

Add Plaque At Second Berrien Courthouse Site

BELL AND CORNERSTONE: A. Edward Brown, representing Four Fort Miami Heritage Society, and Mrs. Joseph (Sharon) Yantis, representing the Twin Cities Area Garden Clubs council, view new plaque at the site of the second Berrien county courthouse. The plaque explains the bell and cornerstone from the building which served the county from 1895 until 1966. Brown was the dedication speaker. (Staff photos)

A plaque, complete with picture, has been added to explain the bell and cornerstone of Berrien county's second courthouse, now permanently displayed on the original site in St. Joseph.

The building stood from 1895 until 1966 on the block which lies between Port, Church, Ship, and Wayne streets.

The Twin Cities Area Garden council has been active in landscaping the west side of the block which is now used as a parking lot. The bell, cornerstone, and plaque are near the unique old bald cypress tree which the council has protected by landscaping the site.

The addition of the bell and cornerstone to the plot has been through the efforts of several concerned groups as well as the county Board of Commissioners.

Fort Miami Heritage Society had been appointed by county officials to preserve artifacts from the courthouse before it was torn down and the Society also donated $500 to construct suitable housing for the bell and cornerstone. The county paid the cost of materials.

Joseph Bartz of Hatfield and Associates architectural firm, donated the plans.

Brick base for the structure was laid by the donated work of Bricklayers Local 20, headed by Joseph Maisner. Pearson Construction Co., which has stored the cornerstone for 10 years, did the remainder of the construction work. Other firms involved included Glenford Lumber company, Anderson Building Materials, and Adams Sheet Metal Works, Inc.,

Clubs belonging to the Garden Council include Blossomland, Four Seasons, Green Thumb, Highcliffe Terrace, Indian Hills, Shoreham Village, Shoreline, and Watervliet.

A. Edward Brown, speaking at the dedication of the bell and cornerstone site, and representing Fort Miami Heritage Society, related the history of the courthouse.

St. Joseph was the first county seat for Berrien county which was organized in 1829 and the first county activities were held in an old log school house and the Perkins State bank. Later the old White school house, located near the southeast corner of Main and Ship streets, served as a court room and repository for county records. A log jail was built at a cost of $191.

In 1837 the Legislature voted to remove the county seat from St. Joseph to Berrien Springs, where it remained until the county board of supervisors, in 1894, voted to remove the county seat back to St. Joseph, subject to approval of the voters.

The St. Joseph-Benton Harbor committee selected the site on the corner of Ship and Wayne streets and the City of St. Joseph purchased the site, including the site for the county jail across Port street, for $25,000 and agreed to deed it to the county if the courthouse was built there.

The voted was 5,610 for removal of the county seat from Berrien Springs, with 5,368 against.

On Dec. 1, 1894, the county records were removed from Berrien Springs. It took one yoke of oxen and a wagon to remove the records to Berrien Springs in 1838 and 41 teams and wagons to return them to St. Joseph in 1894.

The cornerstone of the new courthouse was laid July 4, 1895. The building was basic Italianate architecture with a clock tower which also enclosed the bell — a striking bell with mechanism actuated by the clock.

During the course of construction, sessions of Court were held at Martin's Academy of Music on the east side of the 200 block of State street in St. Joseph.

Among famous trials held in the 1895 courthouse were the trial of the officers and leading members of the U.S. Communist party on anti-synicalism charges and the Grand Jury investigation of the House of David.

The 1895 courthouse served the county until the early 1960's when the county's growing population made it necessary to construct the present courthouse on Port street in 1967.

The picture of the courthouse on the plaque is a line engraving of a watercolor by Al Farmer which belongs to Atty. and Mrs. Paul A. Taglia of St. Joseph.

ATTENTION! Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

Better Living Seminar

The Rev. Johnnie Coleman of Chicago will conduct a "Better Living" seminar Saturday, Sept. 25, at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn.

The event is sponsored by the local association of the Universal Foundation for Better Living (UFBL).

The program is open to the public and will be held from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. here will be no admission charge, but a free-will offering will be taken to defray expenses.

The Rev. Coleman is founder of UFBL, an association of New Thought (metaphysical) churches dedicated to the teaching that man is a victor rather than a victim of circumstances. "Our experiences are the reflection of our beliefs, therefore, the key to happy and successful living is right thinking followed by right action," Rev. Coleman says.

Rev. Coleman is an ordained Unity minister and serves Christ Universal Temple in Chicago. She is the author of several books on better living and is a well-known speaker on television and radio. She is founder of the Johnnie Coleman Institute of Chicago. Rev. Coleman received her bachelor of arts degree from Wiley college, Texas, and has taught in the Chicago school system and served as price analyst for the Chicago Market Center.

As a member of the International New Thought Alliance, she has served as district president and as a member of the board of directors.

Anyone interested in joining the local UFBL is invited to a meeting Saturday, Oct. 2, at 8

U-M Pharmacy Enrollment 65 Per Cent Women

ANN ARBOR — Women have come a long, long way at the University of Michigan College of Pharmacy. In fact, with a century-long head start on affirmative action, they have almost taken over the place.

While other professional schools are concerned with proving their willingness to accept qualified women, the theoretical 50 per cent mark was surpassed long ago at the U-M College of Pharmacy where females now make up 65 per cent of the student body of 425. In fact, the first-year class which began Sept. 10, is 67.7 per cent women.

Women also have swept all elected student government positions in the college and make up 20 per cent of the professorial rank faculty.

Recently retired Dean Emeritus Tom D. Rowe, Ph.D., says he cannot attribute the women's gravitation to the school to a single cause other than recognized quality of education. "Michigan (the College of Pharmacy) has just become known as a good place for women to get an education," Dr. Rowe said.

The college, which will welcome back several hundred of its alumni to a Centennial Weekend celebration Oct. 7-9, apparently embarked on this course even before it became recognized as a separate institution in 1876.

Although its first class was comprised of 29 men, previous to that, in 1871, the sisters Amelia and Mary Upjohn, daughters of the Upjohn pharmaceutical company, received their U-M pharmacy degrees through the department of chemistry. This was just three months after the first two women ever to receive U-M degrees were graduated.

The senior female faculty member of the college, Associate Prof. Rosemary R. Berardi, attributes the high number of females at the college in part to its hospital pharmacy curriculum which she heads.

Although attitudes are changing and more women are being accepted as community pharmacists, she said that, for years, the hospital pharmacy curriculum was one of the "most used" ways for women to find entry to the profession.

"The hours are regular, mostly 8 to 5, the sort of position a woman could hold conveniently, both before and after marriage," in contrast to community pharmacies, many of which are open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m., Dr. Berardi said. However, responsibility in a hospital pharmacy can be very great since most modern institutions rely on the pharmacist to oversee the quality and accuracy of drug-related therapy. Pharmacists are responsible for preparing, packaging and dispensing to the floors all pills, capsules, ointments, injectable and intravenous solutions for the entire institution.

Hospital pharmacists also handle radioactive medications for special diagnostic studies and, at the U-M hospital, operate a statewide drug information service for physicians. They also consult with physicians on drug interactions and advise patients on taking their medications after leaving the hospital.

Dr. Berardi says the women students she counsels now look at the profession in a different way. They see it as a pathway to hospital administration, or are enrolling in pharmacy doctoral programs with the goal of attaining faculty status.

However, for the first quarter century of its existence, this optimistic attitude did not prevail at the U-M college.

Documenting this is a letter from a liberationist U-M alumna who was asked to speak at the college's 25th anniversary in 1901. She was Julie Emanuel who operated her own pharmacy in Ft. Wayne, Ind. She called it the Chemist's Shop and hired only women to work for her.

In her letter to the college declining to speak on the topic, "Women in Pharmacy," she said she could cover the subject in only three words: "They don't exist."

At least at the U-M College of Pharmacy, women have come a long way, Julie Emanuel.

AMERICANS TAKE BILLIONS OF ASPIRINS

Miracle Drug Taken For Granted

When you consider that billions of aspirin-containing tablets are consumed by Americans every year, you have to conclude that this is something that plays a big part in whether most of us laugh or cry.

Yet, no one knows for certain how aspirin works or where it works in the body. Some scientists will tell you how it works directly on nerve endings or the brain to raise the threshold of pain. Others think aspirin somehow normalizes the body chemistry in the affected tissues and acts to relieve the pain from the spot at which it emanates.

Preliminary results of medical research indicate that aspirin may one day play a large role in helping to prevent heart attacks, strokes and post-operative complications that are caused by blood clots. It seems aspirin has a unique inhibiting effect on platelets in the blood. Those are the tiny particles that join together to begin to form a plug when a blood vessel is cut.

Research is also under way to find additional ways to use aspirin in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, the most painful form of arthritis which affects some five million Americans, mostly women. According to Dr. Thomas G. Kantor, professor of clinical medicine of the New York University-Bellevue Medical Center, aspirin is still the "drug of choice" for arthritis although new wonder drugs appear often.

Since inflammation is what causes pain and can cause damage to joints, aspirin's anti-inflammatory power is very important to the arthritis sufferer, says Dr. Kantor. He says that "approximately 80 per cent of all pains that we treat are associated with some form of inflammation" — a fact worth keeping in mind when considering the use of aspirin substitutes which lack this anti-inflammatory property.

Aspirin is available today because in the 1890's a German scientist set out to find something to relieve the pain of his arthritic father. The scientist, Felix Hoffman, noted that a chemist had synthesized acetylsalicylic acid 50 years earlier. He tested the compound and developed a commercial method of producing it. When Friedrich Bayer and Company began manufacturing it in 1899, the 20th century's most widely used pain reliever was born.

The medical use of aspirin-like substances goes back at least as far as ancient Greece. Hippocrates, the famous Greek physician, told his patients suffering from pain or fever to chew on the bark of a willow tree. He didn't know it, but willow contains salicin, a natural chemical cousin of the present-day aspirin.

About 40 per cent of all aspirin sold is for the relief of headaches, and 85 per cent of migraine headache sufferers are women. Dr. David R. Codon, director of the Headache Clinic at New York's Mount Sinai Medical Center, believes that migraine headaches are involved in some way with women's hormonal cycle, and that the vast majority of headaches are probably due to alterations in blood flow.

During acute attacks of headaches, he says, platelets in the blood clump together, preventing free flow of oxygen — carrying blood. This stimulates pain — sensitive nerve endings. "Aspirin — if taken early enough — interferes with this platelet aggregation. That's one of the reasons aspirin is so effective," Dr. Codon says. "For serious and debilitating headaches, though, more powerful prescription drugs may be required," he says.

The headache that is thriving in these days of emancipation into new fields and new boundaries and fresh crises and stresses is the "tension headache," Dr. Arthur S. Freeze, author of "Headaches: Their Kinds and Their Cures," writes that "this type of headache comes from excessive contraction or spasm of the muscles involved." His suggestions for relief of the tension headache are simple — a quiet cup of coffee, taking a walk in the fresh air, relaxing in a warm bath or having someone gently massage your neck and shoulders. If this doesn't work, he recommends taking "plain old aspirin with a full glass of water or milk."

Although the overwhelming majority of people can take aspirin without any problems, a few people experience side effects from it as with any effective medication. Persons susceptible to allergies or asthma or anyone taking medication that affects blood clotting should be sure to read product labels and package inserts carefully and consult a physician before taking any pain relievers.

Wedding

MRS. EDDIE JOHNSON
Peggy Kettelhut

Miss Peggy Jane Kettelhut and Eddie Johnson exchanged wedding vows July 9 at the Apostolic Lighthouse church, Pompano Beach, Fla.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kettelhut of Stevensville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gillis Johnson of Pensacola, Fla.

Miss Linda Hicks was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Faye Faulkner and Miss Janet Harris.

Rachel Jones was flower girl. Serving as best man was Mike Richards. Ushers were Jeff Driver, Frank Faulkner, George Roberts and Edd Glass.

Following a wedding trip to Disney World, the couple is residing in Pensacola.

Festivities

GERMAN CELEBRATION: The DANK club, Benton Harbor, will hold three dances during Oktoberfest on Saturday evenings, Sept. 25, Oct. 2 and 9, and an "Old Munich Oktoberfest" show and dance, Sunday, Oct. 17. Preparing for the events are Miss DANK 1977, Elise Baumann, and Joe Edwards. (Staff photo)

Three dances will be featured during Oktoberfest at the DANK club, 2651 Pipestone, Benton Harbor, Saturday evenings, Sept. 25, Oct. 2 and 9.

Tickets are $2.50 in advance or $3.50 at the door and may be obtained by contacting the DANK office, Josef Baumann of Benton Harbor, president, or Mrs. Robert E. (Emilie) Burden, Niles, executive secretary.

Doors for the dances, to which the public is invited, will open at 6 p.m. and the kitchen will begin serving at 6:30 p.m.

Bands featured will be "Edelweis" of Cleveland on Sept. 25, "Mondschein," of Chicago, Oct. 2, and "Sorgenbrecher" of Detroit, Oct. 9.

Special entertainment will be provided by zitherplayer Karl Kugler at all three dances, and Schuhplattler Alpenrose will perform Sept. 25 and Oct. 29.

An "Old Munich Oktoberfest" show and dance will be presented at the DANK club Sunday, Oct. 17, at 3 p.m. German television and recording stars will be featured. Taking part will be Fontana, the singing duo of Don & Marscha, Harry Dettman, and the Alpenrose Schuhplattler-Slapdancers.

Tickets for this event are $3.50 for adults and $2 for students, with children under 12 admitted free. They may be obtained by contacting the DANK office.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

It's An Old Ethnic Custom

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine is getting married soon. She was born in Eastern Europe but came to this country when she was three years old. Nothing about her is European except her parents — and their ideas.

Three hundred guests have been invited to the wedding. I received my invitation in the mail yesterday. There was a separate card in the envelope which read, "We are having a money dance. Come prepared. Bring pins along with your folding money."

I had never heard of a money dance and was intrigued with the bit about the pins. I asked the bride what it was all about. She told me it's a custom in the country of her birth for the guests to pin money on the bride's veil. She added, "I've seen some brides make as much as $500 in an evening."

I am flabbergasted. How do you feel about turning a wedding into a fundraiser? — Think I'll Develop A Migraine

Dear Migraine: If it's an ethnic custom, the family does not consider it gauche. I can see why some of their friends from different backgrounds might. Don't develop a migraine. Go and have a good time. But leave your pins and folding money at home.

Need Counseling

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 22-year-old virgin and a bit of a phony. Ever since age 15, I've been posing as a paragon of virtue, saying "No, no, no," first to the teenage boys and now to the men. They all had me pegged as a highly-principled, moralistic lady but the truth is I'm terrified of having sex. I've been aware of this fear for a long time but it wasn't a problem to me until now.

Three months ago I met "Mr. Perfect." We've indulged in some light petting but I'm sure our love will grow deeper and stronger and he's going to want more. (So will I.) Although "Mr. P." isn't in a position to get married for at least a year, we've discussed it. He's the man I want for my life-time partner. Now I need to know how to overcome this sick fear of sexual intercourse. — All Together But Only Physically

Dear All: Some early traumatic experience (now forgotten) has left its mark on you. It must be dredged up, hashed out and disposed of.

This is no "Do-It-Yourself" project, dear. You need counseling. If you can't afford a private therapist, look in the phone book for your county or state Mental Health Association. And please, let me know how you make out — I mean give me a progress report. (Boy, how the language has changed since I started to write this column!)

Go Get Her

Dear Ann Landers: My wife left me three weeks ago. Rosie and I had some problems that could have been talked out but her older sister who lives in Colorado sent her an airplane ticket and she left me.

I've written Rosie at least five letters asking her to come home. When I called her long-distance last night she said she had received only one letter. I was lucky she picked up the phone. Usually her sister answers and hangs up on me. What should I do, Ann? — I'm Heartsick And Lonesome

Dear H and L: If you want your wife back, don't write and don't phone. Go get her.

ANN LANDERS

How young is too young for a child to learn about sex? That's just one thing you'll find in Ann Landers's new booklet, "How, What and When to Tell Your Child About Sex." Send 50 cents in coin, along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Coffee And Milk Prices Are Higher

A recent market basket price report indicated that prices are down on many items, which is good news, but up on two important beverages, coffee and milk, according to Maryann Beckman, District Food Marketing Agent.

Since that announcement, we have had questions galore on why these prices are increasing so much, so here are some of the answers, she added.

Coffee prices at all levels have gone up and will continue to go up, primarily because the coffee supply is so very short. About a year ago, Brazil, a major world coffee supplier, was very hard hit by freezes that severely damaged their crop. Their total crop is estimated to be less than half of the previous year's crop. In addition, the world coffee crop is currently estimated at 60.5 million bags (eight million pounds) or down 15 per cent from a year ago.

Add to this the fact that coffee consumption, which had been dwindling, is once again on the increase and we are back to the old law of supply and demand that dictates that when a crop is smaller than the demand, prices increase. Over the next two years it is expected that world coffee output will likely total less than consumption and world stocks are expected to dwindle to relatively low levels.

Major brands seem to be operating continuing special promotions on coffee though, Mrs. Beckman says, so consumers who use coupons or buy only on special can beat some of the high cost of caffeine.

But hoarding coffee will not solve the problems if consumers continue to drink coffee at present levels. Do take advantage though of coupons and specials. As long as coffee is unopened and stored in a cool dry place, it will last for about a year or more. If stored in the freezer it will last almost indefinitely.

Present levels of consumption are a surprise to the industry, which has been seeing declining consumption over the last 10 years, according to Mrs. Beckman. Probably the biggest reason for increased consumption is the advent of all the quick and easy new models of coffee makers now on the market. Since this is the case, a bit of mathematics to determine which is the better value on the coffee, or switch rather than fight highest prices.

According to the Coffee Brewing Institute figures, one pound of regular ground coffee produces about 50 six-ounce cups, while a six-ounce jar of instant coffee produces 120 six-ounce cups. So a pound of regular coffee, now costing around $2 a pound, is equivalent to a six-ounce jar of instant at $4.80. It does not take a mathematical wizard to see that instant is the best value when prices are compared, Mrs. Beckman said.

Perhaps, this is the time to switch to tea, rather than fight coffee prices. Cup for cup, 100 tea bags would have to cost over $4 to be as expensive as ground coffee at about $2 per pound. Though many people are switching and therefore tea prices have also increased some, they have not increased as much as coffee, so tea may be the best alternative, if real budget saving is the goal.

Continued milk production increases are likely for the rest of 1976, due to increased production per cow. But heavy consumer demand for milk, as well as other dairy products, namely cheese of all kinds, cottage cheese and ice cream, will push up milk and almost all dairy product prices. Though first half milk production was up around three per cent from a year ago, most of the increased production has gone into these other manufactured dairy products. Added to consumer demand are higher dairy production costs, causing most all milk and dairy products to increase. The only dairy product not expected to go up much is non-fat dry milk.

Corn-Sugar Beet Expo '76 Is For The Homemaker Too

EAST LANSING — Michigan's Corn and Sugar Beet Expo '76 to be held Oct. 5-6 is expected to attract farmers and agribusinessmen from throughout the Midwest, but there are special programs for the homemaker, too.

Expo will be on the Richard Donahue farm, corner of Remington and Cass City roads, 7 1/2 miles northeast of Caro, in Tuscola county.

"Targets for Food Spending," one of the many attractions during this free event, is designed to help the homemaker plan low cost but nutritious meals, says Allene Mills, Michigan State University Cooperative Extension home economist.

Sponsored by Cooperative Extension Service's Family Living Education program, this program will be Oct. 6 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. during Expo.

"Many families may be short-changing themselves in nutrition," says Jan Jacobson, MSU consumer marketing information agent who will operate the exhibit. "You may be overspending for one type of food and underspending for another.

"And with a little help from our computer, families may find they can better juggle their food dollars — for a satisfying and nutritious diet. The computer helps you set a target for your food spending," she adds.

Here's how it works: the homemaker fills out a computer input form, describing how many people are in the family, their ages and sexes and how often each eats away from home. Then, based on the family's income, the person chooses what the computer is to design: a moderate, low-cost or thrifty spending plan.

The computer then formulates a food spending plan to meet the family budget and the nutritional needs, telling how the homemaker can use it. "To get your total weekly food cost, you must add the cost of meals eaten away from home. The printout sheet suggests how many servings of each food group each member of your family needs," Mills says.

"Because families don't always eat three square meals and a snack each day, we provide a pamphlet to show how to be flexible. If you skipped breakfast, for example, you might add the banana from your breakfast plan to an evening banana split made with ice milk," Mills says.

The computer can be asked for information about sources of key nutrients in the diet. For example, you can get vitamin A from apricots, sweet potatoes, pumpkin and cantaloupe.

Another program will show how to identify and stop heat losses from the home during winter. An accompanying exhibit will provide take-home information on energy savings and feature samples of weather-proofing materials available to the consumer.

A third demonstration will discuss "microwave ovens, the freedom appliance of the '70s." This will include cooking demonstrations and explain the benefits, safety features and care of the appliance.

Dr. Lester Coleman

In yesterday's column, emphasis was placed on the need for discipline in giving children their greatest advantage in attaining responsible adulthood. The self-esteem of a child can be made greater by allowing him to take a role in the planning of rules and regulations that govern behavior.

In the excellent magazine Perspective, published by the Menninger Clinic, the following rules were laid down by Dr. Thomas P. Johnson. They are simple and concise and add enormously to the gifts that parents and children can give each other.

1. Don't disapprove of what a child is — disapprove of what he does.

2. Give attention and praise for good behavior — not bad behavior.

3. Encourage and allow discussion but remember it's the parents who should make the final decision.

4. Punishment should be swift, reasonable, related to the offense.

5. Throw out all rules you are unwilling to enforce and be willing to change rules if you think it's reasonable to do so.

6. Don't lecture and don't warn. Youngsters will remember what they think is important to remember.

7. Don't feel you have to justify rules, although you should try to explain them.

8. As your youngster grows older, many rules may be flexible and subject to discussion and compromise. However, on the few rules you really feel strongly about, enforce them no matter what rules other parents have.

9. Allow the child or youth to assume responsibility for his decisions as he shows the ability to do so.

10. Don't expect children to show more self-control than you do as a parent.

11. Be honest with your youngster — hypocrisy shows.

12. The most important factor in your youngster's self-image is what he thinks you think of him and his self-image is a major factor in how he acts and what he does.

RUSTPROOF NAILS

Rustproof nails are recommended for outdoor structures.

FOR WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 22, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could be a trifle careless regarding health habits. Remember, the ounce of prevention is worth the pound of cure.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today you're a bit too glib in business matters. Be extra careful when dealing with strange merchants.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Doubts about associates should not be ignored today. If something bothers you, bring it out. Discuss it with the person himself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you ignore a task today, figuring you'll get around to it tomorrow, you're barking up the wrong tree. Postponement only means delay.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Spendthrift ways could cause serious financial problems today. Stop telling yourself you need things that you'll buy now and not use later.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't anticipate defeat today before you even enter the fray. You have at least as much chance of winning as you do of losing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You may be tempted to resort to subterfuge today. Don't operate in a way that will make you feel guilty.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your generous nature may be taken in today by someone with a sad tale. Before opening your heart and your purse, check her story out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Success may be denied you today through your own fault. If you're not willing to help yourself, don't expect others to either.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Fight a tendency to feel sorry for yourself today. It's futile. Others have their own troubles and you'll get little sympathy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't feel obligated to do business with one you've dealt with before. Go where you can get the best bargain. Sentiment isn't good sense today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Inconsistency will be annoying to your friends today. Stick to your agreed course of action. Do what you say you will.

Sept. 22, 1976

You could be restless this year and anxious to make change for change's sake. Better to stay where you are, for things will work out.

Ford Strike Taking Toll On Automotive Suppliers

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Bargainers were to renew efforts today to end a nationwide strike against Ford Motor Co. as the six-day-old walkout took its toll on thousands of workers at other companies.

The United Auto Workers and Ford, which resumed formal contract talks Monday for the first time since 170,000 workers walked off the job, recessed bargaining until today after a brief meeting failed to bring the

Fund Asks Exemption

CHICAGO (AP) — Declaring it has acted to correct mismanagement, the Teamsters union's Central States, Southeast and Southwest Areas Pension Fund has asked the Internal Revenue Service for permanent restoration of its tax-exempt status.

In asking the restoration, the fund, which is accused by the federal government of mismanaging its $1.4 billion in assets, maintained Monday that it "has made progress in the past three years in its operations, pension administrations and investment management capabilities."

Meanwhile, U.S. Labor Department officials were in Chicago to confirm the resignations of fund trustees William A. Presser and Frank Ranney, longtime Teamsters officials who took the Fifth Amendment before department investigators in July.

two sides closer to agreement on a new three-year accord.

In the meantime, at least 2,000 employees at Ford supply firms have been laid off along with 1,600 Ford workers in Canada as a result of the strike, the first against the No. 2 U.S. automaker since 1967.

Spokesmen at several major automotive suppliers warned that layoffs would soar by Oct. 1, if the walkout continued.

That prospect appeared almost certain, union sources say, because even with a quick settlement — which they said was unlikely — it would take a week to complete ratification votes by rank-and-file.

Financial analysts say the strike would have a severe impact on the U.S. economy if it lasted more than a month. Most analysts, however, have predicted the walkout would end within four weeks.

The Budd Co., a major auto supplier, said it laid off nearly 1,100 workers in Detroit, Philadelphia and Gary, Ind., due to the walkout.

ARA Food Services, a Philadelphia-based cafeteria and vending company, said it laid off more than 500 workers who service Ford plants. The Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad, which depends on Ford for half its business, said it has idled 400 of 1,400 employees.

The first layoffs at Ford of Canada Ltd. came at the Windsor, Ont., engine plant. Ford has said the U.S. strike eventually would idle all 14,000 hourly workers in Canada due to parts shortages.

The UAW, which has separate but similar pacts with the Canadian subsidiaries of the U.S. carmakers, has extended its pact with Ford of Canada until a settlement is reached in the United States.

Ford spokesmen here said picketing at 102 facilities in 22 states remained peaceful Monday, except for tire slashing at company headquarters in suburban Dearborn, where 1,500 members of UAW Local 245 continue to work with the approval of UAW leaders. Members of the local are mostly skilled tradesmen involved in research projects that do not affect production.

No other incidents have been reported since the start of the work stoppage, which has brought Ford's car production to a complete standstill.

Japanese Seek War Stragglers

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Two Japanese diplomats have flown to the island of Tarakan, off the east coast of Borneo, to investigate the possibility that Japanese soldiers from World War II are still hiding there.

A Japanese businessman in the town of Tarakan reported to the embassy last week that a Japanese soldier had been seen in front of a cave in the jungle on the island. Police sources in Tarakan said 13 Japanese soldiers stationed on the island were never accounted for after the war.

Veto Seafarer, Milliken Urged

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has been urged by the state House to veto the Navy's vast Project Seafarer communications grid for the Upper Peninsula.

On a voice vote without audible dissent Monday night, the House adopted a resolution urging the veto and asked the Senate to concur.

It is expected that the full legislature will call for Milliken to veto the project, which would consist of a gigantic low-frequency radio grid designed to contact submerged nuclear submarines in the event of war.

The Senate, meanwhile, voted to increase examination fees for several professions.

Numerous Upper Peninsula groups have opposed the Seafarer project and the resolution echoes concerns they express over Seafarer's unknown effects on plant, animal and human life.

The resolution was co-sponsored by four Upper Peninsula representatives — Jack Gingrass, D-Iron Mountain, Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, Rusty Hellman, D-Dollar Bay, and Charles Varum, R-Manistique. Other cosponsors were House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison, and Rep. George H. Edwards, D-Detroit.

The resolution objected that Seafarer "began as a grid pattern of 2,500 square miles (but) has expanded to an area of at least 4,000 square miles or 25 per cent of the Upper Peninsula."

The environmental effects and the exact size of the system "are presently indeterminate," the resolution said. "Indeed, the United States Navy has been unable to determine the system's eventual size, its impact on land uses, and possible adverse health effects."

The resolution contends the project's "probable environmental consequences" are "totally unacceptable to the people of Michigan," especially since "there is an alternative site on federal lands in Nevada." Milliken in 1975 issued the Navy "a conditional invitation" to establish Seafarer when he asked the Navy to prepare an environmental impact statement, the resolution said. At the same time, Milliken received Navy assurance that he would have final veto power over the project, the resolution noted.

The Senate, meanwhile, voted

Ethel Guilty

BARNSTABLE, Mass. (AP) — Ethel Kennedy has paid a $31.25 fine after being convicted on a charge of mutilating a parking ticket.

Mrs. Kennedy, widow of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, pleaded innocent to the charge, but was convicted by Judge John P. Curley Jr. She was not present in court, but was represented by an attorney.

The offense occurred on Sept. 4. No additional details were available.

to increase examination fees for certain professions in an attempt to recoup the money it costs to administer the exams.

A package of four bills raising fees for osteopaths, nurses, pharmacists and architects, engineers and land surveyors was sent to the House on overwhelming votes.

Sen. Bill Huffman, D-Madison

Heights, sponsor of the bills, said they are designed to pick up $225,000 in revenue. The state will not make money on the exams, he said, but the new fee levels reflect the actual cost of giving the examinations.

The expected revenue has already been figured into the 1976-77 fiscal year budget, he said.

'Irregularly' Ordained Women Posing Problems

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Episcopal bishops must decide what to do about 15 women who were "irregularly" ordained to the priesthood before the church's governing convention here authorized the elevation of women to the priesthood.

The bishops take up today various proposals that have been submitted, ranging from those that would severely chastize the women by restricting their functions to those that would welcome them into priestly service.

The House of Bishops turned to the problem after a nearly unanimous vote Monday authorizing the first major revision in four centuries of the church's old classic of Christian ritual, the Book of Common Prayer.

The new rendition, putting the lofty but sometimes obscure old English into more contemporary words, is scheduled to go into use Nov. 28, at the start of the Christmas season.

The bishops made a few alterations before concurring with adoption of the new version by the House of Deputies, the layclergy branch of the church's bicameral legislature.

Differences must be reconciled between the two houses. The old prayer book still may be used as an option, at least until 1979.

The church's presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. John M. Allin, called the new version a "great contribution to this new age," but he urged sensitivity to persons still keenly preferring the old book.

"They need some time to let their faith work," he said.

In a telegram, the American Jewish Committee voiced "deep appreciation" for the convention's action in eliminating from the new book's Good Friday services some ancient "reproaches" regarded as offensive to Jews.

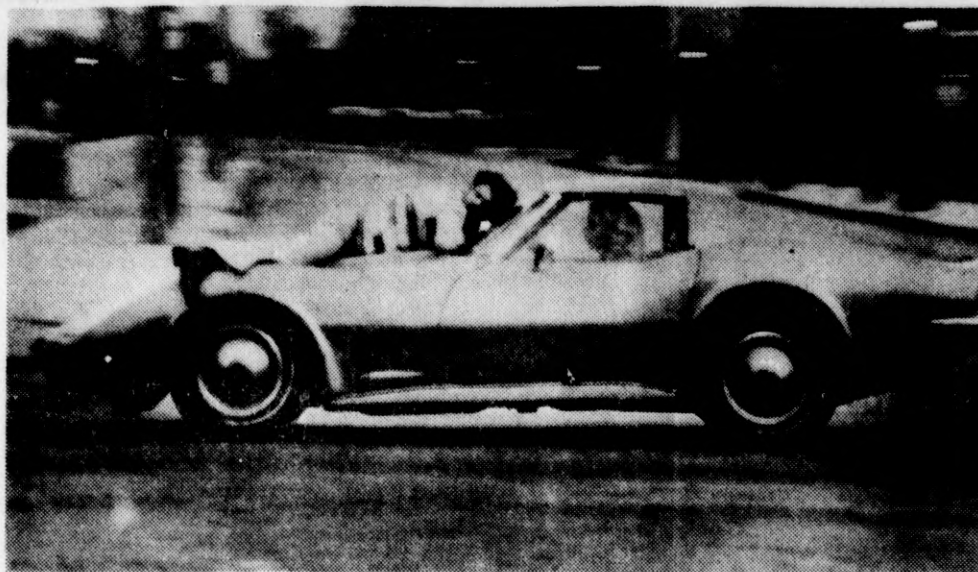

The convention's "historic act of respect for Judaism and friendship for the Jewish people" is an added step toward closer, trusting relations between Christians and Jews, the message said.

The future of the 15 women, ordained in 1974 and 1975 in defiance of church canons, remained a heated issue among the representatives, even though they now have officially opened the priesthood to women.

In the last three years, activities of the 15 have caused ecclesiastical trials, reprimands, a split in an Ohio church and a civil court case in New York state charging one bishop with sex discrimination.

"Reconciliation is desperately needed," says a theological committee report to the bishops.

Opponents of women priests vow they will never accept them and are considering efforts to set up an overlapping national diocese that would not allow them. Thirty-seven bishops say they won't permit women priests in their dioceses.

Latest Price News May Boost Ford's Campaign

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's election campaign, which has had to look hard for favorable economic news in recent months, may get a boost from the government's latest inflation report.

Administration economists say favorable price news on food and farm products should help offset increases for fuel and other nonfood commodities and keep over-all consumer prices from rising sharply.

The August consumer price index, the government's latest report on retail price trends, was scheduled to be released today by the Labor Department.

Consumer prices rose by five-tenths of 1 per cent in both June and July, an annual inflation rate of 6 per cent.

In general, price increases have been running less than a year ago and have been one of the few positive developments in the economy during the summer months. Unemployment, which had been on the decline earlier this year, climbed to 7.9 per cent last month, its highest level of the year, while other elements of the economic recovery slowed.

Ford's chief economic adviser, Alan Greenspan, labeled the slowing only a "pause" in the recovery and said it would be temporary. He said there was no reason to alter the administration's forecast of a strong recovery into 1977, with "only a moderate inflation rate."

The Democrats have made the economy the centerpiece of the presidential election campaign, charging that the Ford administration has over-emphasized the struggle against inflation at the expense of the unemployed.

While the current inflation rate is a better performance than the 9 per cent rate a year ago, it is still quite high by historical standards. Through much of the post-World War II period, price increases averaged about 2 per cent a year.

Wholesale prices, which are eventually reflected at the retail level, declined one-tenth of 1 per cent in August. This was due largely to a 2.9 per cent drop in farm prices, which have been a major factor in slowing over-all inflation in the economy this year.

UNITED NATIONS Problems Awaiting General Assembly

By SAMUEL KOO
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly opens its 31st annual session today with the racial confrontation in southern Africa and the perennial Arab-Israeli standoff among its most pressing issues.

Also on the agenda are the questions of curbing political terrorism, bridging the gap between rich and poor nations and the election of the U.N. secretary-general.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, who is expected to be reelected to a second five-year term, urged on Monday that the Assembly tackle the issues before it head-on and help guide "potentially divisive forces of change into constructive channels of cooperation."

However, many diplomats predicted that the Assembly would mark time until after the U.S. presidential election on Nov. 2.

The Assembly's first business this afternoon was the election of its new president, Ambassador Shirley Amerasinghe of Sri Lanka, who succeeds Prime Minister Gaston Thorn of Luxembourg.

The Assembly also was to admit its 145th member, Seychelles, in the Indian Ocean. These are the main issues before the three-month session: Southern Africa;

The majority coalition of Third World and Communist nations is expected to call for stringent measures, including mandatory economic sanctions, against South Africa's white supremacy policy at home, its delay in giving independence and black-majority rule to South-West Africa, or Namibia, and its support of the white minority regime in Rhodesia.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's peace efforts in southern Africa will be examined closely in the Assembly and in the Security Council, which has scheduled debate on Namibia next week.

South Africa is likely to boycott the Assembly session.

Partying, Paperwork Rapped By Waldheim

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim has let loose criticism at some of the United Nations' most cherished habits — partying, paperwork and procrastination.

Speaking at a luncheon Monday, on the eve of the start of the annual U.N. General Assembly, Waldheim said: "When I look at my official program of social events, luncheons, receptions and dinners for the coming weeks, I am filled with a mixture of despair and incredulity, not least because I myself have made my own contribution to the list of events."

Riegle, Esch Downplay Check

DETROIT (AP) — Marvin Esch, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, avoided mentioning the question of how his Democratic opponent, Donald Riegle, handled a 1971 income tax rebate check to Riegle and his estranged wife.

Neither candidate mentioned the tax matter in a joint appearance Monday night before the Economic Club of Detroit. Both candidates tried to play down the controversy when questions arose at a news conference preceding the economic club appearance. Asked whether he thought Riegle handled the tax matter improperly, Esch said, "I'm not in any way going to raise the question in the campaign and I'm not going to comment on the question of whether Mr. Riegle did or did not forge a check."

Riegle says he signed his wife's name to the $4,525 check, but initiated it to indicate what he had done. The Democratic congressman from Flint said he did nothing dishonest and said Monday night he does not think the issue will "have a measurable bearing on the campaign."

At the news conference, Riegle criticized the Detroit News, which said in a copyrighted story Sunday that Riegle signed his estranged wife's name to the tax rebate check and pocketed the entire rebate without her knowledge. Riegle later settled with her for $2,000 when she learned of the rebate through an accountant who was assisting her in preparing her income tax returns the next year, the News said.

Riegle said the News presented the story "in a way to try to be as damaging as possible."

In his speech to the club, Esch invited the audience "to do a little comparison shopping between Marvin Esch and Don Riegle" and cited a number of congressional votes in which he said they went different ways. Esch mentioned his opposition to busing of children to achieve racial integration and he said Riegle "voted the pro-busing position no less than 18 times in Congress."

I have had breast cancer and a mastectomy to cure it. But it didn't change my life—or my femininity. Of course, right after surgery, I was discouraged. But then I received a visit from an American Cancer Society volunteer. She gave me a ball and a rope. And she showed me how to use them to strengthen my arm. She gave me information about breast forms and how to fit my clothes. Then she told me that she, too, had had a mastectomy. That's when she gave me faith. I knew then, if other women could do it, so could I. And I did.

Baroda Receives Fire Truck Bids

BARODA — Baroda township board last night referred to its fire truck committee three bids on a new fire truck chassis.

The bids, opened last night, were $12,620, from Zerbel G.M.C. Truck, Inc., Benton Harbor, and $13,352 from Gersonde Equipment Co., Benton Harbor and $13,595, West Motors, Niles both International Harvester dealers.

The board voted to hold a special meeting to act on the bids as soon as the committee reviews them and makes a recommendation.

In other business, the board voted to purchase 1,200 feet of two and one-half inch hose for the new fire truck. Approval was given to purchase 300 feet of hose for the old truck at $1.95 per foot and Fire Chief Leonard Tollas stated he would try to obtain the same price on the 1,200 feet.

The board voted to replace the six-inch flashing light on Cleveland avenue and Shawnee road with a 12-inch lens, if the Berrien county road commission agrees to pay half the cost of installation and material. Supervisor Orland Mead said the approximate cost for the light would be $500. It was recommended by the commission that the light be replaced.

Trustee John Shafer reported the planning commission will hold a special combined meeting with the board on Monday, Oct. 4 at 7:30 p.m. He said representatives from the Berrien county planning commission and health department will be present to review the township's topical maps. The study will be necessary before the board makes its proposed zoning changes, Shafer said.

It was stated in a planning commission report Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Palmer, Shawnee Mobile Home Park, were denied permission to park their mobile home on property they own on Snow road for one year while they build their home. The township zoning ordinance permits mobile homes to be parked only in established parks.

A lot split was approved, transferring the ownership of a 111 by 290 foot section of land from Mr. and Mrs. Jack Starbuck to Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Starbuck, both of Cleveland avenue.

It was reported the Baroda American Legion post will purchase approximately $500 of playground equipment for the township park.

Seven building permits, totaling $126,500 in estimated building cost, were issued during August, it was reported.

The board appropriated $100 to the Concerned Parents of Baroda for the purpose of sponsoring a Halloween party on Oct. 30 in the Baroda elementary school. The party will be open for all township and village residents and no trick or treating will be allowed on Halloween.

A man who fought to reduce the cost of the new St. Joseph township hall resigned from the township hall building committee last night saying he has achieved his goal.

In his letter of resignation, accepted by St. Joseph township trustees, Frank Yurcus wrote: "My goal on the building committee also has been achieved, which was to build a township hall that was practical and economically feasible. The savings on the present plan of $200,000 is rewarding."

Yurcus, 37, of 702 Lonesome Pine trail, also resigned as chairman of the township park board, stating that considering his 13-year tenure "it's time for new ideas from new members."

In his place, trustees appointed Ronald A. Griffin, 38, of 3306 Washington avenue.

Yurcus, who did not attend last night's meeting, said during an interview that his main accomplishment on the building committee was slashing almost $200,000 from the cost of the proposed hall.

As a member of the committee he said he fought against a hall that would have cost from $400,000 to $490,000 and which he called last night "a castle."

Last Monday trustees accepted bids on the hall recommended by the building committee. The bids totaled $276,900.

One of about a dozen citizens on the building committee, Yurcus said last night that "I was the only one who disagreed with the original plan all the time." Apparently the majority on the committee were influenced by his questioning, he added.

The committee's revised plan eliminated a full basement, reduced the size of the parking lot and square footage of the hall and reduced the seating capacity of a meeting room from 200 to 60 persons, said Yurcus.

Yurcus said that he has no ill feelings or anger toward the trustees, and trustees accepted the dual resignations with "thanks."

Also last night Township Supervisor Orval L. Benson said that the starting date for construction of the hall will be put off for a few days. Before signing contracts the township will check to see if the Michigan Gas Utilities Co. will take the township hall as a customer, said Benson.

As now planned, the hall will be heated and cooled with electricity, but at an earlier meeting Trustee Robert H. DeVries suggested that natural gas heating and cooling might be less expensive.

Benson said that although he'd earlier learned that the gas company wasn't taking any new customers, he decided to investigate the possibility again before signing the electrical contract.

If gas can be had, said Benson, it will be known within a few days. Minor changes in contracts will be needed. The construction is set to begin within 15 days of the signing of contracts, he added.

CLAIMS $200,000 SAVED

Yurcus Quits Twp. Hall Panel

Also at the meeting trustees voted to authorize lot splits for property owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell, of Miami road; and American Homestead Corp., a Kalamazoo firm that plans to build an apartment complex at 3385 Lake Shore drive on the Shoreham village boundary.

American Homestead requested the lot split so it can grant an easement between the property of the original landowner and Red Arrow highway, said Benson.

It was also announced that millage levied by the three school districts that cover various parts of the township will increase from 1.2 to 2.2 mills over 1975. Also in their Dec. 1 tax bills, township residents will be taxed an additional 5.75 mills for township services, said Benson.

Total levies, including school, county, township and other taxes will be 50.69 mills in the St. Joseph school district portion of the township; 45.4456 mills in the Benton Harbor school district portion, 44.35 mills in the Lakeshore school district portion. It also was noted by Benson that in their Dec. 1 tax bills township residents will be charged 5.75 mills for township services. This includes an extra 1.25 mills approved last spring for police operations.

Almost All 'Pink-Slippers' Recalled By BH Schools

The Benton Harbor board of education was informed last night that all but one of the 25 probationary teachers who were "pink slipped" last spring because of financial uncertainties have been recalled to the classrooms.

The board at its regular meeting also heard optimistic reports on the opening of school, and ratified union contracts with district security guards and head custodians totaling 23 employees.

Warren C. Andrews, group director for personnel and labor relations, told the board a clearer state aid picture allowed the recall of all but one of the "pink slipped" teachers.

He also noted that 34 other new teachers have recently been hired to replace others who left through resignations, retirements or leaves of absence.

Optimistic reports on the opening of the new school year were from Dean Sanders, deputy superintendent for instruction, and from Andrews.

Sanders said the high school this month got off to one of the finest starts in several years. New to the district, Sanders said he has been told the pep rally before last Friday's Tiger victory over Kalamazoo Central was one of the best ever held at the school. He reported a "renewed spirit of competition, enthusiasm and pride."

Sanders said all school buildings were clean and middle level administrators were well versed in all areas. He said they participated in a two-week in-service training program in August.

Andrews reported security guards at senior high school are starting at $3.05 per hour and move to $3.80 per hour after a six-month probationary period under the contract ratified last night. They were paid $3.50 per hour last year. Hall monitors at the three junior high schools now start at $2.77 per hour, move to $3.09 per hour after one year and $3.36 per hour after two years. They received $2.55 last year.

Andrews said there are 13 security guards at senior high and a total of six hall monitors. They are represented by Local 953, International Union of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. Andrews said the guards voted on union membership last spring and approved a two-year contract Sept. 7.

Andrews said the four head custodians now are on salary at $11,700 per year. This was reported to be 6 to 7 per cent more than they averaged under an hourly pay rate last year. The head custodians on Sept. 2 approved a three-year contract. They are represented by Local 55 of the same union. The head custodians supervise 69 custodians who earlier became unionized.

The board in other areas:

—Scheduled a public hearing on the proposed 1976-77 general fund operating budget for 6:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 18, in the student commons area of the high school.

—Approved federal Elementary Secondary Education Act Title I budgets totaling $1,119,054; and a federal grant award of $14,636 for the Indian education program.

—Voted to apply for a $2 million loan against anticipated 1976-77 state aid. Non-callable notes would be dated Nov. 1, 1976 and mature June 30, 1977, with an option to pay them off sooner.

—Accepted a low interest rate quotation of 4.6 per cent from Farmers and Merchants National bank, Benton Harbor, for financing one new 36-passenger school bus over a five-year period in the amount of $15,405. The bus is to be delivered this month.

—Approved the hiring of Glenn Mordine as supervisor of special education, and Mrs. Jeanne Yingst as Columbus elementary school principal. Details were reported by this newspaper on Sept. 8.

Announced were the retirements of teachers Exa Anderson, Johnson school, and Lucille Ray, Seely McCord.

Decorating Trends

BY MIKE IANNELLI

LAMPS ARE OFTEN AFTER-THOUGHTS...and they should never be. Good lighting in your home calls on your lamps to work as hard as anything else — harder than most!

Lamps or fixtures must provide overall light. They must also create specialized area lighting, for reading, sewing, dining and other activities. After all this, lamps should be decorative in themselves, and they should complement your furnishings, create an inviting atmosphere, throw light on a fine painting, brighten a dark corner.

So give serious first thoughts to your lighting needs. Preference in lamps today is on the tall side, partly because overall lighting from overhead fixtures is less common in newer homes. Tall lamps do a better job of creating both overall general light and specific area illumination.

If lamps sometimes seem expensive, remember that the right lamp can transform an otherwise ordinary setting, and can set the mood, formal or casual, for an entire room. And a good lamp style will always be in style.

You'll find a beautiful choice of lamps, from elegant to informal, in our display, including the popular hanging chain lamps. You're always welcome to come in and browse...anytime!

Pet Pig Soured By Jury Verdict

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer

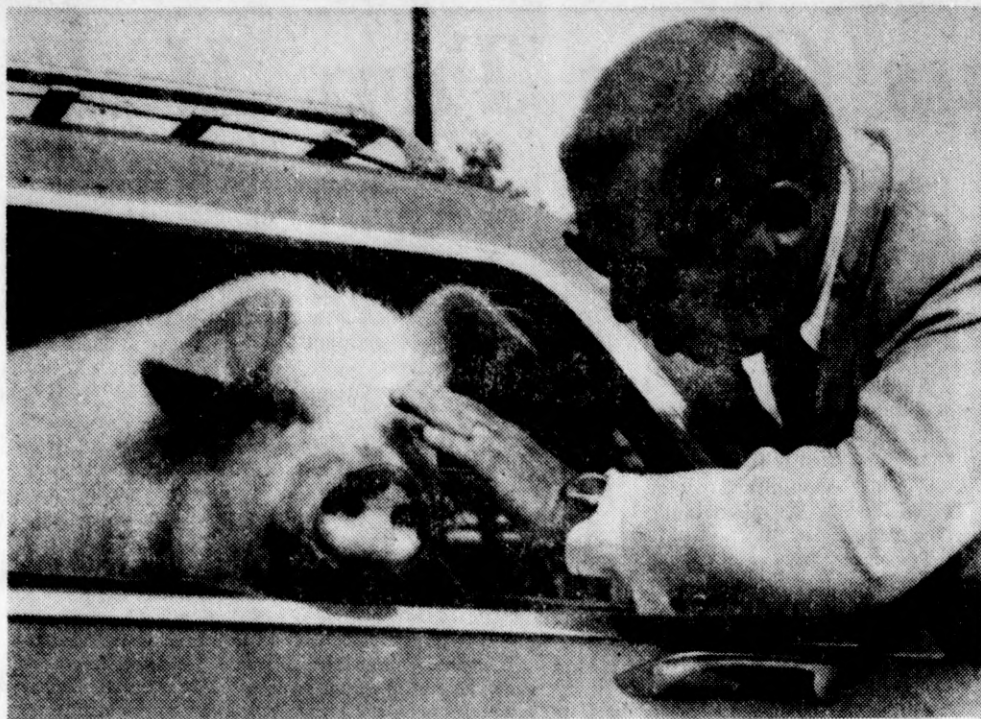

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — The Circuit Court jury turned sour on "Sweet Lips," a 240-pound pet pig. His master was fined $10 for keeping a farm animal in a resort-commercial area.

"Sweet Lips," told of the verdict Monday by owner Drewry Little, smacked his jowls and grunted.

"He doesn't agree with the jury," Little said. "And I don't, either. Anybody can see he's harmless and doesn't bother anyone."

But the loss of this court fight over the pig that Little nursed from infancy doesn't mean the battle has ended. The judge agreed to hear arguments Friday on a defense motion to set aside the verdict.

"If that fails, then we'll go right on up to the Supreme Court in Richmond," the 55-year-old Little said. "I want justice, and justice means I can keep this pig as a pet like other people in my area keep dogs and cats."

Little once kept the pig inside his home, located about 60 feet from the restaurant and marina he operates. He said "Sweet Lips" gets the same treatment as other household pets — regular baths, a sprinkling of cologne and lots of love.

Monday's trial was an appeal of a lower court conviction which resulted in a $25 fine in June.

"I walk him a half mile every evening. He's clean and quiet. Pigs are smarter than most dogs or horses," Little told the three-women, two-men jury. "I've gotten so attached to this pig, I love him dearly, and nobody is going to kill him."

The jury returned its verdict after 48 minutes of deliberation.

Meanwhile, "Sweet Lips" may be headed for a meat-packing company, but not the dinner table.

"I've got an offer from a well-known company, but I won't give the name. They've promised he will get the very best care and will be used only for show," Little said.

He said the company had offered him "several thousand dollars" and that any money he received would be donated to the local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Bubble Boy Will Get 'Space Suit'

HOUSTON (AP) — David, the boy in the germ-free plastic bubble who has never been touched by ungloved human hands, celebrates his fifth birthday today waiting for his most important gift — a "space suit" that will allow him to explore the world outside.

David was born without natural body defenses against disease. He suffers from severe combined immune deficiency (SCID), an inherited disorder that strikes about one in every 10,000 males. Doctors said the simplest of germs which unaffected most persons could kill him.

David — a dark-haired, brown-eyed youngster — was placed in the germ-free environment seconds after birth, and his last name has been kept secret by his parents and hospital officials.

Normal in other respects, David runs around inside his nineby-seven-foot bubble and plays with a ball and several plastic toys. Doctors say he displays considerable curiosity about the world outside.

The space suit that will permit him to satisfy some of this curiosity should be ready in December. Officials at the Johnson Space Center and Texas Children's Hospital said Monday the legal documents authorizing David's space suit have been signed, ending more than two years of negotiations that began after space officials were asked to study the possibility of adapting space technology and hardware to extend the boy's environment.

"We are now in the process of fabricating the suit," said Gary Primeaux, a space scientist in charge of that project.

He said the suit, called Mobile Biological Isolation System, consists of a rubberized garment with a soft transparent plastic helmet. It is connected by a 10-foot-long air hose to a transporter-ventilator mounted on a pushcart.

The system provides a mobile, sterile environment that will allow David to make excursions of at least four hours outside his bubble.

He now divides his time between the plastic-walled bubble at the hospital and an identical germ-free bubble at home, traveling between the two in a specially equipped van.

David's medical care is paid by a federal grant to Baylor College of Medicine's Research Center at Texas Children's Hospital.

Outbreak Of Fire Encircled

SENEY, Mich. (AP) — Firefighters have managed to encircle the northern end of the stubborn Upper Peninsula forest fire that jumped out of control again a week ago.

Firefighters said Monday they have established a fire line and that humid weather has given them an edge over the blaze that has blackened about 70,000 acres since it began in late July.

The fire was brought under control earlier this month, but flared up again because of high winds and dry weather Sept. 13. The flames jumped north across Michigan 28 to a new area of forest.

The line completed Monday is only a few feet wide in places, but Whitney Lerer, a U.S. Forest Service spokesman, said workers would take advantage of continuing humid weather to widen the line.

"Our objective will be to keep hot spots, as they develop, as cool as possible," said Lerer. "We want to prevent the same situation that occurred a week ago."

OPERA TIME

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — The Lake George Opera Festival will run from mid-July to mid-August. Operas to be performed include "Manon" and "Cosi Fan Tutte."

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state lawmaker has proposed a new way to sentence criminals in Michigan, prescribing penalties for given crimes but giving judges power to alter sentences in special cases.

The approach would be a middle ground between the current indeterminate sentences — such as five to 15 years — and rigid mandatory sentences being advocated to crack down on crime.

The legislation will be introduced soon by Rep. Anthony Derezinski, D-Muskegon, although the legislature has only a few weeks to work on it before it dies at the end of the year.

Under the "presumptive sentencing" approach, certain penalties are set for serious crimes. Judges would have the discretion to alter the penalties only under specified circumstances.

"Repeat offenders would receive increasingly longer terms for subsequent offenses," Derezinski noted.

The sentences set forth in the legislation would be imposed on a first-time offender who committed a crime in a typical fashion, Derezinski said. The judge could reduce the sentence or increase it, depending on the circumstances surrounding the crime.

The range of sentences for a crime, for example, could be three to 12 years, with five years the "presumptive sentence." If there were mitigating circumstances, the penalty could be reduced to three years; if there were aggravating circumstances, the judge could increase it as high as 12 years.

The bill would also contain stepped-up penalties for repeat offenders, Derezinski said.

"It is apparent that our current system of indeterminate sentencing is lacking in any well-defined standards or guidelines and the result is arbitrary disparities," Derezinski said. "...we must turn to the presumptive sentencing concept for our solution to fair and certain punishment."

All Networks Will Carry Thursday Night's Debate

By DAVE RILEY
Associated Press Writer

The debates between Jimmy Carter and President Ford are going to have very little trouble in the ratings because all four national television networks are going to carry the faceoff between the two candidates.

The NBC and CBS networks still express reservations about some of the ground rules for the debates, but they said Monday they will broadcast the faceoff between the two presidential candidates.

That assures the candidates of having exposure on all four national networks when the debates begin Thursday night in Philadelphia.

Earlier, officials from ABC and the Public Broadcasting Service had said they would broadcast the meetings between Ford and Carter, although ABC said it, too, had reservations about some rules laid down by the League of Women Voters, which is sponsoring the debates.

The networks balked at rules barring television cameras from cutting away from the candidates to show the audience during the debate, and network executives also protested the decision of the league to permit Ford and Carter to participate in the selection of journalists who will do the questioning.

Carter, after a whistlestop train tour of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, was home in Plains, Ga., today, preparing for the opening debate. His running mate, Sen. Walter Mondale, was to take over the Democratic campaign train, traveling through Ohio and Indiana to Chicago.

Ford was also boning up for the debates, staying at the White House where he was meeting visiting Liberian President William R. Tolbert Jr. His running mate, Sen. Bob Dole, was to undergo a medical examination before flying to Ohio for an address tonight to the state Republican convention.

As Carter was campaigning by rail and talking to crowds along the way about the nation's unemployment problems, Ford voiced criticism of Carter's tax reform proposals and said he thinks middle-income Americans should have their taxes lowered.

"Our middle-income taxpayers have been shortchanged over the last 10 years. I believe that group ought to get additional tax relief," Ford said in a talk to farm editors in the White House Rose Garden.

Ford didn't mention Carter, who outlined his tax revision plans in an Associated Press interview released Saturday.

But he said, "Those who advocate additional expenditures have now suggested that in order to pay for those new programs and added expenditures, there should be an additional tax levy on middle-income people, which is 50 percent of the families in the United States. We cannot add to the expenditures of the federal government with a host of new problems unless you are willing to tighten your belts."

In the interview with The AP, Carter said he intends to "shift a substantial increase toward those who have the higher incomes," while reducing taxes on those in lower- and middle-income groups.

Carter also said in the interview that he would not plan to include an over-all increase or decrease in tax revenues. He previously said some of his planned programs would have to be delayed until funding for them becomes available.

DEBATE PANELISTS: Edwin Newman of NBC will serve as moderator of first of three debates between President Ford and Jimmy Carter, League of Women Voters announced Monday. The panel of questioners will be (from right) James P. Gannon of Wall Street Journal, Elizabeth Drew of New Yorker, and Frank Reynolds of ABC News. (AP Wirephoto)

School Changes Given Approval At New Buffalo

NEW BUFFALO— The New Buffalo school board Monday approved an earlier decision of Supt. Walter Schwarz to move sixth grade classes from the middle school into the elementary school on Detroit street.

The board's action changes the three grade middle school into a two grade junior high with seventh and eighth graders.

The board also ratified Schwarz's decision to combine the administration of the junior and senior high schools under Ronald Morrison, senior high principal.

reassigned to a sixth grade teaching position. The board approved his request.

Thomas J. Miller was appointed as the assistant junior-senior high principal and varsity basketball coach. He was given a year's contract for a salary of $16,000.

Miller came to New Buffalo from Grand Rapids Catholic Central high school where he was guidance director and head varsity basketball coach for the past three years. He was also a teacher and head varsity basketball coach in St. Phillip's high, Battle Creek.

In other areas, the board scheduled a public hearing for the 1976-77 school year budget for Oct. 18.

Schwarz said the board has not yet formulated a proposed budget to be discussed with the public because of a decision to wait for the results of an Aug. 30 special election on a 16.612 mill property tax levy for a three-year period. District voters approved the levy by a 763 to 563 count.

The budget hearing will be at 7:30 p.m. in the high school's home economics room and will precede the regular monthly business session.

In a related action, the board approved the allocation of 1.988 mills of the 16.612 mill tax levy for improvement and remodeling of school buildings.

Schwarz was also authorized to obtain specifications for bids on the repair of the junior-senior high roof, coping, and brick exterior and for window replacements for the junior high section of the school.

A lease-purchase agreement with the New Buffalo city council allowing two tennis courts to be constructed on school property was also approved. Schwarz said the agreement allows the city to construct the two courts next to two others behind the junior-senior high gym. The city will purchase the needed land for $1 and lease the courts back to the school district.

HATE MAIL: Martha Mitchell, seen as she appeared one month before her death of bone marrow cancer at New York's Hospital for Special Surgery, revealed in a story in current Ladies' Home Journal that she received some "hate mail" at the hospital. This study was made by a young seminarian, J.W. Martin Cnty, III, who befriended her. (AP Wirephoto) for an annual fee of $1, Schwarz added.

The board also voted to transfer $8,212 from the general fund account into the athletic and activities account to erase a deficit. Schwarz said the athletic accounts have had deficits since 1973 when new federal regulations required public schools to start and operate girls athletic programs.

Schwarz also reported he has moved his office to the junior high section of the junior-senior high, leaving the former district administrative office next to the school vacant. The board was asked to make a decision on the former administrative office's use.

South Haven Council Will Weigh Cable TV Franchise Question

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — An ordinance establishing a franchise between the city of South Haven and the company which provides cable television service in the city was submitted to the city council last night.

The proposed ordinance received mixed reactions from the city fathers who have weighed the merits of a franchise on numerous occasions since cable television was brought into South Haven eight years ago.

The idea for a franchise this time was initiated by the system's owner, Liberty Cable TV, Inc. Company spokesman Michael Ridder said the franchise was being sought to comply with a FCC deadline of March 1, 1977 which requires such an agreement. Ridder said the franchise would also strengthen the company's position in borrowing money for long-term capital improvements.

Two years ago the council on the grounds that the city would be put in the middle of any customer complaints over quality of service.

The proposed franchise, if approved, includes a provision for increasing the basic monthly fee by 50 cents, to $7 per month.

In return, the company promises to undertake several improvement projects on the system at an estimated cost of $40,000.

The council set Nov. 1 for a public hearing to consider the franchise. A copy of the document is available for inspection at the city clerk's office.

In other matters, the council again introduced a proposed zoning ordinance. The ordinance had been brought to the council in June, but it was returned to the planning commission after some aldermen complained that the planners had not been sensitive enough to the desires of some individual property owners. The planning commission subsequently made some alterations to the ordinance.

The city council was presented a list by the planning commission of suggested projects that might qualify for funding through the federal government's new public works act.

Among projects given a priority are a central business district improvement program, water front improvements and demolition of the old power plant, construction of an addition to the police and fire stations, rebuilding Indiana avenue, and the construction of rest rooms at the parks and beaches.

Other projects listed by the planners are airport expansion, construction of water and sewer lines on the city's northeast side, development of sanitary landfill, expansion of the sewage treatment plant, street paving, street lighting, construction of a civic center and expansion of the electric distribution system.

Mayor Richard Lewis noted that the city has approximately 60 days to file an application and that projects must cost between $100,000 and $500,000.

He said the city must have funded projects underway within 90 days of receiving authorization.

Lewis indicated that city officials appear to be giving priority to the Indiana avenue rebuilding project and the need for water and sewer lines on the city's northeast side.

The council awarded a $305 per month radio maintenance contract to Winkel's Communication of South Haven. The bid was the second highest of three submitted. The lowest proposal was $263 per month and was submitted by Monroe Electronics of Benton Harbor. High bid was by Reed Commercial Electronics, Benton Harbor, for $309.

Winkel was selected on the grounds that the other bidders were from out-of-town and a report that previous service from the low bidder had not been satisfactory. City Manager Howard McDougall said.

The council appointed Miss Elizabeth Musser to a vacancy on the Liberty Hyde Bailey museum board.

The new classroom and administrative organization became effective when schools opened Sept. 8. Schwarz said he was given tentative approval to make the classroom and administrative changes in a board executive session Sept. 2.

He said the housing of sixth graders in the elementary school was made possible by a decrease in enrollment of 100 students there between September 1975 and the start of school this year. The shift back to the elementary school also allowed the district to eliminate use of four portable classrooms which have housed classes for the past 12 years, the superintendent added.

Schwarz said Philip Jordan, middle school principal, was offered the new job as assistant principal under Morrison in the junior-senior high.

Jordan, however, did not accept the offer and asked to be

Dowagiac Faculty Hike Totals 9.71%

DOWAGIAC — The Dowagiac school board last night approved pay hikes and increased health insurance benefits for teachers totaling 9.71 per cent over last year.

Supt. Lionel Stacey said the pay hikes alone came to 8.28 per cent while the increased health insurance benefits made up the balance of the increase.

He said the total package will add about $201,000 to the district's expenditures for salaries this year.

District Business Manager Don Weiland said the 8.28 per cent pay hike includes the amount teachers would have received from standard step increases based on experience under the previous salary schedule. He said health insurance gains are an additional benefit.

Weiland said teachers received a salary increase in September, 1975, and are on the second year of a two-year contract, which provided only for a salary adjustment review this year. While health insurance benefits were not formally included for review, they entered the talks indirectly and were included, Weiland said.

The new package was recommended by a state mediator who had been called into the salary negotiations last month. The new salary schedule for a teacher with a bachelor's degree calls for annual salaries ranging from $9,250 to $11,100 depending on experience.

The added money for experience is based on a six-step schedule with each step equaling an added year of experience.

Last year, the salaries ranged from $8,700 to start to $10,100 on a five-step schedule for bachelor degree teachers.

Teachers with a master's degree this year will receive salaries ranging from $9,950 to $15,124 in 14 steps. Last year, the salaries ranged from $9,400 to $14,288 in 14 steps.

This year's agreement contains a separate salary schedule for teachers with bachelor's degrees working toward advanced degrees. That schedule calls for salaries ranging from $9,350 to $13,838 in 13 steps.

In other areas last night, the board heard the middle school director report that the first two weeks of school at Patrick Hamilton had gone well.

The school houses all 5th and 6th graders in the district this year. The director, Brian Opra, told board members the 5th graders had quickly adjusted to their new surroundings with no major problems.

Weiland told board members the construction of eight additional classrooms at the high school was coming along ahead of schedule.

School officials said the 26 windows smashed out by vandals Sept. 5 at Kincheol elementary school cost $990 to replace. The glass was provided at cost by Behnke's Paint & Floor Covering store, Dowagiac, officials said.

Police had estimated the damage at $3,000. Two men have been arrested in connection with the vandalism.

The board accepted a $301 donation from the Lincoln elementary school PTO to be used in the library at the school. The presentation was made by Mrs. Beverly Guntle, past president of the PTO.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday in Kerley and Starks funeral home, St. Joseph, where friends may call after 7 p.m. Wednesday. Burial will be in North Shore Memory Gardens.

Memorials may be made to the respiratory unit of Berrien General Hospital, or to St. Peter's United Church of Christ.

Irvin Ayers

Irvin Wakefield Ayers, 70, Harbor Towers, Benton Harbor, died at 5:30 p.m. Sunday in Mercy Hospital.

He was born Feb. 19, 1906, in Statesville, N.C.

Surviving are a son; a daughter and three sisters.

Graveside rites will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday in Spring Run cemetery, Scottsdale.

Friends may call at Kerley and Starks funeral home, St. Joseph, Wednesday evening from 7 until 9.

Elmer Griffin

CASSOPOLIS — Elmer S. Griffin, 84, 2417 Fairfield avenue, Kalamazoo, formerly of Cassopolis, died at 6:35 p.m. Sunday in Borgess Hospital, Kalamazoo, where he had been hospitalized six weeks.

He was born May 3, 1892, in Cass county and for many years was estate maintenance man for the A. & M. Todd family of Kalamazoo. Mr. Griffin moved to Kalamazoo, from Cassopolis, in 1922.

Surviving is his widow, the former Pearl Ash.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday in the Connelly funeral home, Cassopolis, where friends may call after 4 p.m. today. A wake will be held from 7 until 8 p.m. Wednesday. Burial will be in the Community Chapel cemetery, Calvin township.

E. Vandervoort

CASSOPOLIS — Mrs. Edith T. Vandervoort, 87, route 1, Marcellus, died at 11 p.m. Monday in Lakeview Community hospital, Paw Paw.

Her husband, the late Dr. Charles Vandervoort, preceded her in death in 1963.

Funeral services are tentatively set for Thursday at 3 p.m. in the Connelly funeral home, Cassopolis.

Mrs. W. Thaldorf

THREE OAKS — Mrs. William (Lena Dreibeis) Thaldorf, 82, East Oregon, Phoenix, Ariz., a former Three Oaks resident, died Friday, Sept. 17, in a Phoenix hospital, where she had been a patient for three weeks.

Services and burial took place in Phoenix.

Mrs. Thaldorf was born in Three Oaks on April 26, 1894 and was graduated from Three Oaks high school in 1913.

Surviving besides her husband is a son, Jack of Phoenix. A son, Leader Ray, lost his life in World War II.

Theo Painter

GALIEN — Theo (Ted) H. Painter, 59, 2308 Monroe street, LaPorte, Ind., died at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the LaPorte hospital, following an illness of six years.

He was born Aug. 8, 1917, in Galien and resided in LaPorte since 1942, coming from New Troy, Mich. Painter was retired.

Surviving are his widow, the former Hazel Englis; his stepmother, Mrs. Florence Canfield, Tarpon Springs, Fla., and a sister, Mrs. Bernadine Metzger, Galien.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the Cutler funeral home, LaPorte. Burial will be in Weesaw cemetery, Glendora.

These Birds, Bees Strictly For Birds

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The birds and the bees are causing so much havoc this summer for some Southern Michigan homeowners that the U.S. Department of Agriculture has drawn up a research report on the problem.

Residents singled out by the birds and bees either live in wooded areas or have homes with stained plywood siding, officials say.

Woodpeckers munch on the siding and expose ragged patches of raw wood.

Meanwhile, bees drill quarter-size holes in the siding. One family reported to officials that they came home from vacation to find thousands of bees in their house.

Assigned to the problem were Louis F. Wilson, principal insect ecologist, North Central Forest Experiment Station of the U.S.D.A. in East Lansing; K.S.S. Sastry, entomologist for Eradico Exterminators Inc. of Ferndale, and Henry A. Huber, professor and extension specialist at Michigan State University.

According to the researchers, the culprit is the Megachile relativa Cresson, a leaf-eating bee that enjoys tiny holes in the cedar and redwood plywood siding as places to raise their families.

At the same time, woodpeckers see the bee larvae as a delicacy, and as they seek out the tasty treats, the tiny holes become large ones.

Homeowners can lick the problem by sealing or plugging exposed holes with a jelly-like petroleum distillate available at garden stores, the three researchers report.

Detroit Probe Hits High Police Officer

DETROIT (AP) — Federal agents raided the home of Detroit's No. 2 police official Monday seizing records and files in a narcotics probe that also named one other high-ranking police official.

Agents said the raid at the home of Executive Deputy Chief Frank Blount was one of several Monday on Detroit's East Side that included five other persons, one of them a police inspector.

The agents, accompanied by two deputy chiefs and Police Chief Philip Tannian, were armed with a search warrant which said the records being sought at Blount's home related to narcotics distribution.

The warrant listed "... a black attache case and mixing bowl and mixer as well as narcotics paraphernalia used for the manufacture, distribution and possession of unlawful narcotics ..." among items sought at the house Blount share's with his son, Michael.

The records seized at Blount's home show "the identities, sources of supply and methods of importation and supply locations for unlawful narcotics ..." said the search warrant.

Federal officials refused to comment on the raid except to say the matter was before a U.S. Grand Jury.

Sources said, however, that agents placed a listening device in a house trailer parked at a service station frequented by Blount and Inspector John A. Henry, acting commander of Detroit's 11th Precinct.

The listening device was installed at the station about 10 months ago, the source said.

Officials said Tannian had been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury at 10 a.m. today and to bring with him all records involving Inspector Henry.

Tannian also was directed by the grand jury to deliver any of Blount's records that relate to criminal investigations involving Henry and the five others.

"I've never engaged in any narcotics activity," the 51-year-old Blount said from his lawyer's downtown office after the raid.

The 27-year veteran — the highest ranking black officer in the department's history — had tears streaming down his face as he denied any wrongdoing. He said the files contained records of a training course he once attended at Harvard University.

"I have been an honest police officer for 27 years," Blount said. "I have every intention of fighting this and have every reason to believe my reputation will be upheld."

Blount said he welcomed the investigation. "My God, I'm glad it's out in the open," he said.

None of the others could be reached for comment.

Blount was a precinct inspector in 1974 when Mayor Coleman Young took office. He was an ardent supporter of Young during his campaign against former Police Commissioner John Nichols.

"I don't believe the charges," the mayor said late Monday. "I have a right to be upset."

Blount's son, Michael, also is a policeman and has been assigned to Young's bodyguard detail.

One month after Young — Detroit's first black mayor — took office, Blount was promoted to the rank of commander and six months later he was elevated to deputy chief.

Nine months later, the new post of executive deputy chief was created and Blount was personally tabbed by Young to fill the job as the No. 2 man in the department.

That move was criticized by department observers who pointed out that animosity between Tannian and Blount would never allow them to work together.

That prediction came true as the two men feuded constantly from the time Blount was named to the job.

The feud became part of a virtual war inside the police department — now bitterly divided and filled with rumors — even as it tried to combat a rampaging wave of street crime that drew national attention.

"It's been a continuing saga," Mayor Young said.

Blount referred to Tannian on Monday as "a vicious dummy" and said it was Tannian who was supplying federal agents with information about him.

There have been published reports that the mayor intended to fire Tannian and already had asked Blount to leave in hopes of restoring harmony to the department.

Young has refused to confirm the reports, saying he has not completed reorganization plans for the department.

Ambulance Subsidy Cut Is Considered

FENNVILLE — The Fennville city commission Monday night agreed to consider reducing quarterly payments to the Fennville area ambulance service.

City Clerk Janet Morse said representatives of four townships in the service area attended the commission meeting to support the payment reduction. The four townships in the service area are Clyde, Lee, Ganges and Manlius. The four plus the city would pay less under the reduction plan. The five operate the service jointly.

Mrs. Morse said the township representatives asked for the reduction because of the recent purchase of a new ambulance with surplus funds. The ambulance was purchased for $23,911 from the Horton Company, Columbus, Ohio.

The city and all townships, except Manlius share ambulance service costs equally. Manlius township's payment is half that of the other four governmental units because only half the township is in the service area, Mrs. Morse said.

The payment reduction would take effect after June 30, 1977 if approved, Mrs. Morse added.

In other areas, the council instructed Mrs. Morse to arrange interviews with candidates for her successor as city clerk.

Mrs. Morse has previously announced her resignation which takes effect Oct. 1. She is moving with her family to Battle Creek.

Mrs. Morse has been city clerk since Jan. 15, 1968.

St. Joe Class Size Report Due Oct. 4

The St. Joseph school district citizens' advisory committee last night named a committee to review and make recommendations on current methods of balancing classroom sizes.

Mrs. Joanne Averill, advisory committee chairman and member of the new committee, said recommendations would be presented to the board of education at its workshop session Monday, Oct. 4.

The committee is headed by John Howard and includes 10 other advisory council members. The committee review was requested by the board of education during its meeting Sept. 13, when the district came under fire from some citizens for its "last in - first out" formula for shifting students from one school to another for size balancing purposes.

Some 35 people attended the advisory council session at Jefferson school. Mrs. Averill said many were interested in a curriculum study report by Daly Macgrayne, district curriculum coordinator.

Other council committee chairmen named were, Chuck Worthington and Richard Schreiner, school population survey; Leo Montgomery, finance; and Bruce Ball, building and site.

The next advisory council meeting will be Monday, Oct. 18, at North Lincoln school.

Judge Doesn't Accept IUD Pain Claim

corn was whether Langston was denied a fair and impartial jury, and that from the evidence he could not find that the defendant's rights had been violated. He also warned that to meddle unnecessarily with the decision of a jury could undermine the jury system.

Turning to other contentions by Langston's defense attorney, Andrew Burch of Coloma, the judge said that there was no showing the word "nigger" was used in connection with Langston specifically. He noted that many of the witnesses were black.

An alleged statement by a juror that she should have admitted she was prejudiced, again, the judge said, was not tied in with a specific reference.

"Prejudiced against whom?" the judge questioned. "It could have been the court, the judge, the prosecutor... or anyone."

The affidavit also made reference to the fact that jurors had read newspaper accounts of the trial. Saying he had warned jurors not to do so about a dozen times, the judge stated, "There's been no showing that the jury used anything from these newspapers in reaching a verdict."

Burch had also claimed that the jury disregarded its instructions in two other areas. He said statements were made in the jury room to the effect that if Langston had been arrested he must be guilty, and that if he did not testify, it was also proof of his guilt.

Judge Warshawsky said the mere fact that these statements were made were not by themselves proof of how the jury reached its decision.

Langston was convicted in connection with the shooting death of Mrs. Arretta Lou Ingraham, wife of South Haven city councilman Wilbur Ingraham, last Dec. 1. She was killed during a robbery of the couple's grocery store.

Ronald Wilson, 27, Gary, Ind., who the prosecution alleged did the actual shooting, was convicted of first degree murder in a separate trial in June. He was later sentenced to life imprisonment.

The prosecution charged during Langston's trial that he aided and abetted Wilson in the holdup. Under state law, a person participating in a felony resulting in murder is deemed to be as responsible as the person who commits the murder.

Judge Warshawsky yesterday did grant a motion by Burch to appoint an attorney for Langston at public expense for further appeal of the case.

Lottery Going To U.P.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Lottery roadshow moves to the Upper Peninsula Thursday night with eight contestants vying for the top $200,000 prize. The 7:15 p.m. show, which will be at the Sault Ste. Marie National Guard Armory, marks the halfway point in a series of six live "showmobile" appearances while the lottery revamps its television routine. The lottery returns to TV with a new game format and prize structure Oct. 21 over WWJ-TV in Detroit. In addition to the $200,000 prize, four contestants will win $10,000 each, and the other contestants each will pocket $25,000, $15,000 or $12,500. On Sept. 30, the lottery show moves to the State Line Supermarket at Niles. The market sold more tickets than any of the other 8,000 Michigan lottery agents in 1975-76 — some 5,000 fifty-cent tickets a week.

U-M Medical Center Cited

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Department of Labor has cited the University of Michigan medical center in Ann Arbor for 15 violations of the state's Occupational Safety and Health Act. State Labor Director Keith Molin said the violations are not considered serious, but were uncovered during an investigation following a complaint by a hospital employee. The university has until Oct. 22 to comply with the law on eight of the violations and until Nov. 22 on the other seven. The school could appeal the citations within 15 days. The university also was fined $84 for 10 of the violations, but was not fined for the other five. The violations included failure to provide required safety guards on equipment in various departments in the hospital, and failure to provide proper electrical equipment in the paint shop.

MEA Comments On Crestwood

DETROIT (AP) — Teachers who refused to end their strike in a 1974 walkout in the Crestwood school district should be reinstated with back pay, says the Michigan Education Association. The MEA today will ask Wayne County Circuit Judge Joseph Rashid to rule that the failure of the school board to give the teachers adequate hearings means they were illegally fired. The move is the latest in the long legal battle that began when the Crestwood school board in December 1974 fired 180 teachers who refused to end their strike in the Dearborn Heights district.

Drinking Age Hearing Due

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee has set a hearing here for Sept. 28 to discuss raising the state's drinking age from 18 to 19. The committee will consider a bill sponsored by Sen. James DeSana, D-Wyandotte. It is one of several measures which have been introduced in an attempt to raise the drinking age. Both supporters and opponents of the bill will testify. The committee hearing will be at 9:30 a.m. in the Law Building Auditorium.

Amway Corp. Fined $1,000

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A federal magistrate fined Amway Corp. $1,000 Monday after the firm pleaded no contest to 15 counts of allowing its drivers to work more than 60 hours per week. Magistrate Steven Karr actually fined the Ada firm $100 on each count but he suspended $500 of the fine. Seven other counts of violating the same Interstate Commerce Commission regulation were dropped, along with six of failing to review records of its drivers annually. Amway makes a variety of household products which its dealers sell door-to-door.

Odor Control Agreement

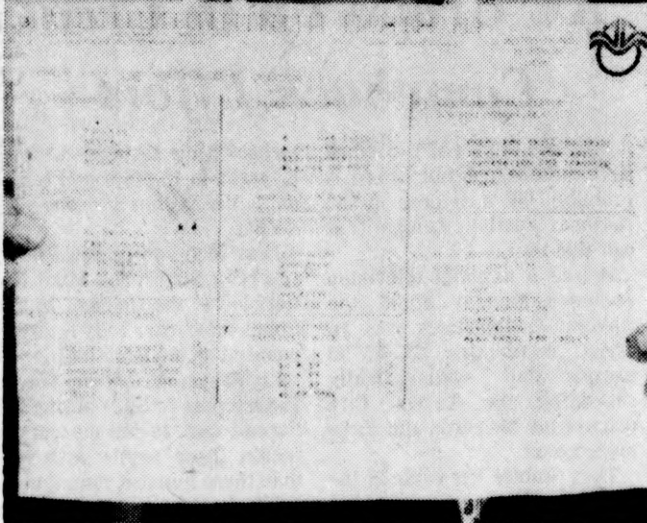

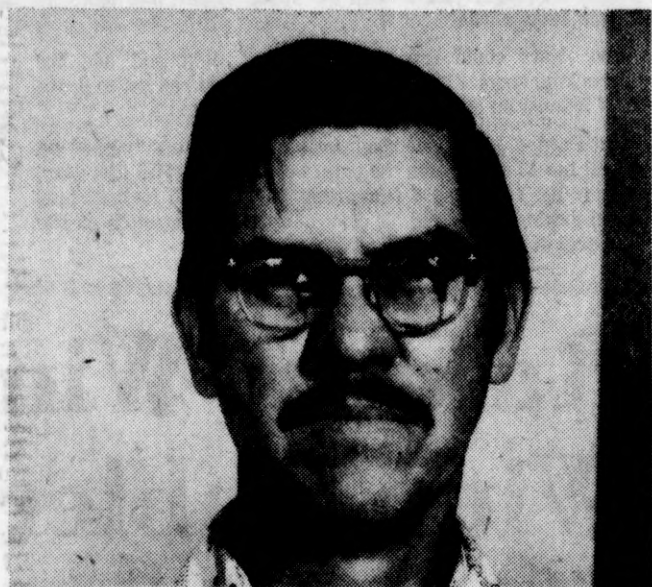

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Abitibi Corp. has agreed to a program to control odor at its Alpena hardwood plant, state officials announced. Abitibi has agreed to construct six new smokestacks designed to get rid of at least 90 per cent of the odor emissions from the plant, according to Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley. Following the construction of the stacks, an opinion survey will be taken in the Alpena area to determine if there is still an odor problem. If residents say there is, Abitibi will be required to construct additional stacks to exhaust 99 per cent of the odors.

Jury Deadlocks After Days

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) After nearly four days of deliberations, the jury in the Howard Hughes III murder trial told Washtenaw County Circuit Judge William F. Ager Monday they could not reach a verdict. Hughes was the last of three defendants to face felony murder charges in the 1975 slaying of Ypsilanti patrolman Douglas D. Downing. Judge Ager set Oct. 1 as the date for initial hearings for a new trial. Hughes was denied a bond reduction. Hughes was charged in the attempted robbery of the National Bank of Ypsilanti Park Street branch in which Downing became the first Ypsilanti officer killed in line of duty. Hughes is no relation to the late financier Howard Hughes, police said.

Just The Ticket

NEW YORK (AP) — When Gloria Burns finished paying off 300 parking tickets and came out of the Parking Violations Bureau, her car was being towed away for illegal parking. Enraged, the Brooklyn woman jumped into the driver's seat of her car and refused to budge. More police were called, and a crowd of spectators gathered. After a half hour, and despite her plea that one more ticket was just too much, she was persuaded to get out of the car and it was towed away. But not before police gave her two other summonses — one for failure to register her car and another for failure to have it insured.

Kennedy Won't Use Campaign Posters

LANSING — Bela Kennedy of Bangor, Republican party candidate for the 45th legislative district, has announced he will not use any signs and posters in his campaign. Kennedy said the use of signs would go against his anti-litter philosophy. The signs, he added, would "clutter up our landscape" and "deteriorate with the weather for weeks and months after the campaign." Kennedy said he would use the news media, personal contact and brochures in his election campaign.

Buchanan District Vote Due In 1977

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan school board voted last night to submit to voters next June a proposal to change the school district from a fourth class to a third class district.

The change would lift some of the administrative restrictions on the board, but would not give the board any powers it does not now have in money matters, according to Paul Montgomery, school business manager.

As an example, he said under a fourth class designation, only school board members can be bonded to handle district funds. Under a third class district, a hired employee can be bonded, he said.

He said a school district must have a population of at least 2,400 people between 5 and 20 (school age) before it can become a third class district.

It is a change that should have been made a number of years ago, he said.

In other business, the board approved a policy aimed at governing student fund-raising activities.

Under the policy proposed by Dr. Walter Vanderbush, high school principal, fund-raising events must be approved by the administration. The policy also discourages, but does not prohibit, door-to-door sales.

The board was told in a report from its auditors that the school district had a fund equity as of June 30 of $76,000, including $23,000 allocated for the lunch program and $11,000 earmarked for the athletic program.

Supt. Richard J. Dougherty said the school district has 124 teachers, a reduction of nine from last year, and that enrollment is expected to be up slightly over last school year's 2,423 students.

The board accepted bids of $2,350 on five new electric typewriters from the IBM Corp.; $2,269 on 12 manual typewriters, plus trade-ins, from Keith Welsh of the Stationery Center, Buchanan; and purchased sixth grade textbooks for $1,603.

Dowagiac Sets Up Project Priorities

DOWAGIAC — The city would expand the police department and build a $70,000 parks and recreation building if it gets federal funds for which it is planning to apply.

Those were the priority projects approved by the Dowagiac city council at its regular meeting last night as the basis for the grant request.

City Manager Henry Graper Jr. said the city can receive up to 100 per cent funding for the projects through the Local Public Works act of 1976. The federal program earmarks special construction grants for areas of high unemployment and low income levels.

In other action, the council adopted an ordinance approving the purchase of five acres of land, and a building on it, by the city's recently formed Economic Development Corporation (EDC). Ordinance approval came after a public hearing during which no objections to the project were heard.

The $190,000 project is part of a lease-purchase agreement EDC has made with Glencroft, Inc., a Texas firm that will be locating a plant in the building the EDC is erecting.

The firm will pay the EDC back over a period of 20 years through the lease-purchase agreement. The EDC was formed to lure new business to the city. The new plant will be located in the Big D industrial park.

The council set a public hearing for Nov. 1, at 7:45 p.m. in council chambers, on a plan to vacate an alley connecting Commercial and Division streets. Vacating about eight feet of the alley was requested by the Knights of Columbus, owners of adjacent property.

Mrs. Donna Schmidt, Meadowbrook subdivision, was appointed to the library board for a term to expire in May, 1977.

HE WOULDN'T REVEAL HIS INCOME

BH Man Denied Registration At LMC

BY STEVE MCQUOWN
Assistant State Editor

A Benton Harbor man has informed this newspaper he was prevented from registering for a night class at Lake Michigan college because he would not divulge certain personal information, including his yearly income. Rodney A. Brenner, 45, 1559 Hadley road, Benton Harbor said he was refused registration last week when he told registration officials he felt the questions were an invasion of his privacy and refused to answer them.

Dr. Walter F. Browe, college executive vice president, yesterday said the college was wrong to demand the information. He said the questionnaires will be reviewed and in the future, college employees and student applicants will know that the personal data is not required for registration. Dr. Browe said those registering for classes should have been told that answering questions on a research data form was not mandatory. He added that "No one should have been denied registration for not filling the form out."

Brenner will be given a second chance to register for night classes he wanted, Dr. Browe said.

Nearly 4,000 people registered this fall for classes at the two-year, community college, located in Benton township. Dr. Browe said the personal information the college is seeking from students is needed in the college's application for nearly $3 million in federal grants to improve studies and programs at the school. The personal questions were listed as part of an "Institutional Research Data" form printed on the back of traditional admissions information forms.

Brenner said he was trying to register for a night television repair or auto mechanics course. He said he was irked when he was told his family's income, housing and parents' education were required in order to be registered for classes. He said he was told by a female college employee that the personal data was mandatory and that he could not register if he did not answer them. Neither Brenner nor the college identified the employee.

There is nothing on the research data side of the form to indicate that answering the questions is voluntary.

Brenner said he considered the questions "...an invasion of my privacy." He said he would have been willing to fill out the form had he been able to remain anonymous.

The form included questions in addition to those on income, housing and parents' education on his future educational plans; his family income; what person was most influential in getting him to go to college; hours weekly he is employed; and two questions regarding his reasons for selecting Lake Michigan college.

The Benton Harbor man said he had no objection to the admissions form that asked questions about his race, marital status, and previous education. And now that he has apparently won his battle with the college over personal privacy, Brenner says he is not sure that he even wants to attend the college this semester.

Russell Hanson Fills Lakeshore Board Vacancy

BY LARRY MACINTYRE
Staff Writer

The Lakeshore school board last night appointed Russell D. Hanson to the board vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Mary Jane Waldenmaier.

Hanson, 42, is vice president for materials at Weldun International, Bridgman. He will serve until June, 1977, when the remaining year of Mrs. Waldenmaier's term will be up for election.

Hanson and his wife, Mary Lou, live at 5526 West Hiawatha lane, Lincoln township, and the couple has three children.

Before appointing Hanson, the board voted to formally accept Mrs. Waldenmaier's resignation.

Mrs. Waldenmaier, who was beginning her seventh year on the board, said in her resignation that her family is moving from the district.

In other areas, board members voted tentative approval to contract for a $10,750 study of future school district needs.

The study is to be performed by Dr. Carl Midjaas, a private consultant in Lansing. He holds a Ph.D. in education, according to Supt. Frederick Schmidt.

Schmidt said the agreement would not be signed until certain provisions of the proposed contract calling for possible extra charges were explained to the board's satisfaction.

If the agreement is signed, the study would be completed by March 14, 1977.

Schmidt said the study would cover the following areas:

— Enrollment and population projections for the next five and 10 year periods.

— A curriculum review related to the present and future facility needs.

— An engineering evaluation of each school district owned building.

— An outline of options available to accommodate growth and changes in the district.

Schmidt said Dr. Midjaas was chosen for the study over the University of Michigan's bureau of school services which had also proposed to perform the work.

Board members voted to hold a public hearing on the final 1976-77 school district budget at the next meeting Oct. 18. Because of the hearing, the meeting will begin at 7:30 rather than 8 p.m. Board members agreed to review the budget in a work session Oct. 11.

Board members voted to accept the final audit report for the 1975-76 school year which was prepared by Herkner, Smits, Miskill and Merrifield, CPA's, Benton Harbor.

John Steinke, board president, said the report showed all school district accounts to be in good shape.

The report showed total receipts in the general fund last year of $5,015,407 and total expenditures of $4,801,666. Schmidt said that resulted in an excess of revenue over expenditures of $213,741.

Steinke appointed a five-member committee to review fees for the rental of the high school auditorium. He said the district's rental policy had been questioned recently by some residents.

Appointed to the committee were board members Veronica Baker and Arnold Nitz, high school principal Edward Reilly, assistant Supt. William Galbreath, and Schmidt.

Schmidt told board members that preliminary enrollment figures this fall show a loss of 68 students in grades K-5, a loss of 45 students in grades 6-8, and a gain of 68 students in high school.

He said there were 1,709 students in grades K-5 as of Sept. 20. In grades 6-8 there were 953 students and in high school, there were 1,288.

The total preliminary enrollment in grades K-12 this fall is 3,930 compared to 3,975 last fall.

teachers this fall, one more than last year.

Galbreath told board members that based on preliminary enrollment figures, he estimated the district would receive a total of $2,139,744 in state aid this year. That compares to $1,938,997 received last year.

The actual dollar amount of state aid will be computed Oct. 1 and will be based on the enrollment that day, the fourth Friday of the district's school year.

He said the 24.876 mills levied locally on property value for operations would result in another $2,260,995 in income. Last year, a complete collection of local taxes would have brought in $2,305,720.

Galbreath told board members the total of estimated state aid and property tax receipts would result in a per capita income of $1,071 per student this year. Last year, per capita income was $1,011 per pupil.

Welch Co. Is Joint Purchaser

WESTFIELD, N.Y. — Welch Foods, Inc., which is headquartered here, has announced the joint purchase with an Ohio firm of the Detroit region of European Flower Markets.

R. Craig Campbell, president of Welch Foods, announced the acquisition. The company has a food processing plant in Lawton. Campbell said Welch Foods will own and operate the business with Yoder Bros., a floral products supplier, grower and horticultural research company headquartered in Barberton, Ohio.

Campbell said the purchase of the retail outlets is the company's first acquisition of a non-foods business and part of a major research effort designed to explore the potential of Welch Foods' entry into the $5 billion flower and plant market.

European Flower Markets will continue to operate through 11 retail outlets in metropolitan Detroit department stores and shopping malls under Welch Foods control. The product line will include cut and dried flowers, home decorator plants and floral accessories and supplies.

Psychological Evaluations

DETROIT (AP) — The city of Detroit has agreed to delay new police department psychological evaluations while the courts review the policy. The policy, which took effect, Aug. 30, says any officer who is or appears to be troubled can refer himself or be sent by a superior for psychological evaluation by the department's medical section.

Hospital Board Told Of Surplus At South Haven

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — Despite a decrease in patient occupancy, South Haven Community hospital was able to end its 1976 fiscal year with a cash surplus, administrator Wayne Eagleson reported to the hospital's board last night.

The hospital ended with a $43,865 surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30 compared to a $14,284 deficit for the same period in 1975.

The surplus resulted despite a decrease in patient occupancy to 45 per cent of capacity during the year. Occupancy had averaged 55 per cent in 1975.

Eagleson said the hospital was able to end with the modest surplus because of a rate increase enacted by the hospital board when the trend in the decreasing patient occupancy was detected. He also gave credit to the management of the various departments, noting that even in a time of inflation expenses increased less than four per cent over the previous year.

Total patient revenue in 1976 was $2,495,674 as compared to $2,142,979 in 1975. Expenses, meanwhile, were $2,356,830 in 1976 compared to $2,261,911 in 1975.

In other matters, Eagleson reported that the Van Buren county clerk had certified the placement of a request for millage to finance a building improvement program on the Nov. 2 ballot.

Each of the nine governmental units in the hospital authority had authorized placing the question on the ballot. The hospital is seeking one mill for three years to finance part of the cost of the $1.2 million construction project.

In a related matter, the board authorized the expenditure of up to $2,000 to finance a public information program to outline the hospital's needs to voters before the election.

Coloma Township Camp Hearing Set

COLOMA — A public hearing on whether to allow a zoning variance for construction of a resort campground was set last night for Oct. 19 by the Coloma township zoning board of appeals.

The board set the public hearing date following a 1½-hour informational meeting attended by some 21 people, most of them property owners living near the proposed campground site near Coloma North road and Paw Paw lake.

Board Chairman Jim Friday told them if the board does allow the variance, it will be accompanied by some restrictions. A fence around the 29-acre site might be one of the restrictions, he said.

The informational session was held because there are no members remaining on the zoning board of appeals that first heard the request for the variance last February.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bittner, Carmody road, Benton Harbor, have purchased the land commonly known as Hidden Acres and would like to develop 25 campground sites initially and add more within the next five years.

The land must be exempted from its agricultural zoning before the Bittners can begin construction.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boisen are among area property owners objecting to the variance.

They claim the proposed campground would endanger wildlife, open up the area for further commercial development, and add more traffic to Coloma North road.

The Oct. 19 public hearing is to begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Coloma township hall.

Berrien Township Rezoning Okayed

BERRIEN CENTER — The Berrien township board last night approved rezoning for commercial use three acres on the northeast corner of Deans Hill road and US-31.

The rezoning proposal passed by a three to two margin, according to Supervisor Lowell Bruce.

Bruce and Trustee Robert Norris voted against the proposal. Voting in the majority were Clerk Ester Sommers, Treasurer James Stover and Trustee Peter Rudell.

The land, owned by Edward McOmber of Berrien Springs, had been zoned for agricultural and residential use.

At present, it has a small plastics factory, a grocery store and some rental housing units on it, Bruce said.

He said McOmber requested the rezoning but has not announced any plans for a new development on the property. Bruce said he voted against the rezoning because he believes the entire area around the intersection needs a thorough zoning and use study before any changes are made. He said he also foresees traffic congestion problems there.

In other areas last night, the board voted formal approval for the township to enter into a contract with the engineering firm of Wightman and Associates, St. Joseph, for an area-wide study of sewage treatment needs.

The township's share of the study cost is about $5,000 and will be partially funded by state and federal grants totaling 80 per cent, Bruce said.

The study is to cover sewage treatment needs for Berrien and Oronoko townships, the villages of Berrien Springs and Eau Claire, and 12 sections in Pipestone township. The Berrien township board had previously agreed to enter into the study which must be completed before any further sewage construction grants will be approved for the area.

Board members agreed to have 1,000 Berrien township Bicentennial books printed by Sinclair Graphics, Hartford. Printing costs will be slightly less than $3 each, Bruce said.

Bruce said the 88-page booklets with over 200 pictures will then be sold for $3.50 each. Any profits will be used to pay expenses of the township's Bicentennial committee which prepared the books.

Board members voted to have the county road commission grade, drain and gravel True road for one mile and Jones road for one-fourth mile. The True road project will cost $32,700 and the Jones road project, $9,400.

FIRST LADY COP: Sandra Watson, 24, was sworn in as temporary Niles police officer yesterday, making her first western officer in history of city, according to Raymond Rudman, police chief. Miss Watson is current Benton Harbor resident and was former Benton Harbor police officer. She was laid off in Benton Harbor in spring, due to financial woes there. Miss Watson comes to Niles with two years of police experience in Benton Harbor, Rudman said. She was a 1970 graduate of Niles high school.

Bears Under Pardee No Longer Patsies Of NFL

CHICAGO (AP) — Hobbled for 10 years with a one-horse offense and a sieve-like defense, the long-ailing Chicago Bears, under Coach Jack Pardee, suddenly have bloomed into a full-scale National Football League team that can win.

Still uncertain of their prowess and saddled with a tough schedule that includes six contenders in a row, the Bears are not predicting greatness this season. But they are no longer the patsies of the NFL, either.

After their second game of the 1976 season, the Bears find themselves 2-0 and sole occupants of first place in the NFL's Central Division. Few think that they can resist the onslaught of their Northern neighbors, the Minnesota Vikings.

But behind the offensive thrust of two second-year men, quarterback Bob Avellini of Maryland and running back Walter Payton of Jackson State, the Bears have won nine of their last 12, including preseason contests, and dumped the Detroit Lions and San Francisco 49ers in regular-season play.

Next they host the 0-2 Atlanta Falcons. "I'm scared to death," the husky, drawing Pardee, one of the NFL's great linebackers with the Rams and Redskins, said Monday. "They are 0-2 and they are desperate."

"We must still improve," Pardee said. "We haven't peaked yet and we must continue to play our best in order to win. As you win, every game becomes more important, and our most important game of the season right now is Atlanta next Sunday."

After Atlanta, the Bears face a murderers' row of contenders: Washington, Minnesota, Los Angeles, Dallas, Minnesota again and Oakland in that order.

And they must play without 11-year veteran linebacker Doug Buffone, the signal-calling sparkplug of the defensive team who limped from the 49ers game with an achilles tendon rupture and will be lost for the season. Another veteran, Ross Brumbacher, will move into the starting role, with middle linebacker Don Rives setting the defense.

But the old, one-horse look is gone from the Bears backfield where neither the great Gale Sayers nor his later replacement, Carl Garrett, also a good ball carrier, ever could do the job alone. Besides Payton, who rolled up 148 yards against the 49ers, Bears legmen include Roland Harper, a fast, tough 17th-round draft choice in 1975; WFL and CFL refugee Johnny Musso, another effective ground gainer, and veterans Mike Adamle and Larry Schreiber.

And new blocking punch is coming from another CFL refugee, Noah Jackson and second-year man Revie Sorey, a pair of 270-pound guards with the speed to pull and block as Payton sweeps wide.

The Bears could use some depth at tight end and the linebacking spots. And the defensive backfield has yet to prove itself against an arm like that of Fran Tarkenton.

But Pardee, who made room for his new players by clearing out all but 12 of those on the team before his arrival last year, already has fashioned a squad that has Chicago football fans remembering a fond old bit of nostalgia, half forgotten. "The Monsters of the Midway."

Pirates Near End Of Rope

Streaking Bosox Rip Tigers

Willie Stargell's running out of words. Danny Murtaugh's running out of patience ... and the Pittsburgh Pirates are running out of time.

There seemed to be little of anything left for Pittsburgh after Monday's heart-breaking 5-4 loss to the New York Mets.

"I don't want to talk," said Stargell, the usually talkative team leader of the Pirates. "I've run out of words."

"I'm upset," said Murtaugh, the Pirate manager. "I have to be upset. We can't afford to lose, especially not like this."

The Pirates were understandably at the end of their rope after the defeat dealt a hard jolt to their National League East pennant hopes.

Bo Is Cautious With Top Rating

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Coach Bo Schembechler tells his Michigan football players they're not good enough to be ranked No. 1 in the nation — but he's not about to say another team belongs there.

"No, no. Let's don't get carried away there," he said with a grin.

Schembechler doesn't want the lofty ratings position to give his sophomore and junior-laden Wolverines swollen heads and perhaps make them overconfident.

"I'm telling them they're not that good," he said Monday at his weekly news conference.

He said he doesn't know if the top spot in the Associated Press poll has affected the play of his team and added that he hasn't used it as a wedge to pump up his youthful squad.

Schembechler, one of the most respected and competent coaches in college football, was asked how the Wolverines are progressing.

"I really don't know that much about football," he said, tongue-in-cheek.

Anyone who doubts the progress of the team need only look at the improvement from the opening day 40-27 victory over Wisconsin to the second game last Saturday, a 51-0 drubbing of a highly-regarded Stanford team.

"Maybe I miscalculated on Stanford's defense," Schembechler said.

"There's resiliency in the Stanford program. Nobody should take them lightly. They'll bounce back."

Whether Michigan takes its next opponent lightly remains to be seen. The Wolverines host Navy on Saturday. The Middles, 1-1, are coming off a 21-3 triumph over Connecticut but aren't expected to be a big test for Michigan.

Last week Schembechler said "we're not gonna get any 56-yard runs" against Stanford like they did against Wisconsin. They didn't. But they had an 85-yarder, a 51-yarder and a 48-yarder.

"I think we had a couple adjustments to spring guys free that Stanford hadn't seen before. Traps. Trap options," he said. "I don't think you can count on that kind of ballgame consistently. We will not break plays like that on Navy."

Reminded that he said the same thing before and was proved wrong, he said impishly: "Oh yeah, I did, didn't I?"

One casualty in the Stanford game was safety Dwight Hicks, selected by coaches as top defensive player of the game. Hicks aggravated a finger injury and underwent surgery Monday to repair a ruptured tendon on his left ring finger. He'll be out from four to six weeks.

Michigan's offensive player of the week was fullback-tailback Rob Lytle, who rushed for 101 yards and was superb at faking and blocking.

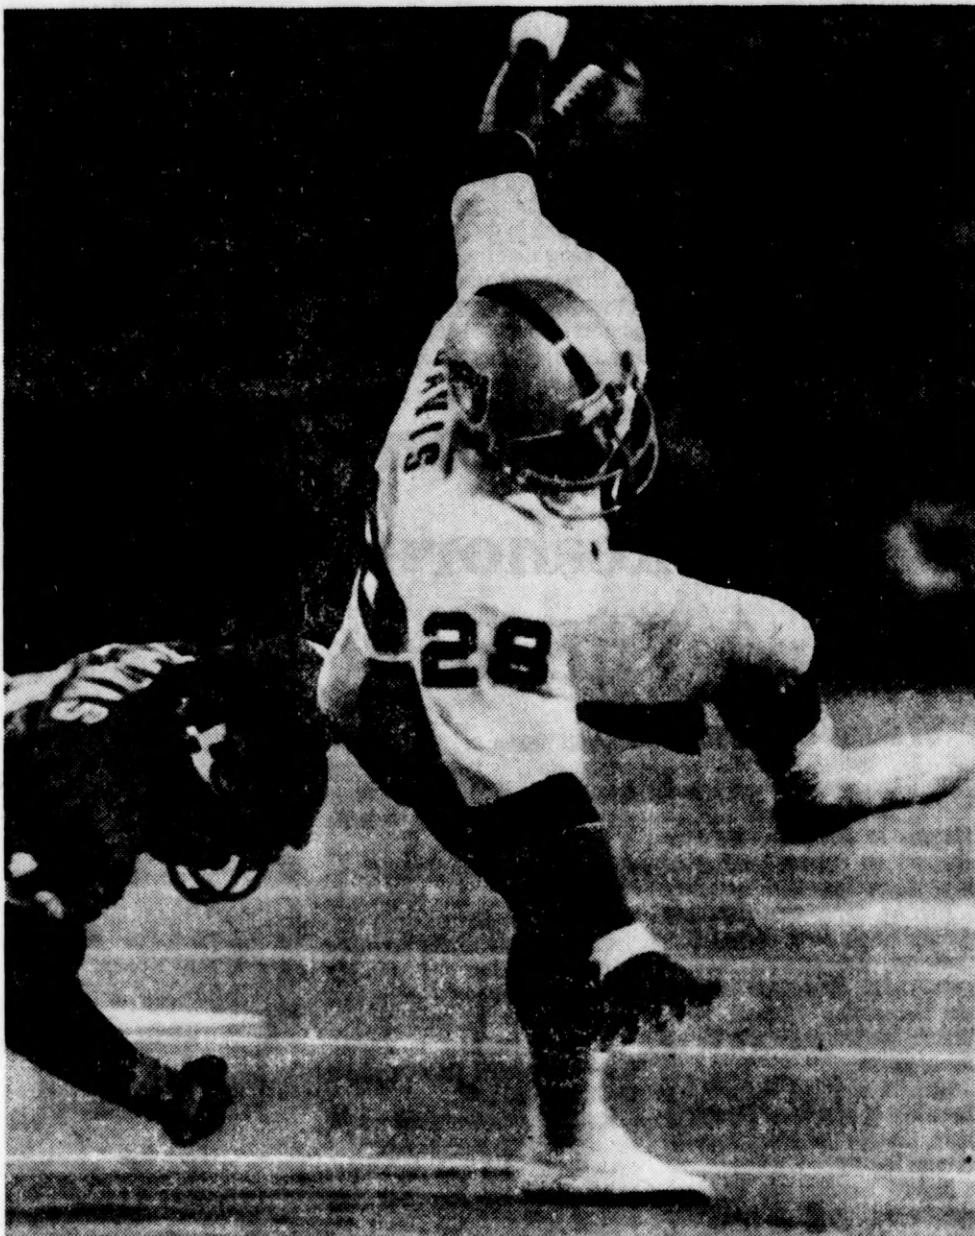

Offensive "hustler" award went to guard Mike Kenn, while the defensive award was accorded linebacker Calvin O'Neal. Bob Wood, who kicked a 49-yard field goal and continually kicked off deep in the end zone or beyond, was singled out on the kick team.

Guard Rock Lindsay was the top "scout team" player of the week, and center George Lilja was the "rookie of the week."

Smith Hasn't Secured QB Job

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Although Ed Smith has been tabbed to start Saturday's game with North Carolina State, Michigan State football coach Darryl Rogers warns the junior signal caller he doesn't have the job sewn up.

Rogers made it clear Monday that neither Smith nor senior Marshall Lawson has demonstrated the kind of ability that would give them the starting slot for good. Rogers plainly reserves the right — at least for now — to pull either player during a game, and start whomever looks best at the moment.

It's not that Rogers feels the competition helps either player as they fight for the starting post.

"I'd much rather have one, and he knew it and I knew it and everybody knew it," Rogers said. "And when I get one who's doing it, that'll be it."

Rogers said his team improved substantially over the debacle at Ohio State, but said "we're a long ways from from where we want to be." He praised the running of tailback Rich Baes, who darted for 133 yards and was named the Spartans' offensive player of the week.

The defense still leaves a lot to be desired, Rogers said, although it "matured as the game progressed." The Spartans gave up 20 first downs and 242 yards rushing.

Raiders Win With Stabler

KC Grows Up In Great Comeback Effort

KANSAS CITY (AP) — When Kenny Stabler is hot, there is probably not a defense in the National Football League that can stop him.

Before a national television audience Monday night, the Oakland quarterback was an artist, completing 22 of 28 passes and systematically shredding the Kansas City defense for 224 yards and three touchdowns.

Then Stabler left early in the fourth quarter with a strained knee and watched, no doubt flabbergasted, as the Chiefs upstaged his performance with an amazing comeback before finally succumbing, 24-21.

"Ken Stabler was as sharp as I've ever seen a quarterback be," said Chiefs Coach Paul Wiggins. "He was the ultimate passer."

Stabler and the unbeaten Raiders, two-touchdown favorites over the rebuilding Chiefs, humiliated their hosts in the first half, constructing a 17-0 lead that actually was deceptive in light of the halftime statistics: Sixteen first downs and 288 total yards for Oakland, two first downs and 37 yards for the Chiefs.

After Stabler fired touchdown strikes of 15, 10, and 14 yards to Dave Casper, Cliff Branch and Mike Siani, and Fred Steinfort booted a 37-yard field goal, it looked for all the world like a rout had been ordained.

But after intermission it was as if the teams had swapped uniforms. On the Chiefs' third possession of the third quarter, MacArthur Lane capped a 54-yard march with a one-yard touchdown plunge to make it 17-7. Stabler's touchdown toss to Siani a few minutes later gave the Raiders what would prove to be an insurmountable 24 points.

But the Chiefs, behind quarterback Mike Livingston, swept 87 yards in 12 plays and tallied on Livingston's one-yard keeper.

Less than two minutes later, reserve quarterback Mike Rae fumbled at the Oakland 25 and Chiefs linebacker Billy Andrews pounced on the loose ball.

Livingston needed one play, a 25-yard pass to Billy Masters in the end zone, to pull his team to within three points with less than three minutes remaining.

The Raiders handled Kansas City's inside kick and ran out the clock, but Chiefs players and coaches left the field feeling like winners.

"I'm really proud of them," Wiggins said. "We talked earlier about the Chiefs growing and I believe we did that tonight. I think we grew in the second half."

Livingston said the Chiefs made no halftime adjustments.

"We didn't use any blackboard stuff or anything like that," he said. "Guys just started talking among themselves, asking each other, 'Are we going to accept this or are we going to pull something up from deep within our souls?'"

LMAC 6-0 Against Non-League Foes Area League Play Begins

Judging from the way things went last weekend, most area football teams will be more than happy to begin conference play Friday and Saturday nights.

Four leagues with area teams in them — Red Arrow, Blossomland, Southwestern and Allegan-Ottawa — posted losing records in non-league play last weekend.

But the Lake Michigan Athletic Conference went 6-0 against outside foes, while the Big Seven was 5-2 and the KVA went 6-1-1.

The Blossomland and SAC took the worst beating. Three of the top four teams in a pre-season poll of conference coaches came up losers in the Bud, while only Marcellus won among seven SAC teams.

Friday, Benton Harbor and St. Joseph both jump into league action with the Tigers traveling to Muskegon and the Bears going to Battle Creek Lakeview.

In the SAC, Marcellus hosts Bloomingdale, Gobles is at Decatur and Lawton plays at Lawrence. South Haven has an early season test against Wolverine Conference favorite Plainwell on the road, while Paw Paw travels to Vicksburg.

"Our offense proved it could move the ball and the defense came on good," recalls Bloomingdale's Jeff Spragg of last Friday's tie. "But we had too many penalties (187 yards worth). The little, dumb stuff hurt us."

"Our blocking, I felt, was real good, and the backs were hitting the holes against Bangor. But we need to get our cadence down and not have any backfield in motion penalties."

Marcellus' Lonnie Lewis is living up to his pre-season billing. The senior running back gained 213 yards in 21 carries. But coach Joe Wood admits his team made quite a few miscues.

"We made a lot of mistakes in the second half. We were inside the 10-yard line twice and didn't score."

A tragic situation happened in the second quarter which seemed to take a lot of spark out of both Marcellus and Constantine. Jim Drikakis, an official from Battle Creek, collapsed next to the Marcellus' defensive huddle, and later died of an apparent heart attack.

Coach Gary Steudle's South Haven crew is going to have to hold on to the pigskin a little tighter this week. "We had things pretty much under control until the last five minutes," he groans.

Then the Rams fumbled the ball and gave Vicksburg a chance to tie it up. Vicksburg scored first in the overtime and made the two-point conversion. South Haven's Mike Jones then scored, but the Rams' extra point run missed "by probably eight inches," Steudle says.

Fennville also has a tough tussle on the slate. The Blackhawks host Allegan-Ottawa league pre-season favorite Hopkins.

"Hopkins is an explosive team," comments Fennville coach Gary Frens. "They have a balanced attack and hit hard."

The Blackhawks proved they could handle the pass as they pilfered four passes, two of them by Ed Bale.

"I was disappointed in our offense," declares Frens. "I felt we should have moved the ball better on the ground."

Hudson Gets Class C Nod Over Defending Champs

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

How soon they forget!

It was just last November that Ishpeming High School shocked the nation by upsetting much-heralded Hudson, 38-22, to win the state prep Class C championship and snap Hudson's winning streak at 72.

So when the first Associated Press football poll of the season was released today, who do you suppose is rated No. 1 in Class C?

Go to the head of the class if you guessed: Hudson.

The AP poll, conducted among Michigan sports writers and broadcasters, ranked the Panthers ahead of their Upper Peninsula rivals by the slimmest of margins: one point.

"We tell our players that polls don't win football games," Ishpeming Coach Mike Mileski said after learning the outcome of the first week's balloting. "Every Friday night when they pull on their pads they've got to prove their worth all over again."

So far this season the Hematites have been "worth" a perfect 3-0 record, including last week's 35-12 victory over Class A Marquette.

"We've got a real big one this Friday, too," Mileski said, "against Gwinn. They're a Class B school with a real good team. They're 3-0 right now, too, so somebody is going to come out of there with their first loss."

Hudson is 1-0. The season starts about three weeks later in extreme Lower Michigan than in the northern regions.

The pollsters tabbed Flint Southwestern, 1-0, the No. 1 Class A team by seven poll points over second-ranked Birmingham Brother Rice, 1-0.

Winning the state title last year, while hailed by a joyful city, apparently didn't do a thing for Mileski's recruiting program. The 36-year-old coach has only 21 players on his varsity roster.

"Some young men just find out that football isn't for them," Mileski said philosophically. "We've got a bunch of kids who know they have their work cut out. But we've got a very dedicated bunch."

In three games this year, Dellangelo is averaging nearly 150 yards.

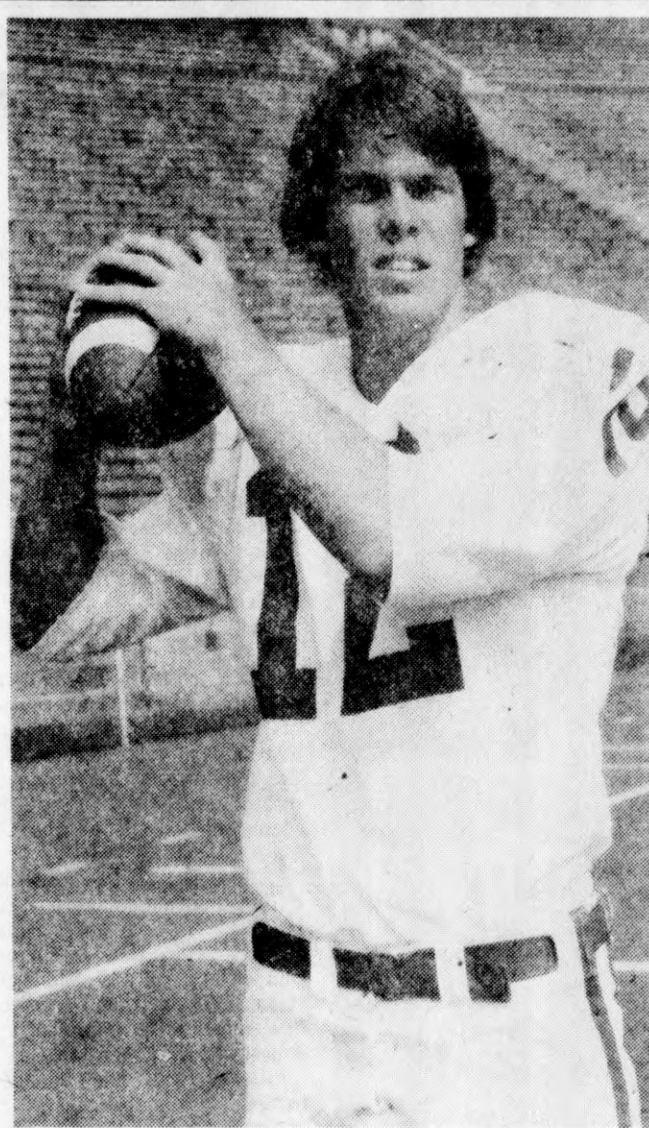

"Within the groups I've coached in the last few years, we've had some outstanding leaders," Mileski said. "I think this has just been handed down from year to year. At any rate, it's happened."

"For example, Dellangelo and two of our senior linemen — Steve Alanko and Jerry Millimaki — have really got 'em fired up. Those three were all starters on last year's team. But the other three seniors, who are starting this year, have also emerged as leaders."

And even though they're not No. 1, the Hematites still try harder.

Mileski has his club practicing twice on Monday evenings this season, something he has never tried before.

"We've got a young bunch, and they've got a lot to learn," the coach said. "Like I say, polls don't win football games."

WISCONSIN'S WELCH: George Welch, a two-year all-Red Arrow griddier at Lake Michigan Catholic, is now a freshman quarterback at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

Cappelletti Gets Chance, Shines

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three years after he won the Heisman Trophy while carrying the football for Penn State, John Cappelletti finally has emerged as a starter for the Los Angeles Rams. For a while, however, he thought he might not make it in the National Football League.

"I was just getting a little impatient, that's all," he says after starting assignments against Atlanta and Minnesota in which he gained 108 and 128 yards on the ground.

In all of 1974, he gained just 198 yards, and only 158 a year ago.

"I was disappointed a year ago because I wasn't really playing at all for a while there," he says. "But it would have been foolish to have tried to be traded then because it was the end of the season and I just had to stay with it, although I was disappointed and I didn't like the situation at that time."

Cappelletti, 6-foot-1 and 218, let his thoughts be known to the Rams during the offseason. He had been understudy to Lawrence McCutcheon, one of the best fullbacks in the National Football League.

When halfback Jim Bertelsen suffered a knee injury that put him out for the season, it was Rob Scribner and Cullen Bryant alternating in that backfield position.

As preseason practice started, Cappelletti recalls, "They started to use a couple of different formations. I got an indication that I would play more, but there was nothing concrete right away at the beginning."

"I knew that playing behind McCutcheon, it was pretty tough to take over that spot. I also realized that if they couldn't do anything for me, I wanted to know before the season started."

"We talked it out and they felt they could put me in the line-up either as a starter or playing me a lot."

Coach Chuck Knox experimented during the preseason games in which his club went 6-0. One big different 'tween this year and last, when the Rams won their division title for the third straight time, was that McCutcheon and Cappelletti were used in the same backfield.

The question wasn't whether Cappelletti could run, it was how well McCutcheon could block because he would be moved to halfback where the blocking assignments are more precise. Bertelsen has proven himself an expert at blocking.

It wasn't until the Tuesday before the regular season opening game in Atlanta that Knox made up his mind. He'd go with Cappelletti at fullback and move McCutcheon, his leading ground gainer the past three seasons, to halfback.

The Rams won 30-14 and then last Sunday tied Minnesota 10-10.

Cappelletti readily admits that he still is learning professional football, explaining, "I think once you stop learning or think you have learned everything, there is no where to go."

College Grid Attendance Increasing

SHAWNEE MISSION, Kansas (AP) — Major college football attendance, led by Michigan's second straight 100,000-plus crowd, is running two p.c. ahead of last season's all-time record pace, the National Collegiate Athletic Association announced on Tuesday.

The Wolverines, ranked No. 1 in the nation by The Associated Press, drew 103,741 fans to their 51-0 wipeout of Stanford. The big crowd helped the major colleges draw 2,286,584 last week, a higher total than during any week of the 1975 season.

The total NCAA Division I attendance thus far is 4,760,062, up 30,120, and the average attendance is 31,734, as compared to 31,118 at this stage of 1975.

Miller New Cage Coach For Bisons

NEW BUFFALO — Tom Miller, coach at Battle Creek St. Philip for the past nine years, has been named the new head basketball coach at New Buffalo.

For Miller it will be almost like coming home. Miller graduated from St. Joe Catholic high school in 1959. He went on to pick up a degree at St. Joseph's College in Indiana and got his master's at Western Michigan University.

"I really feel like it's coming home," Miller said. "I'm really happy with the opportunity to come back here and coach."

"The thing I'll be striving for is that we put a representative and exciting team on the floor. I want a team that people here can be proud of."

Miller guided St. Philip to a brilliant 105-69 record and four district titles in his nine years there after coaching for three years at Grand Rapids Catholic Central.

Assisting Miller will be former Bridgman and New Buffalo head coach Ron Stella. Stella, coming out of retirement after a three-year layoff from coaching, led Bridgman to a tremendous 49-14 record in three years there.

Coloma Takes Bud Lead

EAU CLAIRE — Coloma has taken the lead for the Blossomland golf championship.

The Comets won the conference's fourth golf jamboree of the season here Monday on the Indian Lake Hills course and moved ahead of Lakeshore at the season's midway point.

Coloma finished with a 155 Monday. Buchanan had a 156, Cassopolis 163, Lakeshore 165, River Valley 166, Dowagiac 169, Edwardsburg 175 and Brandywine 177. The Comets are now three points ahead of Lakeshore in the overall standings.

Buchanan's Tim Sexton was the medalist Monday with a par 34, including an eagle on the 325-yard par four No. 1 hole.

Hawks Post Win

FENNVILLE — Richard Gardea was first in 17:54 while leading Fennville to a 16-45 Allegan-Ottawa Conference cross country victory over Covert here Monday.

Teammate Crescencio Sanchez was second, while Duncan McColl took third, Lorenzo Saucedo fourth and Ruben Saucedo sixth. Covert's Hawkins was fifth.

Sports Performers Also Dancers

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — When Tom Seaver winds up and sends a fast ball zipping over the corner of home plate for the New York Mets, that isn't just a baseball pitch.

That's art in its purest form. When quarterback Bob Griese fades back and unleashes a soaring football for the waiting arms of one of his receivers, that isn't just a completed pass for the record books.

That, insists Edward Villella, is classical ballet in its most aesthetic form.

"When fans pay $8 or $10 for a seat in a stadium or arena to watch a football, baseball or basketball game or even a tennis match, they are getting more than an athletic contest," the famed New York dance master said today. "They are seeing theater in its purest sense."

"Athletes may not be aware of it. Fans may not be aware of it. But sports performers are dancers before they are grim competitors and merchants of violence. There is an organic flow, a ballet-like movement in almost everything they do."

Villella, who has danced before presidents and the crowned heads of Europe, has put his unique ideas into sub-tance through a nationally televised sequence to be shown by CBS-TV next Sunday, 5-6 p.m. EDT.

He calls the "Dance of the Athletes."

Villella has taken seven well-known athletes of differing sizes, abilities and sensitivities and made a sort of Balshoi Ballet out of their doing nothing more than their thing.

His "guinea pigs" include the Seaver and catcher Jerry Grote of the Mets; Griese, of the Miami Dolphins; George McGinnis, 6-foot-8, 235-pound basketball star of the Philadelphia 76ers; Muriel Grossfeld, former Olympic gymnastic performer from New Haven, Conn.; Virginia Wade, British tennis star, and Mutsaers Togotara, a karate expert out of Tokyo.

The motions of the athletes were set to music for the hour show and Villella found a ballet quality and sensuality in all of them.

"When Seaver pitches, there is a stylish, beautiful flow to his movement," the dancer explained. "The windup ends with a snap and it is incredible to watch the fingers as the ball is released."

approach to the super professional. Upon release of the ball, his hand is in a classical ballet position."

Villella, who has performed before four presidents and Queen Elizabeth as well as Russia's late Premier Khrushchev at Moscow's Bolshoi Theater, said McGinnis exhibited "fascinating body movement for a big man"; Miss Grossfeld "an articulate sensitivity and directness" and Miss Wade "a linear quality and sparseness that accentuated the entire body function." "We did not use fighters," Villella said. "But one would have to say Muhammad Ali and Sugar Ray Robinson are classical. They throw a punch seven inches and it is beautiful." Beautiful and soporific.

CHOREOGRAPHER FOR ATHLETES: Classical ballet dancer Edward Villella (left) gestures recently as he talks with New York Mets pitcher Tom Seaver during filming of "Dance of the Athletes." The sequence, to be broadcast by CBS-TV, makes a kind of ballet out of seven well-known athletes doing nothing more than their thing. (AP Wirephoto)

Forzano Feels Pressure

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Embattled Detroit Lions Coach Rick Forzano says he feels the pressure of being on the chopping block while the team's owner, Bill Ford, stands ready to wield the axe.

But Forzano says he is just trying to do the best job he can and concentrate on the Lions' next opponent, the Minnesota Vikings.

Ford said Forzano and General Manager Russ Thomas were minutes away from being fired before the Lions rallied in the final quarter of Sunday's game against the Atlanta Falcons and won, 24-10.

"Sure, there's pressure and I don't especially like it," Forzano said Monday. "But I can't sit there and worry my fool head off about it."

Forzano and Thomas were philosophical over Ford's public statements following the game.

"I was a little shocked, sitting there and hearing it on TV Sunday night," Forzano said. "I was with my wife and with my mother — she's 76 and it wasn't very nice for her. But I've got a strong family."

As for the possibility of being dumped, Forzano said, "It's Mr. Ford's decision. If you can't control a situation, don't worry about it. So I'm not concerned — I'm excited about playing the Vikings this week."

Thomas also took the position that it's an owner's prerogative to hire and fire.

Brandywine's Mark Cummins, Steve Gibson, Joe Kachoris, Jim Morrow and Tim Pipke finished in a five-way tie for first while downing Coloma 15-44 in a Blossomland cross country meet Monday on the Lake Michigan Hills Golf Course.

Coloma scorers included Randy Harris sixth, Jim Ridge eighth, Brian Dilts ninth, Bruce Vandervort 10th and Jeff Coffel 11th.

Coloma won the girls meet 8-13 with Michelle Villerman taking first. Brandywine's Tammi Rockhill was second and Coloma's Jacqui Brown took third.

Illini Sub Stars

CHICAGO (AP) — Tailback Jim Coleman, who sparked Illinois to a 31-6 victory over Missouri, has been named the Big Ten Player of the Week on offense by the Associated Press.

Coleman, a 5-9, 190-pound junior from Chicago who was filling in for injured Chubby Phillips, gained 152 yards in 31 carries and scored two touchdowns in what was considered one of the major upsets of the week.

Coleman barely edged out a group of other backs who had splendid performances throughout the Big Ten including Jeff Logan of Ohio State, Harlan Huckleby of Michigan, Ernie Sheeler of Iowa, Mike Morgan of Wisconsin and Kent Kitzmann of Minnesota.

Logan gained 160 yards in 25 carries, Huckleby had 157 in 16, Sheeler 139 in 16, Morgan 91 in 9 and Kitzmann 111 in 22.

All named were instrumental in leading their respective teams to victory as the Big Ten posted a 7-3 record against inter-sectional foes last Saturday.

Earlier, Safety Dwight Hicks of Michigan was named the AP's Big Ten defensive player of the week for his contributions in Michigan's stunning 51-0 victory over Stanford.

Hicks, a junior from Pennsauken, N.J., intercepted one pass, broke up three others, saved a touchdown with a tackle, deflected a pass which was intercepted by a teammate, made one tackle to cause a fumble and had five solo tackles as Michigan handed Stanford its first shutout since 1967.

Beaver Golfers Beat Bridgman

EAU CLAIRE — Steve Nichols carded a 41 and Dave Dustin added a 42 Monday night as Eau Claire's golf team toppled Bridgman 174-186 at Pipestone Creek Golf Course here.

Wayne Skaggs had a 44 and Brian Ratter a 47 for the Beavers. Bridgman's Ed Schroeder came in with a 39 to take medalist honors.

Bridgman did win the junior varsity match 207-222.

Shank Sparks Lancer Win

CASSOPOLIS — Lakeshore's Russ Shank was first in 18:38 while leading the Lancers to a 22-36 Blossomland cross country victory over Cassopolis here Monday.

Cass' Glenn Hawkins was second in 18:43. Other Lakeshore scorers were Brad Krugler third, Rex Dickson fifth, Al Tio sixth and Bill Wright seventh.

Lakeshore is now 1-1 in the league and 1-2 overall.

Shamrock Girls Win

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Anne Prillwitz scored six points during a fourth-quarter surge to spark Berrien Springs to a 49-38 girls basketball victory over Brandywine Monday at the Shamrock Gym.

The game was tied at 31-31 entering the final quarter, before Berrien outscored the Cats 18-7 to clinch the win.

Cathy Doeppfer scored 10 and Diana Umfress and Lisa Wagner had eight for the Shamrocks, now 3-1. Cathy Simmons tossed in 10 for the Bobcats (2-2).

Mustangs Unbeaten

THREE OAKS — River Valley remained unbeaten in cross country dual meet action here Monday by downing Buchanan 18-37.

River Valley's Dave Rieth was the individual winner in 16:54 in the Blossomland meet. Teammate Keith Hall took second, and Dave Zebell and Steve Copeland were fourth and fifth, respectively. Buchanan's Rod Snow was third.

River Valley is now 2-0 in the Blossomland and 6-0 overall.

Walleyes St. Joe River Fishing Bonus

The continuing catches of walleyes on the St. Joseph River have been a surprising bonus for fall fishermen.

"Nobody can figure out where the devil they are coming from," says Alvin Aldridge, the ranger at Shamrock Park in Berrien Springs.

Anglers at the Berrien Springs dam have been taking about two walleyes per day, with most averaging more than 20 inches. Aldridge says very few walleyes were taken on the river last year.

District Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologist Dave Johnson believes the surge of walleye success could be the result of the river clean up through improved sewage treatment facilities. There was a time in the past when the St. Joseph offered excellent fishing for the prized game fish.

Catches of other fish were down over the weekend at the Berrien Springs dam, according to Aldridge. On Sunday, he checked 235 fishermen with 34 chinook, seven coho, eight steelhead, three browns and a northern. Saturday's take by 200 anglers included 33 chinook 12 coho, six steelhead, four northern, three brown trout and one lake trout.

The best Berrien Springs success of the fall (fish per fishermen), so far, was last Tuesday when 38 anglers caught 26 chinook, 13 coho, six steelhead, four brown trout and three northern.

Down stream from Berrien Springs, anglers have had good success in the area near the Berrien County Sportsman's Club.

Outdoor Trail

River fishermen have been making most of their catches with flatfish and tadpole lures, with baits of the "Little Cleo" type also being effective.

St. Joseph charter boat captain Ken Neidlinger has made most of his catches from an anchored boat. He fishes "holes" and lets the current work the lure.

The biggest fish so far in the fishing contest at B-J's Sports in St. Joseph is a 42½-inch chinook taken by Robert Lerke. B-J's has also checked a 16-pound steelhead.

There was little success for salmon over the weekendout on Lake Michigan, but the DNR says sizeable numbers of salmon have been monitored off the river mouths at St. Joseph, South Haven and Saugatuck.

Meanwhile, there has been very little fishing activity on inland lakes. As one conservation officer phrased it, "most fishermen are gone to the west coast for salmon."

Anglers who haven't caught coho fever are doing quite well on their favorite lakes. Excellent catches of bluegills have been reported by the DNR at Stone, Magician, Diamond, Juno, Painter and Christiann Lakes in Cass county and Eagle, Big Crooked and the Sister Lakes in Van Buren county. Wiggles and crickets fished in deep water are providing the best catches.

PAW PAW SALMON: Louis Halsel of Hartford caught this salmon on a nightcrawler and a 12-pound test line at the mouth of the Paw Paw River. He said the fish weighed between 30 and 35 pounds. (Staff photo)

There appears to be some movement on solving the problem of lack of a public access site on Lake Chapin above the Berrien Springs dam.

"I'm interested in seeing some access," says district Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologist Dave Johnson. Berrien Springs is also looking into the matter, and he is "encouraged" by the progress.

Some fishermen have complained about not being able to get their boats on Lake Chapin, especially since a fish ladder has been put on the dam to move the fish into Lake Chapin and on up the St. Joseph River. They find it hard to believe that thousands of dollars have been spent on the ladder, but they still can't get on the lake to try and catch fish put over the dam.

The thrill of watching fall salmon spawning runs at the Berrien Springs and Buchanan dams is highlighted in this month's Automobile Club of Michigan's Motor News magazine.

"At the 23-foot-high Berrien Springs dam, a fish ladder and resting pools assist coho and chinook in their runs up the St. Joseph River each fall," Auto Club's 1.2 million reader-members are told in an article entitled "Salmon Watching in Michigan."

Planned treatment projects on Selkirk Lake in Allegan county and Huzzey Lake in Van Buren county have been "postponed indefinitely," according to DNR fisheries biologist Dave Johnson. The helicopter used by the DNR for the treatment projects has been tied up in the forest fire fighting activity in the Upper Peninsula.

"We'll do them as soon in October as we can," declares Johnson. The projects could be delayed until next year if water temperatures get too cold, but Johnson "doesn't anticipate that."

All fish will be killed in the treatment projects, and the lakes will then be restocked with desired species.

A separate license for hunting wild turkeys in Michigan is being urged by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs. Funds raised would be used for turkey management.

At present, turkeys may be hunted legally by anyone who purchases a small game license and succeeds in having his name drawn for a turkey hunting permit.

ANGLING ACE: Ten-year-old Michael Zabel of Benton Harbor caught this 11½-pound, 34-inch northern pike on the lower Paw Paw River. His father, Horst, netted the fish. "It was just too big for me to lift out of the water by myself," said the younger Zabel.

Hunting, Fishing Day Sept. 25

National Hunting and Fishing Day (Sept. 25) is a time to contemplate what sportsmen have done for the nation's economy and for the cause of conservation, says the Department of Natural Resources.

"Hunters and fishermen spend more than $6 billion each year for meals, lodging, transportation, guide service and many other services unique to their pastime," explains the DNR's James Walker. "And over the past 50 years they have contributed over $2.2 billion to the needs of conservation."

"Sportsmen were also the first people to express concern for the vanishing forests, streams and wetlands," continues Walker, a recreation safety specialist. "In organized groups, they introduced and supported many of the environmental protection laws and programs established in recent years."

Noting early over-exploitation of fish and game, Walker says hunters and fishermen insisted on tough laws that created seasons and bag limits, as well as complete protection for some species once popular for food and game. They have also been responsible for the acquisition of millions of acres of lands for habitat and wildlife refuge, which otherwise would have been divided by the developers.

Walker notes that sportsmen's concern spearheaded the establishment of fisheries and wildlife departments in all 50 states, which are supported by hunting and fishing license fees — some $200 million across the country. These departments are charged with the total welfare and protection of all wildlife, including vanishing species.

More than $450 million has been generated from a self-imposed tax on the sportsmen's equipment for research, management and lands. Under the Pittman-Robertson program, says Walker, $40 million in taxes on guns and ammunition are collected annually and returned to the states by the Department of Interior for conservation projects. A comparable tax on fishing tackle, supported by sports fishermen under the Dingell-Johnson Act, pays for the restoration of species of fish and new fish habitats.

Hunters have been purchasing Migratory Waterfowl hunting stamps for 40 years to protect our wetlands from destruction, reminds Walker. The Ducks Unlimited organization has purchased thousands of acres of Canadian waterfowl production lands from private funds. He points to the Izaak Walton League and Trout Unlimited as leaders in the movement "to cleanse and protect our waters and river systems."

For the first time this year, Michigan waterfowl hunters must buy a state waterfowl stamp. Of the $2.10 cost, $1.90 will be set aside to acquire wetlands in the State, with the remaining money earmarked for program evaluation and administration.

State School Districts Warned

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare warned River Rouge, Saginaw and five other school districts it may cut off federal funds unless they correct alleged civil rights violations.

SMALL WANDERERS
NAIROBI (AP) — A wandering tribe of dwarfs whose average height did not exceed 4 feet, 10 inches, was discovered in 1874 in Akka in central Africa.

The districts, charged with failing to end school segregation, have been informed they may request hearings before any cutoff of federal education funds. The proceedings could last for several months, HEW said.

The seven districts are School District 89, Maywood, Ill.; River Rouge City Schools, River Rouge, Mich.; School District of the City of Saginaw, Mich.; Lima City Schools, Lima, Ohio; Princeton City Schools, Cincinnati; Ontario School District, Ontario, Ore.; and Mount Adams School District 209, White Swan, Wash.

HEW said it cited Lima, Saginaw, Maywood and River Rouge for alleged discrimination in assigning teachers and students; Princeton for its teacher assignment policies; Mount Adams for alleged non-compliance in operating its special education program and its policy on recruiting and hiring teachers, and Ontario for its policy on recruiting and hiring teachers.

There was no immediate estimate of how much federal money each of the districts receives.

Ferndale, Mich., is the only school district outside the South which has had its federal funds cut off for violations of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. The act prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color or national origin.

Last July 20, U.S. District Judge John Sirica ruled that HEW had failed to enforce federal civil rights laws in public school districts in 33 northern and western states. He gave HEW 60 days to act.

Martin H. Gerry, director of HEW's Office for Civil Rights, expressed regret that he had been unable to negotiate voluntary compliance plans in the seven districts.

"However, school administrators should bear in mind that legal proceedings can be dismissed at any time voluntary compliance is achieved," Gerry said, "and we would welcome that result."

The object is to protect the rights of persons served by federally funded programs and a voluntary resolution is faster and less expensive than litigation, he said.

The lawsuit that led to the Sirica order was filed more than a year ago on behalf of a group of parents of minority pupils who alleged they had been discriminated against.

MERCURY CAPRI II: Highly-praised design of Capri II remains essentially unchanged for 1977. Standard equipment includes 2.3-liter four-cylinder engine and four-speed manual transmission, with 2.6-liter V-6 and automatic transmission optional. Other standard features include solid-state ignition, rack-and-pinion steering and power front disc brakes and power drum rear brakes.

FOR RAPING 15-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Hartford Man Gets 4-15 Years

BY DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A 21-year-old Hartford man was sentenced yesterday in Van Buren circuit court to serve from four to 15 years in prison for the rape of a 15-year-old Decatur girl last April.

Judge Meyer Warshawsky imposed the sentence on Charles Lee Colbert, who had pleaded guilty earlier to a charge of third degree criminal sexual conduct.

The girl told state police she was assaulted near the public access site at Eagle lake, Paw Paw township.

In other cases, Doris Ford, 25, 90 North Shore drive, South Haven, was sentenced to serve from 14 months to five years in the Detroit House of Correction as a result of her earlier no contest plea to a charge of attempted delivery of heroin.

She was one of nine people arrested during a May, 1975 crackdown by police on alleged drug trafficking in South Haven.

Murray R. McKnight, 31, 417 Cartwright, South Haven, pleaded guilty to a charge of feloniously assaulting his nephew, Willie Warren, 19, Jan. 17 in South Haven. South Haven police said Warren was hospitalized after being shot in the stomach with a .22-caliber pistol.

Michael R. Best, 19, 602 White Oak, Decatur, pleaded guilty to one charge of breaking and entering and another of malicious destruction of property. One charge grew out of the alleged theft of a citizens band radio from a pickup truck in Decatur Aug. 1, and the other from a vandalism spree at Koop's Cold Storage, Decatur, on Aug. 26.

Police said about $50,000 damage was done to meat and fruit being stored in a freezer.

Kim Alan Pond, 18, route 2, Dewey Lake street, Dowagiac, pleaded innocent to nine counts of attempted murder and three counts of felonious assault. Michael Ray Wallace, 18, 103 Hamilton Dowagiac, pleaded innocent to nine counts of attempted murder and one count of felonious assault.

The charges against both men grew out of an Aug. 10 shooting spree outside a Decatur bar. State police said the two were taken into custody following a 15 mile chase punctuated by gunfire.

The charges all involve reports by seven bystanders and Troopers Charles Brando and Dennis Reinsch that they were shot at or almost run over during the shooting spree.

William Curry, 35, 276 Park, South Haven, pleaded innocent to a charge of grand larceny, the alleged theft of $840 from the Bi-Lo gas station, South Haven, on Jan. 23.

Donald W. Farley, 18, route 2, Bangor, pleaded innocent to a charge of breaking and entering a shed in Bangor township June 14.

Artie Joe Roy, 31, Paw Paw, pleaded innocent to a charge of resisting arrest July 13 in Paw Paw.

John Williams, Jr., 20, 411 Cass, Bangor, pleaded innocent to charges of armed robbery and carrying a concealed weapon. The charges were made in connection with the alleged holdup of a Bangor gas station Aug. 7. A .32-caliber pistol was reported confiscated during the arrest.

Thomas Gonzalez, 38, Pontiac, pleaded innocent to charges of obtaining money under false pretenses and uttering and publishing a forged document. State police at Paw Paw said Gonzalez was arrested after a man allegedly used a stolen credit card to purchase gasoline in Mattawan Aug. 10.

Joel Morrow, 31, Coloma, pleaded innocent to a charge of resisting arrest filed after he was stopped for an alleged traffic violation July 17 by Covert police.

Street Study Voted At Berrien Springs

BY JOHN DYE

South Berrien Bureau
BERRIEN SPRINGS — Following complaints from village residents, the Berrien Springs village council last night agreed to conduct an engineering study of a five-block area of Ferry street before seeking federal funds to improve the street.

Approval of the motion calling for the study came after a public information meeting staged by the council on its application for a federal grant under the Local Public Works act. No amount for the grant has been determined yet.

The council had included repaving of Ferry street in a list of projects to be sought under the program, which calls for federal payment of 100 per cent of project costs.

Mrs. Daniel Davis, 442 West Ferry, and other residents of the area (from Cass street to Shawnee road) complained that repaving the street alone would not correct engineering defects which are causing damage to their automobiles. The residents claimed the dip between the street and curb was too steep and auto mufflers are damaged when cars are driven into driveways.

The study is to determine the costs of not only repaving the street, but adding one additional catch basin and raising the curbs so that the entire project could be listed on the grant application.

Cleon Reitz, streets and sewer superintendent, said the grant application is now being prepared by the village's engineers, Williams and Works, Grand Rapids.

Other projects sought under the grant include resealing all village streets; construction of a new water well and water transmission line; construction of a sewer lift station; water mains and sewer lines for Shawnee and Snow roads and Fisher court, and replacement of a water main on Bluff street.

In other areas, the council said the Berrien Springs village-Oronoko township police department would be instructed to investigate whether Daniel Cristancho's foster home for adults violates the village zoning ordinance.

The action is the latest round of controversy surrounding the home at 362 Washington street, touched off recently when Cristancho sought a building permit to expand the home.

Donald Dick, village attorney, told the council he believes Cristancho is operating a commercial venture in a residential area. Dick responded to a question posed by Robert McGath, 364 Washington street, who asked the council if operation of the home in the area violated the ordinance, and if it did, what did the council intend to do?

The council approved advertising for bids for the demolition of four houses in the village, pending approval by property owners, at the request of Leslie Cripps and Associates, planning consultants for the village. Demolition of the four structures, at 1229 South Harrison, 208 East Murdoch, 5 Fisher court, and 301 East Ferry street, will be paid for with federal community development funds. Cripps said approval from two property owners has already been obtained and is being sought from the other two.

The council approved Cripps' recommendation that a group of apartment buildings and a building housing Berrien Soft Water Service, 213 West Madison street, be appraised at $14,614. The village has initiated condemnation proceedings in Berrien Circuit court to acquire the land, owned by Prescott and Mildred Nelson, Berrien Springs, as part of courthouse square restoration project.

In a related matter, Cripps asked the council to study two documents which outlined relocation of occupants of the building and grievance procedure if the occupants were not happy with relocation.

The council approved a motion naming the Berrien county department of public works as the applicant to get federal funds for a proposed sewage treatment system to serve three area townships and two villages.

In addition to Berrien Springs, the proposed system would serve the village of Eau Claire and the townships of Oronoko, Berrien and Pipestone. The council named Williams and Works to conduct the study of proposed system within the village.

A mutual aid agreement for fire defense between neighboring communities was approved by the council. The agreement states neighboring fire departments will help each other in times of need.

In the wake of a Sept. 9 break-in of the police department, which shares a building with village offices, the council agreed to seek burglary insurance bids and obtain cost estimates for the replacement of three doors in the building. The village has no such insurance at this time.

A door leading to the police department, which was forced open during the break-in, has already been replaced.

The council announced that leaf burning, off village streets, will be permitted this fall.

WITHOUT MOTOR

Bridgman Buying Used Police Car

BRIDGMAN — A used state police car, lacking a motor, was ordered purchased by the Bridgman city commission last night in a move to get the city's police force a later-model patrol car. City Supt. Milford Mellon said the motor from the force's 1973 cruiser would be transferred to the 1975-model vehicle so that the newer car could be used.

According to Mellon, the motor in the 1973 car has about 45,000 miles on it. He said it would cost about $200 in repairs to keep the 1973 car on the road.

In other areas, the commission gave final approval to an ordinance correcting procedures to be used when levying special assessments against property owners for municipal improvements. Mayor Ronald Gelesko said the ordinance was aimed at correcting procedural steps in the levying process which did not follow state statutes.

Quartet Arraigned On Drug Charges

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Four Detroit area men were arraigned Monday in Seventh district court here on charges of possession of amphetamines and barbiturates.

Demanding preliminary examination were: Harry Crayne Jr., 22, and Gary M. Lewis, 22, both of Detroit, and Terry Miller, 23, and Bruce E. Pike, 23, both of Pontiac.

Paw Paw police said the four were arrested Sunday following a report that a firecracker had been thrown from a van on Michigan avenue. Officers said that during a search, quantities of suspected marijuana, plus some pills and capsules, were seized.

Miller, Pike, and Lewis also all pleaded innocent to misdemeanor charges of possession of marijuana, while Crayne demanded a preliminary examination on a charge of possession of marijuana with intent to deliver.

Crayne also pleaded guilty to a charge of driving on a suspended license. He was fined $30 by Judge William C. Buhl and ordered to serve three days in jail, with two days credit for time already served.

Pike and Lewis were released on their own recognizance, while bond was set at $500 for Crayne and $600 for Miller. Hearings on the cases were scheduled for Sept. 28.

In another case, Tina Williams, 17, route 3, Benton Harbor, was released on her own recognizance after demanding preliminary examination on a charge of breaking and entering.

The charge stems from the alleged theft of about $30 Aug. 27 from a house at 205 East Main, Hartford, according to Hartford police.

New Car's Roof Really Ripped Off

NILES — The roof of a new Cadillac automobile was sheared off yesterday morning in a freak accident on US-31 south of here, Niles township police said.

Police said the 1977 Seville model was being transported on a car carrier truck and the roof of the high priced luxury auto was ripped off when the car struck the underside of the M-60 overpass.

Truck driver Robert Sumling, 29, Detroit, told police he was transporting the new autos to South Bend when the 11:20 a.m. accident occurred. Police said Sumling was not injured and is employed by Commercial Carriers, Romulus.

Paw Paw School Plan Is Given Nod

PAW PAW — The Paw Paw school board voted last night to authorize the district's architects to draw up plans and take bids for a new bus garage and remodeling of the old bus garage.

Douglas Howe, building and grounds committee chairman, estimated that the cost of the new garage, which will have 4,000 square feet of space, at about $48,000 to $50,000. Remodeling of the present bus garage for joint use as a shop room for the Michigan Avenue school, and for maintenance and storage will cost roughly $35,000, he said.

Both projects were originally included in a $345,000 bond issue rejected by voters last April 29. The bond issue would also have financed a new track, maintenance building, and administration building.

Howe said paving and fencing of the new bus garage will be bid separately and are not included in the cost estimates.

Board President Betty Rasmussen said it appears district voters are not at this time receptive to the types of improvements the board feels must be made, requiring the board to proceed at a slower "pay as you go" pace on new construction.

In other areas, the board voted 5-2 to reinstate seventh and eighth grade interscholastic boys and girls basketball programs. Total cost was put at about $4,000.

Because of cost and space considerations, the board had voted last March to drop the programs, replacing them with interscholastic track.

Last night, basketball coach Dick Anderson told the board that without the basketball programs, Paw Paw could not hope to be competitive later at the varsity level.

Mrs. Rasmussen and board member Kenneth Taylor voted against the reinstatement, with Robert LaRue, Gloria Berry, Howe, Robert Teske, and William Rhodes in favor.

Supt. Dr. Norval Bovee announced that anticipated K-12 enrollment this year would be 2,122, up just one student from last year. Anticipated breakdowns, with last year's figure in parentheses, were listed as: K-5, 873 (858); 6-8, 507 (551); and 9-12, 742 (712).

Bovee said kindergarten enrollment was at an all time high — 190 students. The board accepted his recommendation to hire a full-time aide to work with kindergarten teachers at an annual cost of about $2,500.

The resignation of Michael Swartz as high school athletic director and assistant principal was also accepted. The vote was more or less a formality since Swartz has already started work as principal of McBain high school near Cadillac.

Bovee was authorized to seek permission from the state to borrow $250,000 against future state aid to meet operating expenses.

BANGOR PROPOSAL

Arlington Tables Area Police Plan

BANGOR — The Arlington township board last night voted to table for further study a proposal to create a police department to patrol the township, nearby Bangor city and several other neighboring municipalities.

Township officials said they want more information on the area police force plan which has been proposed by Bangor city.

Townships that would be included in the coverage, according to initial proposals, are Bangor, Columbia and parts of Geneva, in addition to Arlington.

In another area, the board set the per-lot special assessment district costs for a $46,000 paving project in the Scott Shores subdivision on Scott lake.

The cost will be $41 per lot per year for three years with owners of corner lots having to pay $60 per year for three years.

The paving project was finished last year, but too late to be put on 1975 tax bills.

ENROLLMENT DROPS

Galien Will Lose $21,000 State Aid

GALIEN — The Galien school board last night was informed that preliminary figures show the district's enrollment has dropped by 31 students this fall compared to last year.

Dr. Robert Tilmann, superintendent, told board members the reduced enrollment is expected to result in a loss of $21,000 in state aid this fall.

He said the preliminary enrollment in grades K-12 is 796 compared to 827 last year.

In other areas, the board postponed a decision on replacing all the windows in the high school.

Board members called a special meeting for Wednesday, Sept. 29, at 7:30 p.m. to consider quotes and materials for the replacement windows.

The board scheduled a public hearing on the final 1976-77 budget for Monday, Oct. 18, at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Tilmann said copies of the budget would be available for public inspection at the meeting.

Board members last night voted to accept the final audit of 1975-76 finances. The report was prepared by Rohleder & Suabedissen, Niles, certified public accountants.

The report showed all accounts were in good shape, Dr. Tilmann said.

Total expenditures in the general fund last year came to $1,071,894, an amount $84,179 under last year's budget.

Total revenue came to $1,186,805, leaving an end of the year surplus of $114,911.

Dr. Tilmann said that about $80,000 of that surplus is committed to unemployment compensation payments and replacement of windows at the high school.

Board Of 1st Federal Picks Tyler

NILES — Taylor "Tim" Tyler has been elected to the board of directors of the First Federal Savings and Loan association of Niles, the firm announced.
Tyler, of Niles, was elected to the board at its 42nd annual shareholders meeting last week. He is vice president of Tyler-Linville Chevrolet, Niles, and is a member of the Niles school board.
He replaces George Mayhew who is retiring after serving 20 years.
Re-elected to the board were William D. Peace and Leo G. Swinehart.
Robert E. Bean, president of the association, reported that during the last fiscal year, which ended June 30, assets increased $10,951,000 to $97,949,875. Savings deposits increased $12 million to $81,889,000 and mortgage loans increased $9,300,000 to $80,650,000.
General reserves increased to $5,151,000, Bean reported.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

How To Get Out Of Stock Market

By SAM SHULSKY
Q. I want to get out of the stock market — completely. I will then have $25,000 to reinvest. Which would be the best: E bonds, long-term savings at 7 1/2 per cent, or Federal bonds at 9 per cent? I am 51, with $20,000 now in savings and am in the 27 per cent income tax bracket.

A. When a person only 51 wants to get out of the market completely there must be — as the old Grape-Nuts ad used to say — "a reason." I haven't the slightest inkling of what it is but would have to guess that you were badly burned and have now vowed "not to go back there anymore." And if you were burned, I must also assume that with the market now near its all-time highs you must have been pretty close to the speculative fire. However, it's your decision.

If you add $25,000 more to taxable savings accounts you will certainly raise your tax bracket to the point where Uncle Sam will be taking one out of each three top dollars of income. 2) Government bonds do not yield 9 per cent and, furthermore, are also subject to Federal income taxes (though not state or local).

E bonds would provide a 100 per cent safe 6 per cent interest account with taxes thereon deferred until the time you cash in on the Es or the Bs for which you may exchange them. However, you can't put $25,000 into E bonds in one year.

Top-grade municipal bonds would provide current tax-free income of around 6 per cent from municipal bonds.

If you put, say, $5,000 of this money into high quality growth stocks paying only 2 per cent the dividend income would be tax protected by the $100 annual dividend exclusion.

Q. We are thinking of making improvements to our home at a cost of $10,000. We have $20,000 in savings, earn about $30,000 a year. My husband feels we should borrow the money and that we could come out ahead by putting our own funds into a time savings account or into safe savings.

A. I don't see any net gain in borrowing $10,000 to improve your home and keeping $10,000 in time certificates. You are "freezing" dollars on both sides of the deal. And, certainly, you can't borrow money for less than the bank pays you in savings account interest.

If, however, you borrow $10,000 from the bank and put $10,000 of your own money into common shares then you have established a fixed dollar debt ($10,000) plus fixed interest for a number of years and have set up against it $10,000 working in the securities market — where anything can happen... good or bad.

If you don't want to take the market risks, then I see no point to borrowing dollars while you retain an equal number of dollars earning less.

Shulsky welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

Blossom Acres Bids Are Opened

Schumacher Construction Co. of Benton Harbor is the apparent low bidder for reconstruction or replacement of 280 canopies on 140 housing units in the Benton Township Housing commission's Blossom Acres project.

Sammie Smith, executive director, reported Schumacher Construction's bid was $23,114. Two other bids were received by the deadline for bidding on Sept. 17, Smith added.

Smith said the contract will be awarded after the three bids submitted have been reviewed by the Detroit office of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). HUD funds will pay for the work, he added.

The other two bids were from Williams Construction for $30,000 and Enders & Company for $58,140. Both firms are from Benton Harbor.

National Detroit Officers Getting New Bonus Plan

DETROIT (AP) — About 30 of the top officers at National Detroit Corp., National Bank of Detroit's holding company, will benefit from a new bonus program under a plan approved Monday by stockholders.

The plan allows for payments of 1.5 per cent of the corporation's profits in years when the return on stockholders equity is 10 per cent or more.

NBD says the plan would have paid up to $766,000 to the 30 executives last year.

About 7 per cent of the bank's stock shares were cashed against the proposal, officials said.

Tire Firm Reacts To Bribery Charges

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — General Tire & Rubber Co., under fire since late 1975 on charges it bribed employees of foreign governments, moved Monday to give independence to its broadcast subsidiary in connection with the allegations.

Company directors authorized distribution of RKO General, Inc., capital stock, a General Tire subsidiary, to holders of General Tire common stock, saying the move should enable RKO to avoid "the difficulties to which it has been subjected... by virtue of its being a subsidiary of the company."

The action was subject to approval by the Federal Communication Commission (FCC) and the Securities & Exchange Commission (SEC).

The firm also reported improvement in its third-quarter and nine-month earnings.

The charges that General Tire had made improper and illegal payments to employees of foreign governments were leveled by Community Broadcasting of Boston, Inc., in challenging the license renewal application of WNAC, a Boston television station owned by RKO General.

General Tire subsequently told the SEC in March that one of its overseas subsidiaries maintained a secret fund financed mostly by kickbacks from suppliers trying to obtain business at prices below those fixed by government regulation.

Stock Prices Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — Hopes for a relaxation of the Federal Reserve's credit policy helped push stock prices higher today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose nearly a point in the early going. Gainers took a slight lead over losers in the overall tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The Fed's policy-setting Open Market Committee holds its monthly meeting today. Brokers said investors were hoping to see signs in the next few days of a shift in the Fed's approach that would encourage a decline in interest rates.

The Labor Department, meanwhile, reported this morning that its consumer price index rose at a 6 per cent annual rate last month, maintaining the pace of June and July.

Some analysts had been hoping to see a dropoff in the rate of the index's rise.

Today's early prices included Gulf Oil, unchanged at 28 1/4; Eaton, down 3/4 at 42; and General Motors, up 1/4 at 70 3/4.

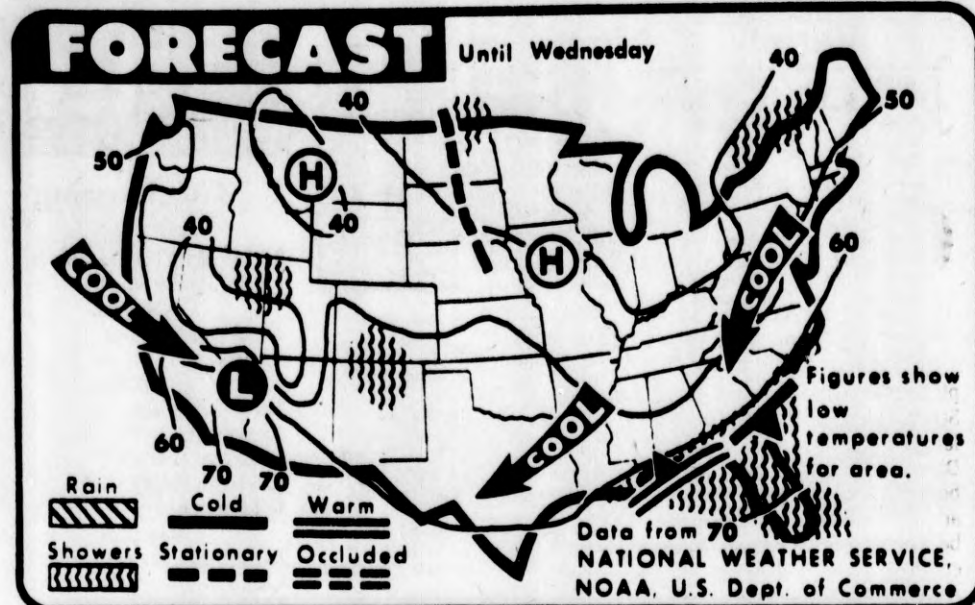

In Monday's mixed market the Dow Jones industrial average eased .59 to 994.51.

But advances managed to outpace declines by a 5-3 margin among NYSE-listed issues. Big Board volume came to 21.73 million shares.

The NYSE's composite index picked up .05 to 56.74, and the American Stock Exchange market value index added .11 to 103.49.

Potlatch Dividend Up; Plan 2-1 Split

SAN FRANCISCO — Potlatch Corp. directors increased the dividend on common stock 12 per cent and approved a two-for-one stock split subject to shareholder approval, the firm announced.

The new dividend on existing shares is 42 cents a share payable Dec. 6 to stock of record Nov. 12. The previous quarterly payment was 37 1/2 cents.

Potlatch operates a plant in St. Joseph which makes paper products.

The stock split will be effective Dec. 15 subject to stockholder approval of a doubling of authorized common stock to 30 million shares. The stockholders are to meet later this month.

Potlatch, a forest products company, had 7,511,383 shares outstanding June 30.

Richard B. Madden, president, said, "The board considered a moderate cash dividend and increase appropriate in light of the company's earnings progress in 1976 and an encouraging outlook for 1977."

Detroit Bank Will Sell Stock

DETROIT (AP) — Control of Bank of the Commonwealth apparently is about to shift to new hands under a plan for selling $10 million in new stock.

Commonwealth Chairman Merlyn Trued said Monday that Ghaith Pharaon, the Saudi Arabian businessman who now controls the bank, has decided not to buy any of the $10 million of new stock.

If the plan goes through, First Arabian Corp could become Commonwealth's controlling stockholder. First Arabian is an investment company owned by Middle Eastern Arabs.

First Arabian is expected to buy Pharaon's shares of the new stock and all other shares not bought by existing stockholders.

The plan calls for holders of existing common stock to get the equivalent of 40 shares in new stock for their existing shares and for holders of preferred stock to get the equivalent of $20 a share.

Because Pharaon won't be buying any shares, his holdings, which would be 49 per cent after conversion of his existing Commonwealth common and preferred shares — will shrink to less than 22 per cent of the bank.

Account Is Given To Vivox

The appointment of Vivox Advertising of St. Joseph as advertising agency of record for Burgess Seed & Plant Company (Galesburg, Mich.) was announced today by Patrick J. Sweeney, Burgess president.

At the same time, Sweeney revealed a test plan to expand Burgess' marketing activities into print and broadcast media. Testing is scheduled to begin early in 1977.

Burgess, established in 1913, is one of the oldest catalogers of horticultural products in the U.S. The firm was recently acquired by Geo J. Ball, Inc., of West Chicago, Ill.

Vivox was started by a group of former Chicago ad agency executives in 1968. The agency serves consumer and industrial firms like: PG's Division of Jaymar-Ruby; Nino Cerruti Sport Apparel; Wells Fargo; Auto-Owners Insurance; Skystream Airlines; R.C. Allen Electronic Registers; Countess Natalie; Molly Pitcher Wines.

Price-Fix Fines Are Reduced

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal judge has reduced sharply the $50,000 fines he imposed earlier on 13 folding-carton companies in a price-fixing conspiracy case.

But Judge James B. Parsons of U.S. District Court allowed to stand Monday $50,000 fines that he imposed on nine other makers of cardboard boxes. The 22 companies pleaded no contest to the charges in July.

Parsons said he reduced the fines on the basis of the degree of involvement of the companies in the conspiracy.

Fines for Eastex Packaging Inc. of Silsbee, Tex., and St. Regis Paper Co. of New York City were cut to $25,000 each. Reduced to $30,000 each were the fines of F.N. Burt Co., Buffalo, N.Y.; Rexham Corp., Charlotte, N.C.; Champion International Corp., Stamford, Conn.; Interstate Folding Box Co., Middletown, Ohio, and Mead Corp., Dayton, Ohio.

Fines for Burd & Fletcher Co., Kansas City, and Potlatch Corp., San Francisco, were dropped to $40,000.

Parsons reduced to $35,000 the fine for Weyerhaeuser Co., Tacoma, Wash., to $45,000 that of Brown Co., Pasadena, Calif., Federal Paper Board Co., Inc., Montvale, N.J., and Michigan Carton Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Connie Francis Award Upheld

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Connie Francis, who sued Howard Johnson Inc. for $5 million after she was raped in a motel room, has had a jury award of $2.5 million upheld by a federal court judge.

She had testified that she had to abandon her attempt at a comeback after she was raped on Nov. 8, 1974, by a man who entered her Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge room through a sliding glass door. She contended that the lodge, where she was staying while appearing at the Westbury Music Fair, should have given her a safe and secure room.

are not provisions being made for the continuance along the so-called river route? We believe now is the time to provide for the future exchange at Niles Avenue where the Line 3 crosses.

"I-19 If traffic volumes at level C have already been exceeded on Main Street and accidents on Niles and Main Street have rates 2 and 3 times the State average for highways of this type, how is it possible to state the so-called river route is 20 years in the future? (pp XX) item (c).

"II-17 It is true that a no-build action would lessen the degree of problems resulting from higher traffic volumes because the traffic will be distributed over the entire arterial network and not concentrated upon one. Unfortunately these existing arterials located in the Township still converge on St. Joseph at Main, Port and Ships Streets. We believe this statement should be clarified as to its impact on the City.

"II-19 The statement made that funneling penetrator traffic into downtown St. Joseph via Main Street will adversely affect the potential continued commercial development of the Central Business Development because of the congestion and decreased access it causes is more evidence to commit the highway department to the so-called river route. The river route would provide easy access to the downtown area and at the same time divert other traffic off of the local street system not having business needs in St. Joseph. If statements such as this are being made, then included with such statements should be referral to the overall traffic concept discussed earlier in the report re: pp. XX.

"III-5 I repeat my previous comment reference to II-17, wherein all traffic generated in the Township moving into and on thru the City must converge on Main Street or find other alternate routes on our local street system. Your statement "If the proposed action is not undertaken, problems resulting from higher traffic volumes will still occur, but to a lesser degree because traffic will be distributed over the entire arterial network and not concentrated upon one route is true only in the Township not the City."

"Your statement that congestion in the downtown area would only succeed in heightening the attraction of planned shopping malls over the downtown area is possibly true only if the highway department does not address itself to the needs of the two urban centers of our community. By committing yourselves to a total transportation plan for this area including a realistic planning and implementation schedule for the cross-town connector it will allow the urban centers to develop into strong central cores as it should be.

"III-6 I assume you are referring to Township resident when you make the statement "Selection of a new facility along the railroad right-of-way would have a negative impact as expressed by community feelings and upon their concern about the remaining natural

NAMED: Arthur Stachowiak, 45, has been named director of operations for The Saginaw News. He had served as its manager since 1973. The appointment represents change in News' organizational structure, with Stachowiak now responsible for overall direction of the newspaper's operations. Stachowiak is expected to appoint editor to succeed Raymond L. Gover, transferred to Flint Journal by Booth Newspapers. (AP Wirephoto) lands in the area being converted to highway use?

"General
1. Absolutely no consideration given to the impact of areas to the South of I-94 and their future traffic needs and/or the congestion in the entire area as the result of a no-build situation.

"2. One-way school busing called for as alternates on Lake Shore Drive and Niles Avenue, however, the number of bus stops would about double with corresponding traffic stoppage.

"3. Effect of Milton Jr. High School being abandoned was not mentioned.

"4. No consideration given to traffic problems on Niles Avenue at Riverview Cemetery during funerals."

POLICE ROUNDUP

Sleeping Man Is Victim Of Beating

Berrien sheriff's deputies said an Illinois man was hospitalized early Monday after he was beaten apparently with an axe handle as he slept in a trailer in Berrien township.

Roscoe Collier, 56, Hinsdale, Ill., was reported in "satisfactory" condition today at Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center, with head injuries. Deputies said the incident occurred on property Collier owns at route 2, Box 5, Rangeline road, sometime after midnight and was reported about noon.

Collier told deputies he fell asleep in a trailer on his property with the door open and saw no one. Deputies reported Collier was taken to the hospital about 1:30 a.m. by a couple renting a house on Collier's property and identified only as Mr. and Mrs. Mendenhall. Deputies said no valuables or money were taken and an investigation is continuing.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of malicious destruction of property were Thomas Jay Polminter, 20, Buchanan, and Lennie Morrow, 17, box 29B, Burris road, Galien.

The warrant was issued yesterday after sheriff's detectives received a tip. Officers said a lighted sign, valued at $360, was broken at the Super Value supermarket, Cleveland avenue, Galien, July 3.

A Fairplain man told Benton township police Monday his car was damaged while he was gone to get gasoline after he ran out of gas on Broadway near Eastern street, Fairplain.

Martin Bishop, 1349 Colfax avenue, said he saw a boy throwing rocks at the 1970 Ford Maverick when he returned with gasoline about 3:45 p.m. He said the windshield was broken, the rear license plate missing and the air was let out of all four tires. He said the boy fled on foot when he saw Bishop. No estimate of damage was reported. Police said a boy was questioned, but no arrests made.

Seven rims and tires, all valued at about $150, were reported stolen from two cars and a truck on the lot of Marv's Used Cars, 1358 Territorial road, Benton township police said Monday. Police said four of the rims were decorative chrome.

An off-duty Benton township patrolman said he was bitten on the leg early today by a girl he was taking into custody on a charge of shoplifting at a Fairplain supermarket.

Senior To Graduate, Or Else. .

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A Benton Harbor youth sentenced yesterday in Berrien Circuit court got an incentive to graduate from high school — if he doesn't graduate, he'll spend 60 days in jail.

Judge Chester J. Byrns gave the ultimatum to David Anthony Hill, 18, of 1235 Ogden avenue, who was sentenced for larceny in a building — the theft of a stereo from a home at 1251 Ogden April 12.

Hill was placed on three years probation with the first 60 days in jail, with day-parole privileges to attend classes at Benton Harbor high school, where he is a senior. Byrns warned, though, that if Hill doesn't graduate during the current school year, Hill will spend another 60 days in jail.

Hill was also ordered to pay $300 fine and costs.

In other sentences by Byrns: John Wesley Smith, 36, of Battle Creek, was placed on three years probation and assessed $400 fine and costs for driving under the influence of intoxicants, third offense. Byrns also sentenced Smith to spend the last six months of probation in jail, but said the sentence could be suspended if Smith satisfactorily completes probation.

Smith was also ordered to pay $100 fine and costs or spend 30 days in jail for being a disorderly person.

Smith was accused of driving while intoxicated Jan. 30 on I-94 in Benton township, and then being disorderly by attempting to bribe a police officer to refrain from issuing a ticket.

Mark H. Groves, 19, of South Bend, was sentenced to 283 days in jail, with credit for 283 days already served, for attempted larceny in a building May 2 at the Belle Plaza pharmacy in Niles township.

Pedro Benavides, 24, of Berrien Center, was placed on two years probation by Judge Julian E. Hughes for attempted carrying a concealed weapon — a sawed-off shotgun — July 22 on US-31-33 in Niles township.

In arraignments before

Hughes: Sidney Merrill, 21, of Millburg, pleaded innocent to a charge of first degree criminal sexual conduct (rape) involving a 17-year-old girl July 18 in Benton township.

Richard A. Hespel, 19, of 132 Catalpa street, Benton Harbor, pleaded innocent to a charge of second degree criminal sexual conduct (formerly indecent liberties) with an eight-year-old girl Aug. 21 in Benton Harbor.

Mack Sesson, Jr., 29, of 631 Broadway, Benton Harbor, pleaded guilty to delivery of heroin July 31 in Benton Harbor.

Richard A. Pegan, Jr., 24, of 2266 Bell road, and Michael L. Coder, 24, of 1127 Pletcher street, both of Niles, both pleaded innocent to charges of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder. The pair is accused of assaulting Gary Myers Aug. 2 in Niles.

George E. McCardell, 47, of Covert, pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon — a handgun — against Hattie Johnson Aug. 16 in Benton Harbor.

Samuel Tillman, Jr., 18, of Chicago, pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon — a shotgun — against Ron Coffey Aug. 25 in Benton township.

Ronald Clubb, 17, of 2293 West Bertrand road, Niles, pleaded guilty to attempted breaking and entering the rectory of Trinity Episcopal church in Niles on June 24.

William B. Campbell, 18, of 302 Main street, Berrien Springs, pleaded guilty to attempted unlawfully driving away an auto from Joe Hayden Fordland in Niles on July 4.

Benton Harbor Cadet Awarded ROTC Wreath

Cadet James T. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. T.O. Wright, 920 North Shore, Benton Harbor, who is a student at Wentworth Military academy, Lexington, Mo., this year, has earned the right to wear the Army's ROTC achievement gold wreath on his uniform. He won the honor by placing in the top 10 of his military classes here last year, according to LTC William Morrison, Jr., professor of military science.

Super September. J.C. Penney

BENTON HARBOR, MICHIGAN

A black and white line drawing of a woman with short, wavy hair, shown in profile from the waist up. She is wearing a long-sleeved button-down shirt with a small, repeating geometric pattern. She is also wearing wide-leg, straight-front slacks. Her right leg is bent at the knee, and her left leg is extended forward. She is wearing simple, flat shoes with white socks. The drawing is done in a clean, minimalist style with bold outlines and some grey shading on the slacks.
